12 Of Family Drown In Boating Accident

Overloaded 12-Foot Craft Sinks In Lake

Victims Include 10 Children, Mother

MUNISING, Mich. (UPI) — A mother, her 10 children and their uncle drowned Tuesday when their overloaded 12-foot boat swamped on Lake McKeever, 15 miles south of here.

The dead, all of Skandia, were: Mrs. Dora Larson, 41; Harry Larson, 64, and Mrs. Larson's children, Arthur 15, Shirley 13, Harry 10, Marlene 9, Freddie 8, Carol 7, Robert 6, Mary Ann 5, Melody 3, and Terry Lee, five months. All the bodies were recovered.

The Larsons had 11 children. The oldest, Doris May, 16, a high school student, did not go with the family to Lake McKeever. She stayed in Skandia.

State police at the Munising post said the family got into the boat to travel across the lake to pick cranberrjes in a bog along the opposite shore.

When the father tried to start the five horsepower outboard motor, the boat swamped, and all 13 plunged into the water.

Planned To Pick Cranberries

State police at Munising said the father reported that when he returned to the surface he could find none of his family in the water. He grabbed the side of the swamped boat and held on, gradually maneuvering it to shallow water. The water was about 15 feet deep at the spot where the boat swamped, although it was only a short distance from the shore.

Investigation Likely

First word of the tragedy was telephoned to state police at Munising by Mrs. William Ryan, of Forest Glen, a resort about 10 miles south of Munising. Authorities theorized that Leonard Larson walked to the resort to report the tragedy, and then returned to the lake to help search for the bodies.

A spokesman at the Munising state police post said he did not know the regulations governing boats on the lake, but said "I'm sure it was overloaded."

"When you put 13 persons into a 12-foot boat even though most of them were children, you're putting in a lot of weight," said the officer.

He said there probably would be an investigation by state police and a coroner's jury into the tragedy. He said there was a possibility that a charge of negligence "on somebody's part" would be made.

Membership Issue Shelved By Assembly

Margin Of Victory For U.S. One Vote Less Than In 1958

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) — The United Nations General Assembly Tuesday rejected India's attempt to give Red China a seat in the world organization. It was the ninth straight annual rebuff to Peiping's hopes for membership.

By a vote of 44-29 with 9 abstentions, the assembly backed the United States and agreed that it would shelve any proposals at the current session to oust the Chinese Nationalists and replace them with the Chinese Communists.

Despite predictions that resentment about Red China's bloody suppression of Tibet would increase the margin, the vote to exclude discussion of the Chinese representation fell one short of last year's edge.

The assembly last year voted 44-28 with 9 abstentions. Since then, Guinea has been admitted to membership.

Steering Committee Upheld

India, with staunch Soviet backing, sought to have the representation issue put on the assembly's agenda for full debate. Last week, the world paraliament's 21-nation steering committee recommended against the Indian request and approved a U.S. motion to exclude for the duration of the current 14th assembly session "any proposals to exclude the representatives of the government of the Republic of China or to seat representatives of the Central People's Government of the People's Republic of China."

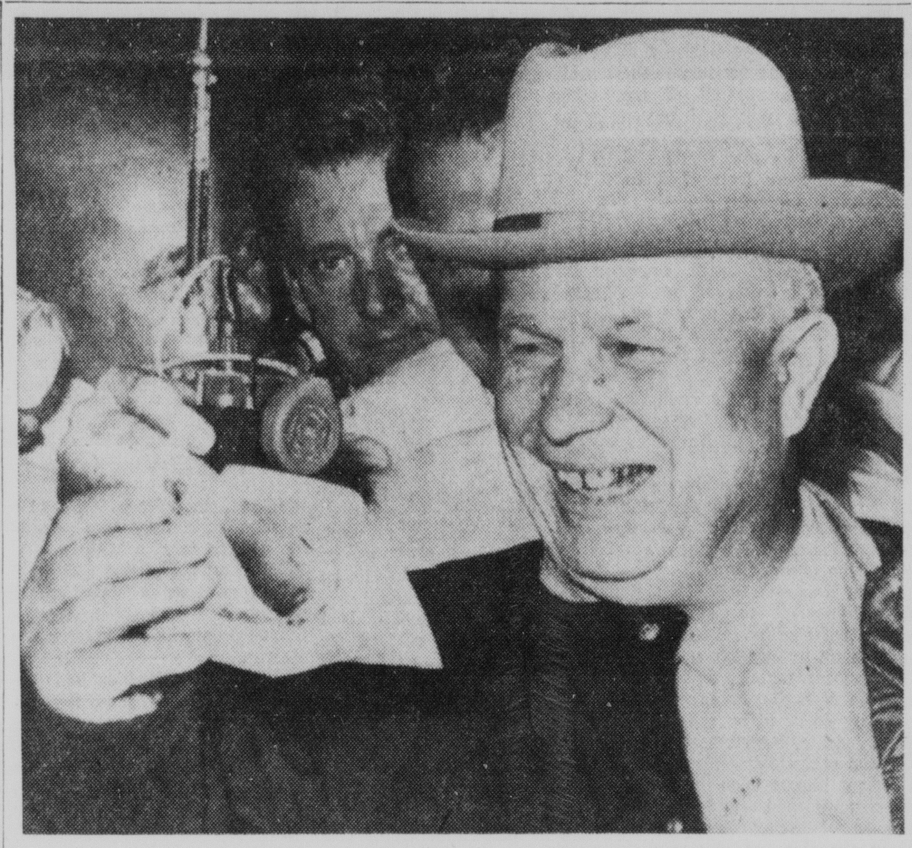

This was the same move proposed by the United States, and approved by the assembly by a dwindling margin, for the past five years. Actually, the assembly has rejected a Chinese representation debate annually since 1950.

Nepalese Move Rejected

When the steering committee's report came up for approval in the assembly, tiny Nepal was named to present an amendment that would have reversed the group's recommendations.

For two days, with each of the nine Soviet bloc countries speaking at length and with strong support offered by India and several other members of the Afro-Asian group, debate on Nepal's amendment move droned on. In preliminary votes Tuesday, the Nepalese move was rejected by the assembly.

Joining the nine Soviet bloc countries in opposing the U.S. move to shelve the issue were Yugoslavia, 14 members of the Afro-Asian group and Denmark, Finland, Ireland, Norway and Sweden.

Khrushchev Favors More State Visits

Des Moines Gives Russian Premier Friendly Welcome

By JOHN SCALI

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, warmly welcomed in the heart of America's farmlands, plugged Tuesday for regular visits between the heads of governments.

The onetime Ukrainian sheepherder, now a foremost advocate of personal diplomacy, told a welcoming crowd: "It is always better to meet and talk than to exchange messages which are not always very friendly. A couple of meetings a year would be fine."

That was in reply to a reporter who asked whether one-a-year visits between heads of government would advance the cause of peace.

Khrushchev's welcome in this center of the nation's greatest food-producing area was warm — not as warm, perhaps, as the one which delighted him in San Francisco, his last previous stop.

However, the greeting he got here could help further to clear away the bad feeling Khrushchev had after his Los Angeles visit last weekend when he got angry with Mayor Norris Poulson and the movie industry.

Welcomed By Governor

The big U.S. military transport jet which brought the Red Premier here from San Francisco bounced a bit as it landed. A strong crosswind was blowing.

But there was nothing but serenity in the official exchange of greetings.

Gov. Herschel C. Loveless told Khrushchev: "We know your great interest in agriculture and in modern methods of production. We stand ready to show you our farms, our factories, our laboratories and machines."

Loveless also bade the Communist chieftain welcome to Iowa's schools, homes, churches and historic shrines. And then the governor got in a plug of his own: "Culturally, as well as geographically, Iowa is the heart of America."

"We know that so far as corn is concerned," he said, "you are the first in the United States. We are competing with you there, and we hope it will be a useful competition."

Looks Forward To Farm Visit

The Premier noted he was looking forward to his visit Wednesday to the farm of Roswell (Bob) Garst at Coon Rapids.

It was back in 1955 that the Soviets became interested in the crop handling and livestock feeding operations at the Garst farm. The Soviet Minister of agriculture visited there four years ago in an American-Soviet farm exchange.

Garst plans to tell Khrushchev how it is that 12 per cent of the American people can produce enough food to feed everybody, whereas it takes 50 per cent of the people of the Soviet Union to produce a less nourishing diet.

"I've come here to meet the people of Iowa and my old friend, Garst," Khrushchev told his wel-

Hot Dog Makes Hit With Khrush

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev ate his first American hot dog Tuesday and asked for a second.

"It's excellent, don't change the formula," he said with a satisfied grin.

Khrushchev willingly accepted the hot dog after carefully inspecting every room from slaughter area to a big department where frankfurters were stuffed mechanically by women employes.

Khrushchev gulped his down in about three minutes, beating Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge by a full minute. The Soviet leader noticed he had finished first, and turning to Lodge; said: "Capitalist, have you finished your sausage?" Lodge smilingly admitted he hadn't yet.

Camp David Talks

Ike, Mr. K To Share Same Rustic Cottage

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev will stay at the same rustic looking cottage during their crucial cold war talks at Camp David, Md., this weekend.

The White House announced the arrangements Tuesday after the President had conferred with seven top advisers in preparation for his conference with Khrushchev. The two will meet Friday evening, all day Saturday and Sunday morning.

The White House said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and Secretary of State Christian A. Herter will occupy Aspen Cottage at Camp David with the President and Khrushchev. This will give them an opportunity for uninterrupted conferences.

While Aspen Cottage has a rustic appearance, it is luxuriously furnished and normally is occupied by the President when he goes to the retreat in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains. Camp David is about 60 miles north of Washington.

Several other members of the Russian delegation, including Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov, will stay at Camp David. Americans staying in other cottages will include Llewellyn Thompson, ambassador to Moscow and possibly Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U.S. ambassador to the United Nations who has escorted Khrushchev on his cross-country tour.

Khrushchev returns to Washington Thursday afternoon. He will go to Camp David Friday afternoon and return Sunday afternoon for a news conference and an hour long nationwide television speech. He will return to Moscow Sunday evening.

No agenda has been announced for the Camp David talks but the President and Khrushchev are expected to discuss such cold war deadlocks as the Germany-Berlin dispute and disarmament.

The White House announced that the President would not hold a news conference this week because of the press of other business, including the Khrushchev preparations.

Herter, Gromyko Discuss Agenda

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Secretary of State Christian A. Herter disclosed Tuesday he and Andrei A. Gromyko, the Soviet foreign minister, had drawn up a general outline of issues likely to be considered at the Eisenhower-Khrushchev talks starting Friday.

But Herter stressed the agenda was only tentative and any definite timetable is likely to be disregarded.

He told a luncheon meeting of the U.S. Correspondents Assn. he and Gromyko had conferred for an hour on an agenda for the Camp David conference that will wind up Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's visit to the United States.

On the Berlin situation, Herter said in response to questions that he believed it would be useless to submit the issue to a summit conference at the present stage in East-West negotiations.

Youth, 16, Admits Slaying Of Rival Gang Member

NEW YORK (AP) — A 16-year-old boy, whose mother said he had been taunted as a "mother's boy," told Tuesday how he shot down a rival gang youth on the steps of a Bronx high school. He said his companions urged him on screaming, "Burn 'em, burn 'em."

Rivalry over girls and territories between two Puerto Rican street gangs apparently sparked Monday's ambush slaying of John Guzman, also 16. It was New York's 11th youth gang killing of the year.

Accused of the slaying with six other teen-agers was Edward Peres. A police statement quoted him as detailing:

"We couldn't take it from these guys. We waited a long time. When they came out the fight started. Everybody was belting everybody and our gang kept yelling, 'Burn 'em, burn 'em.' I kept hearing them yell—so I pulled the gun out and let it go.

"They were still yelling 'burn 'em' when I fired. Then, I don't know, I got sick. I was scared. I ran and got the hell out of there."

Later, remorse apparently touched Peres and he changed his story to say: "I had the gun in my pocket and something went wrong with it because when I pulled it out it went off. It was all a mistake. I never wanted to shoot anyone."

ILA Taken Back Into AFL-CIO

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The International Longshoremen's Association, which was kicked out of the AFL for corruption on the New York waterfront in 1943, Tuesday was taken back into the merged AFL-CIO because, officials said, it has cleaned house.

AFL - CIO President George Meany said the association has made "amazing progress" in eliminating racketeering.

"We did some good when we kicked them out and we are ready to take them back," Meany said before the national convention. The convention unanimously approved a resolution bringing the ILA back.

"When we reach this stage with the Teamsters, I'll be the first to say take them back," Meany said.

However, the ILA came in for criticism from Phillip Randolph, head of the brotherhood of sleeping car porters.

Randolph said he favored admission of the ILA, but wanted to inform the convention that the group was guilty of "incredible and unspeakable discrimination" against Negroes and Puerto Ricans.

Cuban Troops Press Search For Plotters

HAVANA (AP)—Cuban soldiers beat the brush Tuesday for associates of 40 men arrested near the eastern tip of this island nation on a charge of plotting against the government.

Ex-soldiers made up most of the group nabbed Monday night in Oriente province, the cradle of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's rebellion against the Fulgencio Batista dictatorship, reports said.

The action was reported centered at Baracoa, a port of 10,000 where Cuba's first white settlement was founded in 1511-12. It is 80 miles from Hispaniola, whose Dominican and Haitian governments are both viewed with suspicion by Havana officialdom.

Capt. Argeo Hernandez, chief of rural police at Baracoa, said the suspects planned to seize the town's airport and blow up a munitions depot. He identified the leader as Miguel Alba, a veteran of Batista's defeated army.

Other quarters reported a total of 50 arrests and said they were continuing. This could not be confirmed officially.

In Havana, there were rumors the army had ordered all troops of Havana province into their barracks. It was recalled that the government took such a measure last month when a conspiracy against Castro's regime was reported.

That conspiracy led to the arrest of about 4,000 persons. All but about 200 have since been released.

Nina Khrushchev Enjoys Hot Dog

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Nina Khrushchev enjoyed an American favorite—a hot dog—as she accompanied her husband on a packinghouse and farm machinery tour Tuesday.

Dressed in a black suit, with tiny threads of gold shot through it, Mrs. Khrushchev appeared somewhat weary as she and the two Khrushchev daughters trudged along through the bloody, meat packing operation, wearing starched butcher coats.

Fuchs Reportedly Weds Communist

BERLIN (AP) — Atom spy Klaus Fuchs, 47, who was released from a British prison last June, has married an East German Communist party woman, East Berlin circles reported Tuesday.

They said the nuclear scientist married Greta Keilson, 53, an official of the press department of East Germany's Foreign Ministry, on Sept. 9 in East Berlin.

Space Monkey Gets New Home

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI) — Baker, the tiny squirrel monkey who made a 300-mile trip into space in the nose cone of a rocket, Tuesday moved into a new air-conditioned home, complete with picture window.

The lady monkey is one of two who made the rocket trip last spring. Her traveling companion, Able, died during surgery following the trip.

Her new stainless steel cage is three feet long, two feet wide and three feet high. It sits in a small air-conditioned room at the aviation medical school at Pensacola Naval Air Station. The room measures 79 by 55 inches with an eight-foot ceiling.

Baker's outer room has one-way windows on one side to allow the visiting public and scientists to observe her without her knowledge.

Second Missile Sub Launched

GROTON, Conn. (UPI) — The Navy launched the second of its submersible "big sticks" Tuesday —a Polaris missile firing submarine capable of delivering a powerful retaliatory blow even after an enemy attack on land bases.

The submarine Patrick Henry was the second of its class to slide down the ways. It will be capable of firing solid fuel ballistic missiles 1,500 miles from above or below water.

Vice Adm. Thomas C. Combs, commander of the Eastern Sea Frontier and of the Third Naval District, said the Polaris subs "will provide this nation with a practically invulnerable ability to retaliate."

The 380-foot, 5,400-ton sub was launched before 20,000 persons and christened by Mrs. Leslie C. Arends, wife of the Illinois congressman.

Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell, speaking at the launching, said the Patrick Henry was a "deadly engine of war" and represented the "kind of vigilance that has always been the price of freedom."

Savings Bond Interest Rate Upped To 3 3-4%

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday ordered one-half of one per cent increase in interest rates on U. S. savings bonds. It affects old bonds as well as new ones.

All series "E" and "H" bonds bought since last June 1 will pay 3¾ per cent if held until they mature. The old rate was 3¼ per cent.

On bonds sold between Feb. 1, 1957, and May 31, 1959, rates will be boosted to 3¾ per cent as of June 1. This means they earned the old rate prior to June 1 but now will benefit from the increase for the remainder of their maturity period.

Bonds sold before Feb. 1, 1957, start earning 3½ per cent, retroactive to June 1. Some of these bonds had been paying 2.9 per cent and some 3 per cent.

Acting on recommendation of Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson, the President decided a jump to 3¾ per cent was sufficient.

Savings bonds sales have been in a slump for months because, with other rates rising, savers could earn more interest by putting their money to work in other ways.

Eisenhower said he hopes the new rates "will serve as a renewed invitation to every citizen to buy and hold these 'shares in America.'"

The President declared there is "no better way of saving, no more effective way of strengthening our power for peace."

He said the bond program strengthens the finances of both the government and individual families.

As part of the new program, all bonds now outstanding can be extended for an additional 10 years after they next reach maturity. Some bonds already have been extended once.

Gracie, Now Hurricane, Menaces Florida Coast

The fourth full-blown hurricane of the season was less than 475 miles from the Miami area and the lush Gold Coast. It grew swiftly from a tropical low with 40 mile an hour winds into a tropical storm, packing 60 mile an hour gales and then into a strong hurricane, one of nature's most violent disturbances.

The weather bureau warned the central and northern Bahamas to "take immediate precautions for the protection of life and property against hurricane force winds and abnormally high seas."

The hurricane center at 6 p.m. e.d.t. was 100 miles east-southeast of San Salvador Island, about 465 miles east-southeast of Miami.

Gracie was moving on a north to north-northwest course at a slow seven miles per hour as it built up in intensity.

The weather bureau said Gracie could be expected to turn to a more northwesterly course during the next 24 hours, a path that would aim it at the mainland.

"All interests in Florida should keep in close touch with future advisories during the next 24 hours for possible warnings on Wednesday," the weather bureau said.

Cuban Troops Press Search For Plotters

HAVANA (AP)—Cuban soldiers beat the brush Tuesday for associates of 40 men arrested near the eastern tip of this island nation on a charge of plotting against the government.

Ex-soldiers made up most of the group nabbed Monday night in Oriente province, the cradle of Prime Minister Fidel Castro's rebellion against the Fulgencio Batista dictatorship, reports said.

The action was reported centered at Baracoa, a port of 10,000 where Cuba's first white settlement was founded in 1511-12. It is 80 miles from Hispaniola, whose Dominican and Haitian governments are both viewed with suspicion by Havana officialdom.

Capt. Argeo Hernandez, chief of rural police at Baracoa, said the suspects planned to seize the town's airport and blow up a munitions depot. He identified the leader as Miguel Alba, a veteran of Batista's defeated army.

Other quarters reported a total of 50 arrests and said they were continuing. This could not be confirmed officially.

In Havana, there were rumors the army had ordered all troops of Havana province into their barracks. It was recalled that the government took such a measure last month when a conspiracy against Castro's regime was reported.

That conspiracy led to the arrest of about 4,000 persons. All but about 200 have since been released.

Nina Khrushchev Enjoys Hot Dog

Dressed in a black suit, with tiny threads of gold shot through it, Mrs. Khrushchev appeared somewhat weary as she and the two Khrushchev daughters trudged along through the bloody, meat packing operation, wearing starched butcher coats.

Fuchs Reportedly Weds Communist

BERLIN (AP) — Atom spy Klaus Fuchs, 47, who was released from a British prison last June, has married an East German Communist party woman, East Berlin circles reported Tuesday.

They said the nuclear scientist married Greta Keilson, 53, an official of the press department of East Germany's Foreign Ministry, on Sept. 9 in East Berlin.

Space Monkey Gets New Home

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI) — Baker, the tiny squirrel monkey who made a 300-mile trip into space in the nose cone of a rocket, Tuesday moved into a new air-conditioned home, complete with picture window.

Her new stainless steel cage is three feet long, two feet wide and three feet high. It sits in a small air-conditioned room at the aviation medical school at Pensacola Naval Air Station. The room measures 79 by 55 inches with an eight-foot ceiling.

Baker's outer room has one-way windows on one side to allow the visiting public and scientists to observe her without her knowledge.

Second Missile Sub Launched

GROTON, Conn. (UPI) — The Navy launched the second of its submersible "big sticks" Tuesday —a Polaris missile firing submarine capable of delivering a powerful retaliatory blow even after an enemy attack on land bases.

The submarine Patrick Henry was the second of its class to slide down the ways. It will be capable of firing solid fuel ballistic missiles 1,500 miles from above or below water.

Vice Adm. Thomas C. Combs, commander of the Eastern Sea Frontier and of the Third Naval District, said the Polaris subs "will provide this nation with a practically invulnerable ability to retaliate."

The 380-foot, 5,400-ton sub was launched before 20,000 persons and christened by Mrs. Leslie C. Arends, wife of the Illinois congressman.

Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell, speaking at the launching, said the Patrick Henry was a "deadly engine of war" and represented the "kind of vigilance that has always been the price of freedom."

Savings Bond Interest Rate Upped To 3 3-4%

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday ordered one-half of one per cent increase in interest rates on U. S. savings bonds. It affects old bonds as well as new ones.

All series "E" and "H" bonds bought since last June 1 will pay 3¾ per cent if held until they mature. The old rate was 3¼ per cent.

On bonds sold between Feb. 1, 1957, and May 31, 1959, rates will be boosted to 3¾ per cent as of June 1. This means they earned the old rate prior to June 1 but now will benefit from the increase for the remainder of their maturity period.

Bonds sold before Feb. 1, 1957, start earning 3½ per cent, retroactive to June 1. Some of these bonds had been paying 2.9 per cent and some 3 per cent.

Acting on recommendation of Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson, the President decided a jump to 3¾ per cent was sufficient.

Savings bonds sales have been in a slump for months because, with other rates rising, savers could earn more interest by putting their money to work in other ways.

Eisenhower said he hopes the new rates "will serve as a renewed invitation to every citizen to buy and hold these 'shares in America.'"

The President declared there is "no better way of saving, no more effective way of strengthening our power for peace."

He said the bond program strengthens the finances of both the government and individual families.

As part of the new program, all bonds now outstanding can be extended for an additional 10 years after they next reach maturity. Some bonds already have been extended once.

Gracie, Now Hurricane, Menaces Florida Coast

The fourth full-blown hurricane of the season was less than 475 miles from the Miami area and the lush Gold Coast. It grew swiftly from a tropical low with 40 mile an hour winds into a tropical storm, packing 60 mile an hour gales and then into a strong hurricane, one of nature's most violent disturbances.

The weather bureau warned the central and northern Bahamas to "take immediate precautions for the protection of life and property against hurricane force winds and abnormally high seas."

The hurricane center at 6 p.m. e.d.t. was 100 miles east-southeast of San Salvador Island, about 465 miles east-southeast of Miami.

Gracie was moving on a north to north-northwest course at a slow seven miles per hour as it built up in intensity.

The weather bureau said Gracie could be expected to turn to a more northwesterly course during the next 24 hours, a path that would aim it at the mainland.

"All interests in Florida should keep in close touch with future advisories during the next 24 hours for possible warnings on Wednesday," the weather bureau said.

Khrushchev Favors More State Visits

Des Moines Gives Russian Premier Friendly Welcome

By JOHN SCALI

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, warmly welcomed in the heart of America's farmlands, plugged Tuesday for regular visits between the heads of governments.

The onetime Ukrainian sheepherder, now a foremost advocate of personal diplomacy, told a welcoming crowd: "It is always better to meet and talk than to exchange messages which are not always very friendly. A couple of meetings a year would be fine."

That was in reply to a reporter who asked whether one-a-year visits between heads of government would advance the cause of peace.

Khrushchev's welcome in this center of the nation's greatest food-producing area was warm — not as warm, perhaps, as the one which delighted him in San Francisco, his last previous stop.

However, the greeting he got here could help further to clear away the bad feeling Khrushchev had after his Los Angeles visit last weekend when he got angry with Mayor Norris Poulson and the movie industry.

Welcomed By Governor

The big U.S. military transport jet which brought the Red Premier here from San Francisco bounced a bit as it landed. A strong crosswind was blowing.

But there was nothing but serenity in the official exchange of greetings.

Gov. Herschel C. Loveless told Khrushchev: "We know your great interest in agriculture and in modern methods of production. We stand ready to show you our farms, our factories, our laboratories and machines."

Loveless also bade the Communist chieftain welcome to Iowa's schools, homes, churches and historic shrines. And then the governor got in a plug of his own: "Culturally, as well as geographically, Iowa is the heart of America."

"We know that so far as corn is concerned," he said, "you are the first in the United States. We are competing with you there, and we hope it will be a useful competition."

Looks Forward To Farm Visit

The Premier noted he was looking forward to his visit Wednesday to the farm of Roswell (Bob) Garst at Coon Rapids.

It was back in 1955 that the Soviets became interested in the crop handling and livestock feeding operations at the Garst farm. The Soviet Minister of agriculture visited there four years ago in an American-Soviet farm exchange.

Garst plans to tell Khrushchev how it is that 12 per cent of the American people can produce enough food to feed everybody, whereas it takes 50 per cent of the people of the Soviet Union to produce a less nourishing diet.

"I've come here to meet the people of Iowa and my old friend, Garst," Khrushchev told his wel-

Hot Dog Makes Hit With Khrush

"It's excellent, don't change the formula," he said with a satisfied grin.

Khrushchev willingly accepted the hot dog after carefully inspecting every room from slaughter area to a big department where frankfurters were stuffed mechanically by women employes.

Khrushchev gulped his down in about three minutes, beating Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge by a full minute. The Soviet leader noticed he had finished first, and turning to Lodge; said: "Capitalist, have you finished your sausage?" Lodge smilingly admitted he hadn't yet.

Tawes Turns Down Baltimore's Request For Special Session

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Tuesday gave a polite but firm "No" to Baltimore City's request that the Legislature be called into special session to grant the city new taxing powers.

The governor indicated he would be willing to call such a session, but only when the city works out a "reasonable, definite and specific program" that will not infringe on state levies and will gain local legislative backing.

The Baltimore City Council Monday night passed a resolution requesting the special session, which had been sought by Mayor J. Harold Grady as a solution to the city's financial problems.

Grady and the council asked for power to levy local taxes on earnings, retail sales, alcoholic beverages, inheritances and other items which the state now taxes.

The earnings tax, one of the most controversial proposals, would be applied to all paychecks collected in the city, even by persons who reside in nearby counties. Sen. Louis N. Phipps (D-Anne Arundel) and Sen. James Pine (D-Balto County) were among those who said such a proposal was completely unacceptable to them.

Mayor Grady has called the earnings levy "the cornerstone" of his program to pull the city out of a 13¾-million-dollar budget hole.

After hearing of the governor's action, Grady issued a statement in Baltimore saying he intends "to continue the fight" for the power to enact an earnings tax.

The mayor said he was greatly encouraged by Tawes' recognition of the city's financial emergency and by his ultimate willingness to call a special session.

"My tax program is reasonable, definite and specific. I am for an earnings tax not to exceed 1 per cent. I have said so before and I repeat it now," Grady said.

"This cornerstone of the city administration's tax program neither infringes upon nor upsets the state's tax structure. It takes nothing away from any county."

Grady said he is confident city legislators will approve an earnings tax when they realize what the alternative is. He said an alternative could be a package of taxes which would not invade the major revenue sources of the state. Included could be taxes on bank deposits and alcoholic beverages. And the city would still have to increase its real estate levy, the mayor said.

Grady said he favors the earnings tax over this or any other package and he again urged Tawes to call a special session "and use all of his power and authority to help us secure the passage of an earnings tax for Baltimore City."

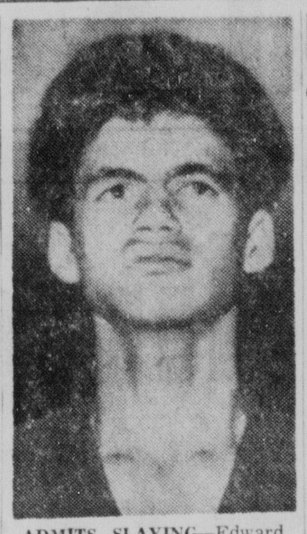

Tawes said he is "sympathetic with the financial plight" in which the city finds itself. He added, however:

"The General Assembly should not be called upon to act in a special session on a tax program as complicated and as far-reaching as the one proposed.

"It is proposed that the state not only expand the city's taxing powers but also that it tear down and rebuild its own tax structure. The program for city and county invasion of taxing areas now exclusively occupied by the state—sales, income, inheritance, beverage and other taxes—Would have a serious impact upon the state's tax structure and would upset the balance of taxing authority between the state and its subdivisions.'

Tawes said he acknowledges an emergency does exist, that he has "no reluctance to commit the state to the expense of a special session to consider any reasonable program," and that he is certain county legislators would ignore the inconvenience of a special session to come to the aid of the city.

"I am just as sure, on the other hand," the governor said, "that the members of the General Assembly should not be called to Annapolis to wrangle for weeks, or perhaps longer, over a new, untried and completely unexplored tax plan that involves not only the city and the state but also their own local governments."

Herter Asserts 'K' Disarm Plan Merits Study

Herter told a luncheon of the U.N. Correspondents Assn. the Soviet leader's plan requires the closest attention and study. While it is propaganda, he said, the goals set forth must be taken seriously.

He spoke shortly after the General Assembly's 21-nation Steering Committee agreed unanimously to inscribe the Khrushchev plan on the agenda of the Assembly's current session.

Herter said the idea of complete disarmament is not new, nor are there any other very novel features in the Soviet proposal. And the omissions, he said, are important.

He noted Khrushchev suggested international controls, but Herter declared this must be explored more fully. Another question that must be looked into, he said, is the possibility of an international police force to preserve peace if the nations ever agreed on total disarmament.

Khrushchev

comers. Garst has been a guest of the Khrushchevs in Moscow.

Police estimated that somewhat more than 25,000 people altogether were out to see Khrushchev. About 220,000 people live in greater Des Moines.

This time authorities had provided an open-top car for the temperamental Premier, who has complained about being cooped up in a closed limousine elsewhere.

The crowd had a cheer or two every now and then, but mostly people simply looked on in curiosity. Boos were missing, but there were half a dozen unfriendly signs that Mr. K could read if he wished to see them.

One said: "We butcher hogs here, not people." Another: "Khrushchev's warning from God's words." And most direct of all: "The only good Communist is a dead one."

There were some on the friendly side, too: "The world needs friendly cooperation between us" "We don't always agree with you but we welcome you."

That last sign, 12 feet long and carried by a dozen girls, indirectly led to Khrushchev's remarks about how it would be fine for heads of states to exchange regular visits.

Khrushchev, asked the most impressive thing he has seen so far, replied: "That your people want peace as much as our people do."

He added that this desire for peace was the main thing that prompted his visit to America.

Mrs. Khrushchev, still looking for all the world like a friendly and tireless grandmother, was close by the Premier as he shook hands and smiled at greeters. She carried an armful of roses.

Auto Industry Feeling Steel Strike Effects

DETROIT (UPI)—The auto industry Tuesday began to feel the first effects of steel shortages which would force complete shutdowns of production of some lines in a little more than a week.

The first critical shortages appeared to be showing up in General Motors Corp. plants.

The company announced it would begin layoffs at its Ternstedt Division plant at Columbus, Ohio, on Thursday and would lay off at least 2,800 employes at the plant by the end of the month, shutting off all production there.

That would leave only plants at Detroit and Flint, Mich., and Trenton, N.J., producing such things as door handles for General Motors cars.

Chevrolet Division General Manager Edward Cole said his division would be forced to close off its production by Oct. 1, just a little more than a week away, unless the steel strike was ended by that time.

Chrysler Corp., probably hardest pressed next to GM, already has reached an agreement with the operating Lone Star Steel Co., Dallas, Tex., for "emergency supplies" of steel.

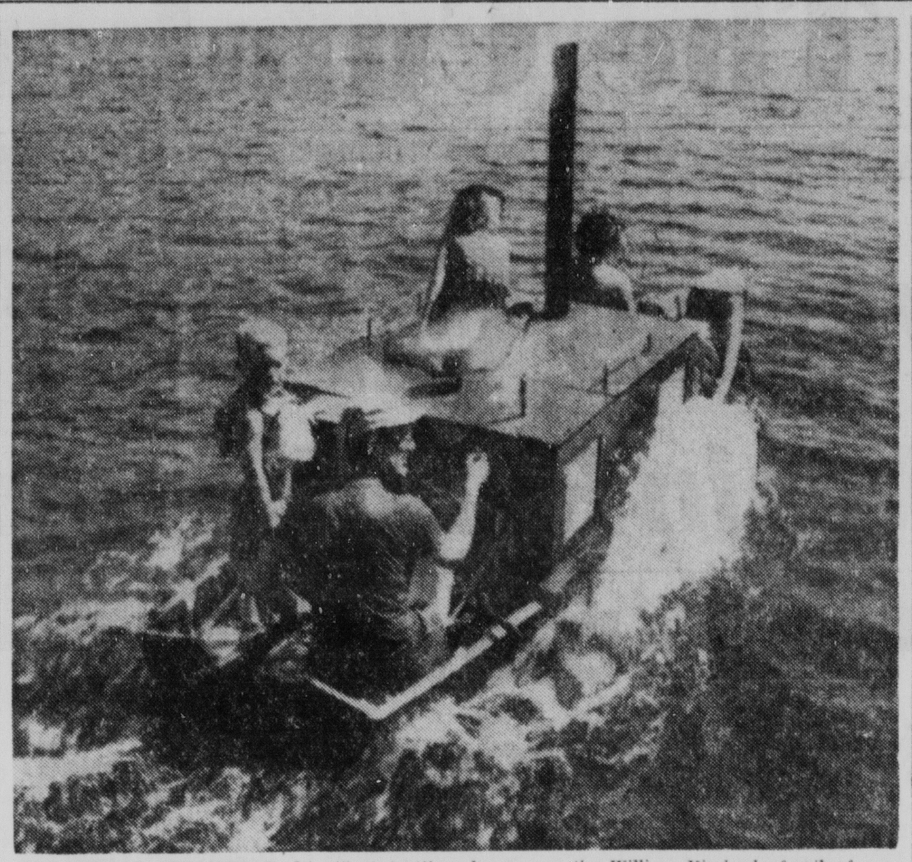

Chrysler spokesmen said the company still feels it can continue to produce cars into November with current steel supplies.

Ford Motor Co. said it has enough steel to supply all of its dealers with enough cars to allow them to do "considerable" selling.

Ford produces about 40 per cent of its own steel but does not produce all of the types needed in the manufacture of its cars.

American Motors Corp. President George Romney said his company should be able to continue operations longer than any other auto company with the possible exception of Ford.

New York City and New Orleans should be favorite cities of coffee drinkers. They are the two chief coffee centers in the U. S.

Minutes later Weiner discovered that the customer's companion had rifled his cash box of $1,062 while he wasn't looking.

Nixon Reminds Nation Mr. K 'Quite An Actor'

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon, commenting on temper displays by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, said Tuesday the nation should remember that "Mr. Khrushchev is quite an actor."

"It seems that Mr. Khrushchev's testiness is completely controlled by Mr. Khrushchev," Nixon told newsmen at La Guardia Airport.

Nuclear Plane Deadline Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — All 18 members of the Senate-House Atomic Committee joined Tuesday in urging that the United States put a nuclear-powered aircraft into flight as soon as possible.

After 13 years of on-and-off atomic plane projects and expenditure of 800 million dollars, the congressional group urged that deadlines or target dates be set for a ground test prototype propulsion system and for the first flight.

The committee's report said Congress might wish to place primary authority and responsibility for conducting the atomic aircraft program in the Atomic Energy Commission, which it said is well equipped to carry the program forward as a developmental effort through the flight feasibility and demonstration stage.

Up to now the aircraft nuclear propulsion program has been carried on by both AEC and the Defense Department, with the Air Force spending slightly more than half the 800 million dollars.

Sales Talk Works But Spiel Costly

The liquor-store owner reported to Baltimore police he convinced a customer that one brand of scotch whisky was better than the other and sold him two bottles Monday.

Minutes later Weiner discovered that the customer's companion had rifled his cash box of $1,062 while he wasn't looking.

NEW YORK (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon, commenting on temper displays by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, said Tuesday the nation should remember that "Mr. Khrushchev is quite an actor."

"It seems that Mr. Khrushchev's testiness is completely controlled by Mr. Khrushchev," Nixon told newsmen at La Guardia Airport.

Remarkable Feat

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—Ernest Geresic, 20, has climbed Yugoslavia's highest mountain, 9,390-foot Triglav in the southern Alps, in a record time of less than four hours. What makes the feat more remarkable, said the newspaper Politika, is that Geresic has an artificial leg.

Nuclear Plane Deadline Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — All 18 members of the Senate-House Atomic Committee joined Tuesday in urging that the United States put a nuclear-powered aircraft into flight as soon as possible.

After 13 years of on-and-off atomic plane projects and expenditure of 800 million dollars, the congressional group urged that deadlines or target dates be set for a ground test prototype propulsion system and for the first flight.

The committee's report said Congress might wish to place primary authority and responsibility for conducting the atomic aircraft program in the Atomic Energy Commission, which it said is well equipped to carry the program forward as a developmental effort through the flight feasibility and demonstration stage.

Up to now the aircraft nuclear propulsion program has been carried on by both AEC and the Defense Department, with the Air Force spending slightly more than half the 800 million dollars.

Land Deal Appeal

Religious Order Getting Windfall, Company Says

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A private firm argued in the Court of Appeals Tuesday that a religious group was driving a hard bargain and getting a windfall in a $110,000 land deal.

The Hill, Sand and Gravel Co. appealed a Howard County Circuit Court decision ordering it to pay the balance on the purchase of some 107 acres of land and properties from the Pallottine Fathers House of Studies, Inc.

The firm contended the Roman Catholic order failed to produce a good and marketable title to the property as required in a contract of sale.

The contract set the purchase price at $110,000. The company made a downpayment of $5,000.

Specially the company maintained it was not properly informed there was no permanent access between a 20-acre and an 87-acre parcel, that it was misled through a "mutual mistake" as to the quality of the sand and gravel and that an old graveyard on the land places it under an undue burden.

The firm's attorneys argued that if the high court reversed the circuit court order, the religious order "would not be prejudiced except to the extent of losing a windfall," but if the order were upheld, it would "enforce a hard bargain" on the company.

The religious organization for some years had used the land for a novitiate to train persons for priesthood. Since 1949 the group also had been excavating and selling sand and gravel from the land, with the activity being carried out mainly by one of the lay brothers.

In 1957 the non-profit corporation decided to sell the property and transfer its novitiate to Milwaukee.

Glaros Trial On Burglary Charge Opens

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Prosecutors in the $162,000 burglary trial of Stephano Glaros said Tuesday they plan to introduce as evidence certain statements he made to police after his arrest.

But C. Burnam Mace, Dorchester County state's attorney, said in his opening statement to the two judges hearing the case the money will not be produced as evidence.

It was the first public indication that investigators have not recovered the $159,000 in cash and $3,000 in bonds taken in the Nov. 8, 1958, safe burglary of a general store operated by George O. Powley at Wingate, Md.

Powley, the first of about 25 witnesses expected to testify in the trial before Circuit Judges W. Laird Henry and Godfrey Child, admitted under cross-examination that he has come under investigation by internal revenue agents since the burglary.

He told the court he "accumulated the money over the years" from his operation of the store and an adjacent seafood packing house.

Mace said the state would show that charred remnants of sales slips from the Powley store were found in a trash can at Glaros' home in Harundale, a development near Glen Burnie, Md.

The prosecutor said it would also be shown that paint scrapings and pieces of insulation from the door of Powley's safe were found in the trunk of Glaros' automobile.

Glaros, 33-year-old submarine sandwich shop operator, was arrested Nov. 11 and was freed on $50,000 after his indictment in April by the Dorchester County Grand Jury.

Of three others arrested in the case, one was released after a preliminary hearing. No jury action has been taken against the others, Eugene B. Hurley, 32, and Donald E. Weston, 47, both of Baltimore.

After the entire morning and part of the afternoon were spent in the seating of a jury, Powley testified for three hours.

He told of locking up the store the night of Nov. 7 and discovering the burglary when he returned at 6:45 a. m. the next day.

The big safe which had contained the money was lying on its side, its door open, he said. Scattered about the floor were business papers and onions, the onions apparently from a bag used to haul off the loot — six bundles of slightly more than $25,000 each and three $1,000 U. S. Government savings bonds.

Powley said he had not counted the money since 1954, when waters whipped up by Hurricane Hazel flooded the store.

Naval Academy Dedicates New Stadium Saturday

Sailors and Marines throughout the world dipped into their paychecks and contributed on behalf of their ships or units.

And so on Saturday the U.S. Naval Academy will dedicate its bright new double-deck football stadium — a $3,000,000 concrete and bronze memorial to the Navy and Marine Corps.

It is completely paid for and didn't cost the government a cent.

High-ranking military brass will be here for the dedication, which will feature a homecoming football game against William and Mary College in addition to the pomp and pageantry of military bands and marching units.

The 29,000-seat stadium, which eventually can be converted into a horseshoe or even a bowl seating 120,000, is located in West Annapolis off an expressway spur leading into town from Washington and Baltimore. It has parking facilities for 7,600 cars.

The modern new plant, which replaced old Thompson Stadium on the Academy grounds as a site for Navy games, was still a dream three years ago. It had been talked about for 20 years but World War II and the Korean War frustrated plans before they could ever get off the ground.

Then in 1956, Rear Adm. William R. Smedberg III, new superintendent of the Naval Academy, made a decision. Congress would not put up the money for such an athletic facility. "Let's build it by private subscription," he said.

With an okay from the Secretary of the Navy, a fund-raising drive was organized and launched in January, 1957. It spread throughout the United States and through fleet and Marine Corps units.

One of the early contributions to reach the superintendent's office was in a letter from John Will of Batavia, N.Y.

"Dear sir," he said. "I am sending you $1 for the new stadium. I am 11 years old and earned the money shoveling snow. I hope some day to play in that stadium."

There were thousands of other donations, large and small, from the public and the military.

The Cadet corps at West Point presented $1,107.50 "in tribute to their brothers in arms of the U.S. Naval Academy who have laid down their lives for their beloved country."

Notre Dame alumni and friends gave $10,000. Sailors and Marines and their officers gave $1,250,000.

The Naval Academy Athletic Assn., non - profit organization which finances the Navy sports program, gave $1,000,000 in cash and 102 acres of land for the stadium site which it had purchased in 1939.

The rest came from individual and group subscriptions.

Ike Signs Mudd Memorial Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Samuel A. Mudd, who gave medical aid to the assassin of Abraham Lincoln and was jailed as a result, will be honored for his services to fellow prisoners during a yellow fever epidemic.

Congress has authorized erection of a memorial tablet at Garden Key, Fla., honoring Dr. Mudd's performance during the epidemic in 1867. The tablet will cost about $300.

The doctor had been imprisoned at old Fort Jefferson at Garden Key after his conviction as an accessory after the fact in Lincoln's assassinstion in 1865. History says that John Wilkes Booth broke his leg in leaping to the stage of Ford Theater here after he shot Lincoln and went to Dr. Mudd's home in Maryland for aid.

In authorizing the memorial, Congress skirted the issue of whether Dr. Mudd knew of the assassination when he treated Booth. The House Interior Committee said only that it was a controversial matter of history on which it did not wish to pass judgment.

President Eisenhower signed the measure Monday.

4 Charged In Theft Of 200 Water Heaters

BALTIMORE (AP) — Four veteran employes of a Edgemere manufacturing company have been charged with stealing more than 200 hot water heaters worth more than $10,000 from their employer.

Baltimore County police said Tuesday the heaters had been taken over a two-month period and had been sold to plumbing supply concerns in the area.

The four were identified as Wilbur B. Sherwood, 37, a shipping supervisor for the Rheem Manufactuuring Co. for 18 years; James Shifflett, 32, a loader employed for 18 years; Charles Butts, 34, a lift operator and veteran of 17 years; and Shelby S. Davis, 38, a truck driver on the payroll for 15 years.

Jobless Pay Benefits Drop

BALTIMORE (AP) — Improvement in business plus reopening of plants closed for inventory and vacation caused a drop in jobless pay benefits in Maryland during August.

The Department of Employment Security reported Tuesday that $2,759,119 in benefits was paid to Maryland's unemployed in August, a drop of 8.9 per cent from the $3,028,191 reported for July and 29.7 per cent under the $3,923,250 for August, 1958.

DES Director Robert K. Kimble, in referring to the sharp decline from August a year ago, said "general economic recovery from the recession of last year" was responsible for the decrease.

Some of the decrease also was due to the elimination from the jobless rolls of claimants who had exhausted their full entitlement to benefits. Another 1,989 exhausted their full 26 weeks of benefits in August, increasing the 12-month total to 33,793.

DES Headquarters Nearing Completion

BALTIMORE (AP) — The new multi-million dollar headquarters building for the State Employment Security Department should be completed Dec. 1, and formally dedicated about 15 days later.

Albert P. Backhaus, state director of public improvements, said Tuesday the preliminary schedule of occupancy of the six-story structure in Mount Royal Plaza has been worked out with DES Director Robert B. Kimble.

A $4,128,000 contract for erection of the aluminum and glass building was awarded to the Blake Construction Co., but $5,500,000 has been authorized for its completion.

Religious Order Getting Windfall, Company Says

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — A private firm argued in the Court of Appeals Tuesday that a religious group was driving a hard bargain and getting a windfall in a $110,000 land deal.

The Hill, Sand and Gravel Co. appealed a Howard County Circuit Court decision ordering it to pay the balance on the purchase of some 107 acres of land and properties from the Pallottine Fathers House of Studies, Inc.

The firm contended the Roman Catholic order failed to produce a good and marketable title to the property as required in a contract of sale.

The contract set the purchase price at $110,000. The company made a downpayment of $5,000.

Specially the company maintained it was not properly informed there was no permanent access between a 20-acre and an 87-acre parcel, that it was misled through a "mutual mistake" as to the quality of the sand and gravel and that an old graveyard on the land places it under an undue burden.

The firm's attorneys argued that if the high court reversed the circuit court order, the religious order "would not be prejudiced except to the extent of losing a windfall," but if the order were upheld, it would "enforce a hard bargain" on the company.

Glaros Trial On Burglary Charge Opens

CAMBRIDGE (AP) — Prosecutors in the $162,000 burglary trial of Stephano Glaros said Tuesday they plan to introduce as evidence certain statements he made to police after his arrest.

But C. Burnam Mace, Dorchester County state's attorney, said in his opening statement to the two judges hearing the case the money will not be produced as evidence.

It was the first public indication that investigators have not recovered the $159,000 in cash and $3,000 in bonds taken in the Nov. 8, 1958, safe burglary of a general store operated by George O. Powley at Wingate, Md.

Mace said the state would show that charred remnants of sales slips from the Powley store were found in a trash can at Glaros' home in Harundale, a development near Glen Burnie, Md.

The prosecutor said it would also be shown that paint scrapings and pieces of insulation from the door of Powley's safe were found in the trunk of Glaros' automobile.

Glaros, 33-year-old submarine sandwich shop operator, was arrested Nov. 11 and was freed on $50,000 after his indictment in April by the Dorchester County Grand Jury.

Of three others arrested in the case, one was released after a preliminary hearing. No jury action has been taken against the others, Eugene B. Hurley, 32, and Donald E. Weston, 47, both of Baltimore.

After the entire morning and part of the afternoon were spent in the seating of a jury, Powley testified for three hours.

He told of locking up the store the night of Nov. 7 and discovering the burglary when he returned at 6:45 a. m. the next day.

Ike May Find Climax To Mr. K Visit Is Past

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

President Eisenhower is worried about the treatment Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev is receiving over the country, fearing it may color their talks at Camp David this weekend.

Indeed, the lines between Communist and American thinking were drawn so dramatically Sunday night at Khrushchev's meeting with the labor leaders in San Francisco that the President may find the climax of the Premier's visit has passed.

Khrushchev himself issued what may prove to be the true assessment of the whole trip when he said of the labor leaders: "Our positions are irreconcilable."

Discussions at the labor dinner sometimes deteroriated into such an uproar, some of them reported, that it was impossible to be sure just exactly what was said.

Every time someone asked Khrushchev about self-determination of peoples, communication between peoples, individual liberty and the right to strike, or about any of the other differences between democracy and the Communist dictatorship, he blew up.

It got so bad that Walter Reuther reported his party did not ask some of their intended questions for fear the meeting would actually break up.

Monday's White House statement repeating the President's interest in making a good impression on the visitor reminded people of the hope that the Camp David discussions would be "constructive."

That may yet be. The Communist visitor has proved himself capable of rapid changes in spirit.

But he will come back to Washington remembering that the American crowds have been very cool; that the representatives of American labor, some of whom even refused to see him at all, offer him no hope of worker participation here in the world revolution he advocates.

Plotters Sentenced

KHARTOUM, Sudan (UPI) — President Ibrahim Abboud handed down sentences—six of them for life imprisonment — Tuesday to 12 army officers who were court martialed for plotting to overthrow the government May 22. Six of the officers, including two members of the Supreme Council, had been sentenced by the court martial to death. But the President commuted their sentences to life imprisonment.

Over a century, a billion cubic yards of earth, equalling 10 Suez canals, have been moved to protect and drain areas in The Netherlands.

NORMAL LITTLE GIRLS—Pamela (left) and Patricia Schatz, the ex-Siamese twins, who were separated at Philadelphia's Children's Hospital nearly two years ago, returned yesterday for a physical checkup and a birthday party. At birth the infant girls were joined at the pelvis, and when they were nine days old they were successfully separated by a team of 14 pediatric specialists. The twins, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Schatz, Long Island, will be two years old Sept. 26. (AP Photofax)

Budget Chief Says Tax Cuts Possible Through Economy, "Popular Demand"

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Budget director Maurice H. Stans said Monday that U.S. taxpayers could win a tax cut without any reduction in current big military outlays if they really demanded economy in other areas.

He said the possibility of tax cuts are "not at all remote" if there is enough "popular demand" and enough "insistence on control and reduction of expenditures and the economy continues to advance."

Stans conceded that any significant cuts in federal spending would have to be made in defense expenditures and could come only "when we have an understanding with the Soviets that we can trust."

But he said "we can look forward to tax reduction even if our military expenditures stay at this level, although I would put some debt reduction ahead of a tax cut."

Statements In Article

The budget chief made his statements in a copyrighted interview with U.S. News and World Report, a weekly news magazine.

Stans said that if it eventually proves possible to reduce military spending, some of the savings should go to the public in the form of tax cuts "to increase the standard of living and the welfare of the country."

On the other hand, he said that if the government finds it impossible to balance the budget—either because of administration programs or congressional action — "then I think the only course the country can safely pursue is to raise taxes."

Stans said this should not be necessary, however, "if we face up to the real problem of controlling our expenditures."

Take Issue With Claims

Stans took issue with the Democratic claims that the first session of the Democratic-controlled 86th Congress trimmed President Eisenhower's current budget by about $1,900,000,000. He said the budget actually is "worse off" because of congressional action.

He said about 900-million dollars of the claimed reduction was merely a postponement since the money will have to be provided next year or at a later date.

Stans said the remaining 1-billion dollars was in military construction and foreign aid programs which will have very little effect this year although they will mean savings in future years.

"The net result," he said, "is that all of the congressional appropriation actions on the 1960 budget will actually save, we estimate, something less than 100-million dollars in 1960 expenditures."

On the other side, he said, congressional unwillingness to hike postal rates, revise co-op taxes and change other taxes will mean a 500 million loss to the treasury.

GRINDELWALD, Switzerland (AP)—Timothy Fearson, 8, climbed the Wetterhorn Monday to commemorate a trip up that 12,153-foot peak by his great-grandfather exactly a century ago. Swiss guides said no 8-year-old had done it before.

Timothy made the 14-hour jaunt up and down the spectacular mountain with his brother Patrick, 12; their father John, a London lawyer, and two guides.

Yoshida Says Japan Must Be Friends With U.S.

By KENNETH ISHII

HAKONE, Japan (AP)—Shigeru Yoshida peers through the haze of cigar smoke, impatiently flicks away imaginary specks from his immaculate Japanese kimono, and snaps out observation on politics and life in general:

"Japan has to be friends with the United States."

"It will take at least 20 years for Japan to again become stable. And only then will it be possible to say whether Japan has what it takes to become a major world power."

"Nuclear weapons? Japan must have them if they are necessary for her defense."

This is Shigeru Yoshida in retirement, in a rare interview at his summer retreat in the mountains of Hakone not far from Tokyo. Five years ago he stepped down as prime minister after leading his nation out of wartime defeat back to sovereignty.

Japan's most distinguished elder statesman spends his time in his various homes among his dogs and famed collection of bonsai (miniature Japanese trees), contemplating his long life. He has finished writing his memoirs.

A great stickler for etiquette and courtesy, Yoshida publicly has always acted like the reserved British gentlemen he admired so much when he was Japanese ambassador to the Court of St. James before World War II.

The man he likes most to be compared with is Sir Winston Churchill. Like the British elder statesman, Yoshida is happiest puffing away on long Havana cigars supplied by his friends.

Friends and foes recall vividly the short, pudgy figure in the British-cut suit with wing-collar and spats, glaring through his glasses with pent-up fury at what he considered ill-mannered political opponents in Parliament.

On one such occasion he shouted "bakayaro (idiot)," and kicked off a political crisis that led to the dissolution of the Diet.

Almost everyone remembers when Yoshida angrily threw a glass of water in the face of a Japanese photographer whom he considered rude.

Yoshida recalls the incident with amusement.

"I later told Mr. Churchill about it in Venice, and Mr. Churchill complimented me for my action."

His greatest moment as prime minister came when he led the Japanese delegation to San Francisco in 1951 to sign the peace treaty that restored sovereignty and independence to this proud Asian nation of 90 million people.

Yoshida is probably the staunchest pro-Western leader Japan has had. He was thrown into prison by the militarists during World War II because of his suspected desire to make an early peace with the United States.

"Of course Japan has to be friends with the United States," he says. "That's what the mutual security pact (with the United States) is for."

Motor Scooter Rider Loses Life In Crash

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 41-year-old Baltimore County man was fatally injured Monday when his motor scooter collided with a taxicab.

The victim, Adolph Binick of Parkville, died at Union Memorial Hospital soon after the accident. Police said Binick jumped from the scooter at the last moment in an effort to avoid the crash.

The death, added to a weekend toll of seven in the state increased Maryland's 1959 traffic fatality list to 374. The figure on the same date a year ago was 352.

The amethysts once were thought to prevent anyone from getting intoxicated.

Official Declares U.S. Should Be Able To Match Soviet Moon Feat This Fall

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department's research chief said Monday the United States should be able this fall to match Russia's feat in getting a rocket to the moon.

The official, Dr. Herbert F. York, said the Russians beat this country in the race because they have rockets of greater power which enabled them to use heavy "high-quality guidance in the last stage."

He said this country's lunar shots used Thor and Jupiter intermediate range missiles as boosters, limiting the payload to "some tens of pounds."

York said the United States would be shifting this fall to the more powerful Atlas intercontinental missile "as the basement booster for lunar probes."

As soon as this is done, he said, "then all of these things will be just as easy for us to do."

York made the forecast in a copyrighted interview with U.S. News and World Report, a weekly news magazine.

The next U.S. lunar shot may come when the moon again moves to its closest point to the earth Oct. 3-7. There have been reports this country would try to put a satellite into orbit around the moon, a more difficult feat than hitting it directly as the Russians did.

York said the Russian moon shot did not show any Soviet advance from a military standpoint. But he said the fact that it was "a great attention drawer . . . and propaganda achievement" caused him concern.

York said he credited Russian military missiles with greater accuracy than was shown by Lunik II in hitting the moon. He said it was harder "by quite a bit" to hit a point with a few miles' error on earth than it was to hit the moon.

York said that "over all, in science and engineering at the present time, I believe the United States is ahead of the Soviet Union," although Russia is "coming up fast and does, indeed, threaten to overtake us down the road."

York said he did not think this country needed more of a crash program than it now has for missile development. He said that with respect to parts of the space program, such as the man-in-space effort —"we are very nearly on a crash basis."

Star-Study Platforms

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force Office of Scientific Research announced Monday plans to study the stars from stabilized platforms 10 miles above the earth.

The platforms, serving as steady bases for telescopes, will be borne aloft and supported by manned balloons.

State Health Dept. Asks Budget Hike

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Health Department Monday submitted a 1961 budget request calling for spending five million dollars more than its current appropriation.

The department asked for a total of $32,721,528 for fiscal 1961, compared to a current figure of $27,476,261. Both federal and special fund requests dropped a little, but the general fund request was up $6,473,723.

One of the major increases was the $4,778,587 asked for the care of indigent patients.

Pope Returning

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII has decided to cut short his visit to Castel Gandolfo and return to the Vatican whether his advisers want him to or not, Vatican sources said Tuesday. The Pontiff probably will drive the 13 miles back to Rome Friday, they said.

Direct Phone System Links U.S. To Europe

NEW YORK (UPI) — The first telephone cable system directly linking the American continent with the mainland of Europe was put into operation this week.

Work on the deep-sea segment of the 40-million-dollar all-weather cable was begun last March. It stretches 2,400 miles underwater from Penmarch, France, to Clarenville, Nfld.

The new system handled the first calls to Paris with the clarity of a connection across town.

Frederick R. Kappel, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., which owns 64 per cent of the new system, was among those participating in the opening ceremonies.

"Hundreds of men and women on both sides of the Atlantic worked for two years without letup to make this day possible," said Kappel. "It is a proud day indeed for all of us in the communications industry."

During the laying of the deep-sea segment, which was started last March 14, work was halted twice, once by huge ice fields off the coast of Newfoundland and again when fire razed one of the two cableships on the job about 600 miles off the coast of France.

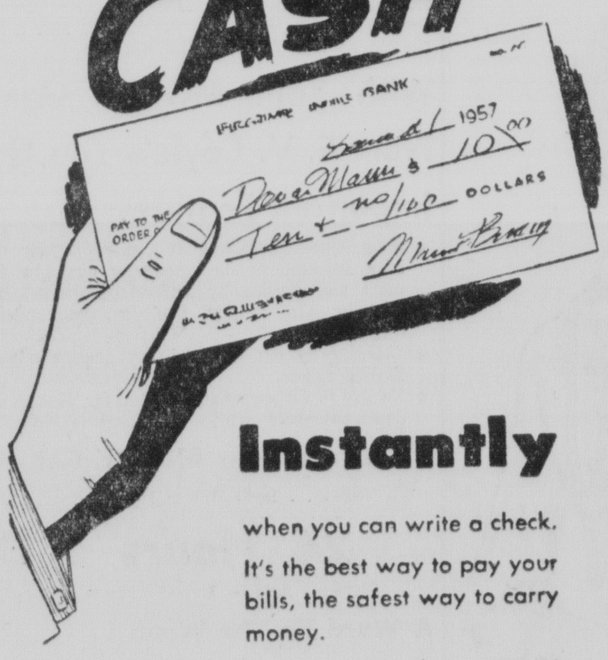

The new system is owned by A.T.&T., the French ministry of posts and telecommunications, and the German federal ministry for posts and telecommunications. It can carry 36 simultaneous conversations, but the capacity probably will be doubled with the development of new techniques now under way.

The system links the telephone networks of the United States with those of France, Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands, Switzerland and Italy. Thirty-six additional areas and countries can be reached through the European points.

SEES HOUSING CURTAILED

NEW YORK (UPI) — Carl T. Mitnick, president of the National Assn. of Home Builders, warned Tuesday that tight money and rising interest rates will sharply curtail new housing construction next year. Mitnick told mortgage bankers at their 46th annual convention that "unless the present money trend is reversed your opportunities for placing mortgages next year are going to be greatly reduced in comparison with 1959."

Official Declares U.S. Should Be Able To Match Soviet Moon Feat This Fall

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department's research chief said Monday the United States should be able this fall to match Russia's feat in getting a rocket to the moon.

The official, Dr. Herbert F. York, said the Russians beat this country in the race because they have rockets of greater power which enabled them to use heavy "high-quality guidance in the last stage."

He said this country's lunar shots used Thor and Jupiter intermediate range missiles as boosters, limiting the payload to "some tens of pounds."

York said the United States would be shifting this fall to the more powerful Atlas intercontinental missile "as the basement booster for lunar probes."

As soon as this is done, he said, "then all of these things will be just as easy for us to do."

York made the forecast in a copyrighted interview with U.S. News and World Report, a weekly news magazine.

The next U.S. lunar shot may come when the moon again moves to its closest point to the earth Oct. 3-7. There have been reports this country would try to put a satellite into orbit around the moon, a more difficult feat than hitting it directly as the Russians did.

York said the Russian moon shot did not show any Soviet advance from a military standpoint. But he said the fact that it was "a great attention drawer . . . and propaganda achievement" caused him concern.

York said he credited Russian military missiles with greater accuracy than was shown by Lunik II in hitting the moon. He said it was harder "by quite a bit" to hit a point with a few miles' error on earth than it was to hit the moon.

York said that "over all, in science and engineering at the present time, I believe the United States is ahead of the Soviet Union," although Russia is "coming up fast and does, indeed, threaten to overtake us down the road."

York said he did not think this country needed more of a crash program than it now has for missile development. He said that with respect to parts of the space program, such as the man-in-space effort —"we are very nearly on a crash basis."

Committee chairmen were selected by the board of directors. Each may appoint his own committee. Mrs. Earl Smith was named show chairman, with Mr. Ware vice chairman; Miss Nickel, obedience training chairman, with Earl Smith cochairman; Mrs. R. J. Boniece, trophy chairman; Mr. Fossett publicity chairman, assisted by Mrs. Smith; Mrs. Meek, advertising chairman with Mrs. Arthur Neder assisting; Mr. Smith, tickets chairman with Thomas Rennie assistant; Mr. Jeffries, grounds chairman and Mr. Fossett cochairman; Mrs. Rennie, hospitality chairman with Mrs. Ware cochairman. Mrs. Ware, chief ring steward chairman, assisted by R. J. Boniece, Miss Nickel, and Mrs. Meek; Dr. C. N. Foose Jr., veterinarian in charge; and Mrs. Martha Nickel, show catalog chairman with Mrs. Walter Derlan cochairman.

Plans were approved to secure the film showing the Westminster Dog Show in Madison Square Garden, New York. This program will be open to the public. Other movies showing activities in the dog field are on the agenda for the fall and winter months.

Membership in the club now is open for a limited number of persons. Anyone interested in becoming a member may contact the president, by calling PA 4-1239 or the secretary, HO 3-2754, or any club member they know.

Obedience classes are being held Sunday afternoons from 1 until 3, at the North Cumberland Playground. The public is invited to visit the classes.

Centre St. PTA Will Meet 24th

The first meeting of the fall season of the Centre Street School Parent-Teacher Association will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30, and will be devoted to greeting new parents and making reacquaintance with the others.

A program is to be presented under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Wilson and Mrs. Lois Getz. It will be followed by a brief business session, at which time Thomas Wagner, principal, is to extend greetings. A social hour will conclude the evening and refreshments will be served.

Chairmen were selected at the executive board meeting held recently. The new officers are Mrs. Ruth Ogilbay, president; Mrs. Virginia Chorpenning, secretary; and Mrs. Frances Miller, treasurer.

The chairmen are Mrs. Herbert Dawson, membership; Mrs. Wilson, program; Mrs. Getz, hospitality; Mrs. Frank Hilliker, safety; Mrs. Richard Shobe, publications; Mrs. Leonard Winebrenner, refreshments; Mrs. John Gaff, publicity; Mrs. Herman Bowman, parent discussion; Mrs. Ernest Billmeyer, spiritual education; Mrs. Charles Fisher, County Council representative; Mrs. Mary Radcliffe, legislative; and Mrs. Miller, health.

Cumberland AAUW Outlines Year's Activities

The state meeting was discussed and chairman reports given at the meeting of Cumberland Branch of the American Association of University Women, held Saturday at the home of Mrs. Grace Burns, Spring Gap. A picnic supper preceded the businesss session, conducted by Mrs. John Thomas.

Mrs. Thomas discussed the program for the state meeting, which will be held September 26 at the national headquarters in Washington. She and Mrs. Aden Everstine will attend. Mrs. Everstine is chairman of the nominating committee, to name a second vice president, treasurer and recording secretary. The slate will be presented at the spring board meeting.

Speaking of tthe general programs for the year for Cumberland Branch, AAUW, Miss Janet Anderson, vice president, said they will include trips through the Pittsburgh Plate Glass and the Kelly-Springfield Tire plant. Mrs. William Van Newkirk is in charge of the annual College Night program to be held in the spring. Mrs. Alice McGuire and Mrs. Arlene Russell have charge of the social studies program, which will take up this year, the problems of the aged. Mrs. Frances Carroll was named parliamentarian. Mrs. William Harrison is in charge of the News-Letter; and Mrs. Everstine, publicity and is historian for the branch.

"Round Up Highlights" was the topic of the program presented by Mrs. Everstine, adult leader, and one of the patrols from Cumberland to attend the Girl Scout Round-Up held in July at the Colorado Springs. Mrs. Everstine explained the amount of preparation and training done over the period of two years, in preparing the two patrols from Cumberland to be able to take an active part in the Round-Up program.

The Round-Up Patrol from Troop Flying Cloud, the Senior Scout Mariner troop, gave reports. Frances Leger discussed the many changes in the Colorado weather during the day and night, and how the scouts had to be ready with the right clothing and equipment. The Cumberland girls reported their pleasure that their tents were able to stay up in one of the big dust storms, whereas nearby tents, raised by tthe army, were blown down. Martha Claus told of the fun in exchanging swaps at the Round-Up and showed some she had exchanged. Kristen Johnson explained the different uniforms worn by tthe patrol and their leaders. Sandra Roeder explained what it meant to the girls in meeting so many from other parts of the country and the work and friendships made.

Mrs. Daniel McKenzie, LaVale, and Mrs. Effie Parsons, Hawthorne Avenue, have returned from Baltimore.

Alpha Alpha, BSP Gives To Oakland Disaster Fund

Alpha Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi voted a donation of $10 to the bus disaster fund, sponsored by the hospital, Lions, Rotary and Teen-age clubs of Oakland. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Imogene Hixson, Shades Lane.

Announcement was made of a toy party to be held by Mrs. Betty Barnes, October 3, at her home, 1514 Frederick Street; and a rummage sale, October 5, at 116 North Centre Street, from 10 until 3 o'clock. The next meeting will be October 6 at the home of Mrs. Jane O'Rourke, 901 Braddock Road.

For the cultural program Mrs. O'Rourke spoke on the history of what is now Allegany County, and Cumberland, up to 1789. Members attending were Miss Ann Riggleman, Mrs. Elaine Diehl, Mrs. Catherine Samson, Mrs. Virginia Plummer, Mrs. Virginia Topper, Mrs. Phyllis Cooley, Mrs. Betty Imes, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Eleanor Devore and Miss Betty Stegmaier.

Miss Beverly Bower, the chapter's new pledge, was entertained at a smorgasborg party held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Cooley, Holland Street. An arrangement of fruit and candles centered the refreshment table and was repeated on the small tables. Cocktails preceded the dinner and cards followed.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. John Topper, Mr. and Mrs. Edward O'Rourke, Mr. and Mrs. James Diehl, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Samson, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Devore, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hixson, Mr. and Mrs. Brooke Fradiska and Miss Ann Riggleman.

Salisbury Named For Convention

Salisbury was selected to be host for the next convention of the Grand Temple of Pythian Sisters and Knights of Pythias, next September. Mrs. Vera Mussard, Oakland, presided at the sessions of the 52d annual session held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, over the weekend. Walter W. Dawson, Oakland attorney, was toastmaster for the banquet, preceding the public installation ceremony.

The main project of the Pythian Sisters for the year is to help the retarded children's home, at Smithsburg, besides the regular work for the polio foundation.

A report on the convention will be given by Mrs. Faye Lee Burner, representative, at the meeting of Manhattan Temple 8, Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Junior Order hall.

Social Chart

Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will hold its fall luncheon at 12:30 today at the Cumberland Country Club.

St. John's Lutheran Church Ladies Aid will hold a covered dish supper and meeting at 6 tomorrow night at the church. The Luther League will present a program.

Cumberland AAUW Outlines Year's Activities

The state meeting was discussed and chairman reports given at the meeting of Cumberland Branch of the American Association of University Women, held Saturday at the home of Mrs. Grace Burns, Spring Gap. A picnic supper preceded the businesss session, conducted by Mrs. John Thomas.

Mrs. Thomas discussed the program for the state meeting, which will be held September 26 at the national headquarters in Washington. She and Mrs. Aden Everstine will attend. Mrs. Everstine is chairman of the nominating committee, to name a second vice president, treasurer and recording secretary. The slate will be presented at the spring board meeting.

Speaking of tthe general programs for the year for Cumberland Branch, AAUW, Miss Janet Anderson, vice president, said they will include trips through the Pittsburgh Plate Glass and the Kelly-Springfield Tire plant. Mrs. William Van Newkirk is in charge of the annual College Night program to be held in the spring. Mrs. Alice McGuire and Mrs. Arlene Russell have charge of the social studies program, which will take up this year, the problems of the aged. Mrs. Frances Carroll was named parliamentarian. Mrs. William Harrison is in charge of the News-Letter; and Mrs. Everstine, publicity and is historian for the branch.

"Round Up Highlights" was the topic of the program presented by Mrs. Everstine, adult leader, and one of the patrols from Cumberland to attend the Girl Scout Round-Up held in July at the Colorado Springs. Mrs. Everstine explained the amount of preparation and training done over the period of two years, in preparing the two patrols from Cumberland to be able to take an active part in the Round-Up program.

The Round-Up Patrol from Troop Flying Cloud, the Senior Scout Mariner troop, gave reports. Frances Leger discussed the many changes in the Colorado weather during the day and night, and how the scouts had to be ready with the right clothing and equipment. The Cumberland girls reported their pleasure that their tents were able to stay up in one of the big dust storms, whereas nearby tents, raised by tthe army, were blown down. Martha Claus told of the fun in exchanging swaps at the Round-Up and showed some she had exchanged. Kristen Johnson explained the different uniforms worn by tthe patrol and their leaders. Sandra Roeder explained what it meant to the girls in meeting so many from other parts of the country and the work and friendships made.

Mrs. Daniel McKenzie, LaVale, and Mrs. Effie Parsons, Hawthorne Avenue, have returned from Baltimore.

Alpha Alpha, BSP Gives To Oakland Disaster Fund

Alpha Alpha Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi voted a donation of $10 to the bus disaster fund, sponsored by the hospital, Lions, Rotary and Teen-age clubs of Oakland. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Imogene Hixson, Shades Lane.

Announcement was made of a toy party to be held by Mrs. Betty Barnes, October 3, at her home, 1514 Frederick Street; and a rummage sale, October 5, at 116 North Centre Street, from 10 until 3 o'clock. The next meeting will be October 6 at the home of Mrs. Jane O'Rourke, 901 Braddock Road.

For the cultural program Mrs. O'Rourke spoke on the history of what is now Allegany County, and Cumberland, up to 1789. Members attending were Miss Ann Riggleman, Mrs. Elaine Diehl, Mrs. Catherine Samson, Mrs. Virginia Plummer, Mrs. Virginia Topper, Mrs. Phyllis Cooley, Mrs. Betty Imes, Mrs. Barnes, Mrs. Eleanor Devore and Miss Betty Stegmaier.

Miss Beverly Bower, the chapter's new pledge, was entertained at a smorgasborg party held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Cooley, Holland Street. An arrangement of fruit and candles centered the refreshment table and was repeated on the small tables. Cocktails preceded the dinner and cards followed.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. John Topper, Mr. and Mrs. Edward O'Rourke, Mr. and Mrs. James Diehl, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Samson, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Devore, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hixson, Mr. and Mrs. Brooke Fradiska and Miss Ann Riggleman.

Salisbury Named For Convention

Salisbury was selected to be host for the next convention of the Grand Temple of Pythian Sisters and Knights of Pythias, next September. Mrs. Vera Mussard, Oakland, presided at the sessions of the 52d annual session held at the Fort Cumberland Hotel, over the weekend. Walter W. Dawson, Oakland attorney, was toastmaster for the banquet, preceding the public installation ceremony.

The main project of the Pythian Sisters for the year is to help the retarded children's home, at Smithsburg, besides the regular work for the polio foundation.

A report on the convention will be given by Mrs. Faye Lee Burner, representative, at the meeting of Manhattan Temple 8, Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Junior Order hall.

Watershed Plan Is Outlined By Local Engineer

Five to 10 men will be employed when the proposed plan for perpetual maintenance and management of lumber in the Cumberland watershed is finally approved, Sanitary Engineer Franklin J. Blaney said yesterday.

Blaney who has proposed the program to Water Commissioner G. Ray Light and received the "green light" to continue pressing the plan, said employing the additional men would not affect the city's budget. Funds for their pay would come from money realized from the agreement with the Houseworth Lumber Company of Bedford.

A rough draft of the plan and Houseworth contract have been submitted to Charles W. Koontz of Bedford, attorney for the Evitts Creek Water Company, who has it under study.

Men hired under the proposed plan would come from the City of Cumberland, Blaney emphasized.

In addition to placing the watershed on a paying basis, other benefits from the plan will include supervised reforestation, erosion control, elimination of water loss through removal of deadwood (logs, underbrush), and correction of drainage.

Eventually, the watershed will be set up so that people can bring their families and spend the day, Blaney said. Along that line, "a get tough" campaign is being waged against litter in the watershed and visitors who violate anti-litter rules are subject to $25 fines.

Blaney said "We welcome visitors but we will not tolerate litterbugs."

The overall program may take 10 to 15 years, but when it is finally realized "We will have a showplace," the sanitary engineer stated.

A great deal of planning is necessary for such a far-reaching program. One phase includes a forestation map with a legend for each area, showing trees and shrubs found in different sections and indexed as to size and age. The map also shows areas under regeneration.

Another point brought out under the plan will include reforestation with trees supplied by the Pennsylvania Forest Commission on hills in the watershed where no growth now exists.

Removal of rotted wood and control of trees which have reached growth and have no direction to go except to rot, is included. It was pointed out that rotted wood soaks up water and prevents it from being put to use; and water passing over rotted wood can pick up manganese which causes discolor on pipes. Manganese has no effect on the quality of drinking water, in fact, it tastes good, Blaney says. But "tattle-tale grey" in clothing is manganese, he added.

To prevent roads being blocked in event of forest fire, it is planned to keep all debris and topping cleared within a minimum of 50 feet on either side of the roads for 100 years or more. Brush and debris along small tributaries feeding into the watershed will be cleared 25 feet on each side.

Logging roads will be controlled closely so runoff water will get to the reservoir without bringing silt, clay and sand with it.

By clearing out logs and toppings, yield of the watershed will be increased considerably, Blaney said, adding he preferred grass which lets water run into the shed and he wants no more water in the hills than necessary.

If properly managed, in four or five years the watershed can make quite a bit of money, Blaney said, adding:

"I would rather convert this money back into jobs for people who need them. At the same time, it will do the watershed good."

Court Hears Sewer Dispute

A case concerning a local private sewer line, which has been battled in court several times during the past 10 years, was back in court yesterday.

The cases developed again last week when warrants were issued by the city engineer's office against Byron Kight, 309 Decatur Street, and William A. Spruill, 743 Washington Street, who owns an apartment house adjoining Kight's property.

The men were charged with maintaining a nuisance by improper maintenance of a private sewer line on Decatur Street.

Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, took the witness stand and stated that the condition had been cleared twice by city crews, however sewage is still coming from the pipe line.

J. B. Dowling, supervisor for the State Health Department, testified that the health hazard has existed for at least the past 10 years.

Magistrate Peter J. Carpenti, who presided, advised the attorneys for both parties to get together and settle the situation by Thursday morning at which time he will make a ruling in the case.

River Group To Discuss Improving Potomac Water

Progress in improving water quality of the Potomac River will be the theme of the annual fall meeting of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin here Thursday and Friday at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

To be emphasized particularly are recent and upcoming improvements in the quality of the Potomac's North Branch from the Cumberland area to the Savage River.

Improvements include the Cumberland sewage treatment plant, waste treatment system nearing completion for the Luke mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company which also serves the Luke, Piedmont and Westernport; and the mammoth settling lagoons which avoid river pollution from the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company Works 7.

Advisory committee meetings of the commission will be held at the hotel today at 7:30 p. m.

The morning session Thursday will feature rundowns of facilities for treating municipal wastes from Maryland and West Virginia communities along the North Branch. Leader of the discussion will be Charles V. Bush, commission member, while reporters will be Thomas W. Shives of the Maryland Health Department, Bern Wright of the West Virginia Water Resources Commission, and Paul McKee, Maryland Water Pollution Control Commission member.

Cumberland's City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and Sanitary Engineer Franklin J. Blaney will report on the local waste treatment and flood control works.

Speaker at the luncheon will be John Luke, general manager, fine papers division, of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Tours of the Cumberland sewage treatment plant, PPG waste disposal and local flood protection project have been arranged for Thursday afternoon.

At 6:15 p. m., a social hour will be held at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club followed by a dinner at 7 p. m. Toastmaster will be L. J. Hartley of the B&O Railroad Company. Thomas B. Finan, this city, Maryland secretary of state, will be speaker.

Friday's session will feature a panel discussion: "Factors in Water Development." Moderator will be Frank Wachter of the Pennsylvania Sand Glass Company. Panel members are Walter Gumbel, West Virginia Soil Conservation Committee member; Roy W. Olson, assistant regional forester of the U. S. Forest Service; and B. G. Atwood, of the area development department of the Potomac Edison Company, Hagerstown.

Committee reports will follow and the meeting will adjourn at 12:30 p. m.

Registration will be held at 9 a. m. Thursday. Mayor J. Edwin Keech will welcome the commission to Cumberland.

Local arrangements are in charge of A. T. Brust Jr., of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, Nuzum and the Chamber of Commerce. Julian G. Patrick of the Pulp and Paper Company, is in charge of the program; while William H. Johnson, district forester for the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks, is in charge of exhibits.

County Bar Association To Hear Judge Sobeloff

Chief Judge Simon Sobeloff of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals will be the main speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Allegany County Bar Association on September 30 at White Sulphur Springs Hotel near Manns Choice, Pa.

The distinguished jurist, who has held many top judicial positions, will be introduced by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris of the Fourth Judicial Circuit of Maryland.

Judge Sobeloff is a former city solicitor of Baltimore, former U.S. district attorney for Maryland, former chief judge of the Maryland Court of Appeals, former solicitor general of the United States.

The committee on arrangements for the dinner event is composed of State's Attorney James S. Getty, William L. Wilson and William H. Geppert, local attorneys.

A cocktail party will be held from 4 to 6 p. m. and the dinner will follow. The event is being held for members of the bar association and their wives.

Worker Is Appointed At County Infirmary

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has named Mrs. Vivian Mae Flanagan, of Upper Homewood Addition, as a utility worker at the County Infirmary.

The board also extended the temporary appointments of Evelyn A. Ewing and Nannie M. Gowans, as practical nurses at the infirmary.

Judge Orders Release Of Prisoner

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris yesterday handed down an opinion in which he ordered the release of James Edward Parsons, city, from the House of Correction.

A hearing was held Monday in Circuit Court before Judge Harris on a petition by Parsons under the Post Conviction Procedure Act whereby he sought his freedom from the penal institution.

Harold E. Naughton, the court-appointed attorney for Parsons, claimed that the prisoner had been sentenced to one year on a charge of contributing to minors and six months for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. One sentence, the year, was handed down by former Magistrate Fred Anderson in Juvenile Court and the six-month term in Trial Magistrates Court by Magistrate Morris Baron.

Parsons sought his freedom on the basis that the sentences were concurrent.

Judge Harris noted that the docket entries for September 4, 1958 in Trial Magistrates Court did not show whether the sentence was to run concurrently or consecutively.

The commitment papers signed by Magistrate Baron showed the six month sentence was to run consecutively and begin after the one year term had been satisfied.

Judge Harris stated: "The petitioner was not informed at the hearing before Magistrate Baron that the six months term that he imposed was to run consecutively and to begin after the term imposed by Juvenile Magistrate Anderson.

"In my opinion, these sentences run concurrently and not consecutively and the petitioner should have been released from the House of Correction after the completion of the one year sentence.

"The notation that was put on the committment papers by Magistrate Baron, to the effect that the sentences are to run consecutively, I believe to be void. This is like giving additional punishment after the case is closed," Judge Harris ruled.

Parsons was sentenced for giving some alcoholic beverages to several youths and also taking a car from the Kelly tire plant parking lot. The group then went to the County Infirmary and attempted to free a girl being held in the detention quarters.

Brush Fire Checked

The firemen received the alarm at 8:25 p. m., and remained on the scene one hour and 25 minutes.

Health Officer To Discuss Use Of LaVale Fire Hall

Herbert C. Fritz, chief of the division of hospitals for the State Health Department, will be here today to discuss with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners the use of the LaVale Fire Hall as a new headquarters for the County Health Department.

Fritz will go over the plans of the building and specifications for its use as a health department facility. Commissioner John J. Rowan and J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian, will meet with Fritz on the matter.

The LaVale Volunteer Fire Company is holding a meeting tonight at which time the proposal will be taken up. There are plans for either the rental or outright purchase of the building for the Health Department use.

Dowling said there are two floors which can house the various units of the health agency and also provide the necessary office space. He informed the county commissioners yesterday there is some state money which can be used to make the transfer.

The basement of the structure will provide clinic space and also plenty of storage for materials.

Meanwhile, the Mayor and Council of Westernport wrote the county board yesterday requesting that the old Hammond Street School in that community be used for the Health Department.

Mayor Ray L. Wilt said that the building contains a central heating plant and many rooms which could be utilized for the agency. He also said that there is sufficient parking space and that it would not entail any great expense to the taxpayers to place the building in good condition.

Commissioner Rowan said that the Westernport officials are to be notified that nothing will be done until after the LaVale matter is decided upon and that there are several locations which are under consideration.

$160,907 Taxes Collected Thus Far By City Office

The city's tax collections are coming in fine and as of the close of business Monday 12.8 per cent of the tax levy had been collected, Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder said yesterday.

Mrs. Roeder said the amount paid by citizens will enable the city to continue operating without borrowing money. It had been planned to borrow enough for operating expenses from July 1 if tax collections did not meet expectations.

Until the close of business yesterday, $160,907.12 had been collected of the total levy of $1,253,080.

Deadline for payment of taxes is Monday, October 19, at 5 p. m. The taxpayer got an extra two days to pay because the original deadline falls on a Saturday when City Hall is closed. The office of Tax Collector George E. Davis is opening at 8 a. m. daily as a convenience to the taxpayer who might prefer to pay on the way to work.

After the tax deadline, interest at the rate of one-half per cent a month will be charged.

Board Receives Complaints On Drainage, Sewer

Two complaints were received by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday concerning water drainage and sewage problems.

Frank Byers, of Camp Ground Road, LaVale, inquired about the situation pertaining to sewage in that area. Commissioner John J. Rowan said that the residents affected should do nothing until the State Roads Commission furnished plans for the location of the western end of the Cumberland Thruway in that section.

Any work done now in connection with sewage installations could possibly be wasted as the exact routing of the new highway has not been furnished the county board, Rowan explained.

Lorimer J. Twigg, McHenry Street, LaVale, asked that something be done about the grade of the street. He said that over the past few years the roadway has been built up so that water drainage has caused damage to his garage. Commissioner Rowan said he would check the matter with Harry Skelly, roads supervisor.

Parking Meter Income Shows Sharp Decline

Parking meter revenue for the week of September 13 totaled $628.61, according to a report by Harry Whisner, parking meter inspector.

This was a decrease of $113.84 from the revenue of the previous week.

Six Employe Groups Get CUF Awards

After only a few days of campaigning, Woodward D. Pealer and Robert R. Esler, co-chairmen of the CUF Classified Division, reported yesterday six local employe groups are eligible for Outstanding Citizenship Awards to be presented by County United Fund later this year.

Heading the list, with 100 per cent of the employes making gifts to the 1959 CUF drive, are the Crystal Laundry Company and Harry Footer and Company.

"The response to CUF among the smaller employe groups now matches that of employes in the larger industries," the co-chairmen said today. "It is beyond our greatest expectations."

Other employe groups eligible for awards are the Buchanan Lumber Company, Brock Scrap and Salvage Company, County Roads Department, and Super Concrete Company.

Sixty-three out of 69 County Roads employes have signed CUF gift cards to date; 33 out of 35 Super Concrete employes have signed up. Figures were not immediately available for the other employe units, but CUF officials emphasized all have met or exceeded their goals, both in the number participating and amount given.

Employe-group giving is up 1,000 per cent in some cases, Pealer and Esler said, with CUF's acceptance as the organization that meets the total needs of 31 communities in Allegany and Mineral counties through its 31 affiliated services.

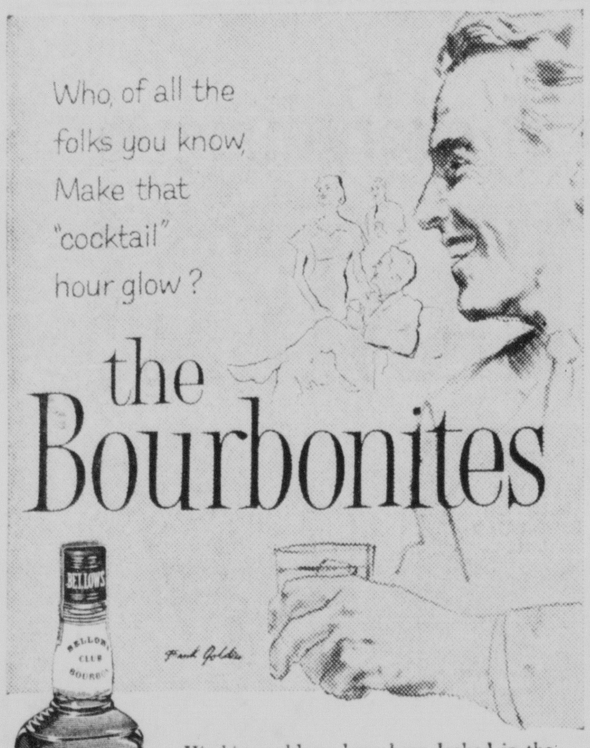

About seven out of every ten passenger motor cars in the world are produced in the United States.

Sidewalk Meet Slated Monday

A meeting has been arranged for next Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the City Hall in Lonaconing at which the matter of sidewalks along 600 feet of State Route 36 in front of the Valley High School will be discussed.

At a meeting Monday, two solutions to the problem were offered. Sheriff Paul C. Haberlein suggested that a junior sheriff's group could be formed to supervise the children while they walk along the roadway. His other suggestion would be the use of school buses to transport children from Lonaconing to the school.

A representative of the State Roads Commission district office, the county commissioners and Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of school bus transportation, will attend the session next Monday.

His big problems have been locked in the office; her small ones have been tucked in bed. For a while, nary a worrisome word mars the serenity of the day's golden hour.

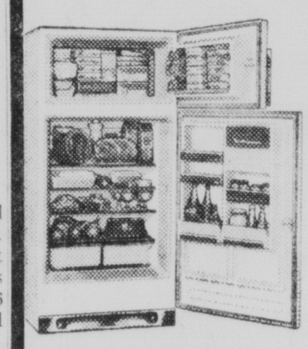

The pre-dinner drink they serve is BELLOWS CLUB BOURBON. So light and mild—yet with a robust flavor only Kentucky could produce. Tomorrow at the Bourbonite's hour, try it—and see.

Deaths And Funerals In The Tri-State Area

MRS. THERESA E. CLINE

Mrs. Theresa E. Cline, of 415 North Mechanic Street, widow of George D. Cline, died yesterday at Sacred Heart Hospital.

A native of Cumberland, she was a daughter of the late Lloyd J. and Margaret (Brodigan) Ryland. Her husband, a former printer for the Times and Alleganian Company, died November 15, 1957.

Mrs. Cline was a member of St. Patrick's Catholic Church and was a charter member of the Women's Auxiliary of the International Typographical Union, Local 244.

Survivors include her daughters, Mrs. Frank E. Hilliker, city; Mrs. Claude E. Rowan, Washington; Mrs. Kenneth Imler, Altoona, Pa., and Mrs. Ann Hovermill, Caro, Mich.; two sisters, Miss Drew Ryland and Miss Alice C. Ryland, both of here, and 17 grandchildren.

The body is at the George Funeral Home where the family will receive friends today from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

ROBERT R. HOCKADAY

Robert Rudolph Hockaday, two-year-old son of Sp. 4 Robert and Renate (Ewert) Hockaday, 132 Harrison Street, died on Monday in the Walter Reed Army Hospital, Washington, D. C.

The boy was born on August 9, 1957, in Bad Kreuznach, Germany. Surviving are his father and mother, a brother, Jurgen Hockaday, at home, and his maternal grandfather, Rudolph Ewert, Frankethal, Germany.

His father is stationed with the Army in Fort Benning, Ga., and the family came to this country in March from Germany where the serviceman was stationed.

A funeral service will be held on Friday at the Arlington (Va.) National Cemetery.

FERMAN H. MORELAND

Ferman H. Moreland, 72, of 20 Barncord Street, Ridgeley, died at his home early yesterday. He had been in failing health for the past year.

Born in Slanesville, W. Va., he was a son of the late Christopher C. and Mary E. (Gross) Moreland. He had been a resident of Ridgeley for the past 55 years.

Mr. Moreland was employed as a sheet metal worker for the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad for 43 years before his retirement in 1945. He was a member of Calvary Methodist Church.

Mr. Moreland is survived by his wife, Mrs. Anna E. (Spangler) Moreland; one son, David J. Moreland, LaVale; one daughter, Mrs. Thurmond Cassell, Bedford Road; a sister, Mrs. Sophia Llewlyn, Barton; a brother, Wilson T. Moreland, Paw Paw, and one grandson.

The body is at the Kight Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. today.

Services will be conducted at the funeral home Thursday at 2 p. m. by Rev. Harold L. May, pastor of Calvary Methodist Church. Burial will be in Hillcrest Burial Park.

CLARE MACKEY

The child was a granddaughter of Mrs. Henry Mackey, of 417 Washington Street.

Besides her parents and grandmother, she is survived by two brothers and two sisters.

DENISE A. HUMMEL

GRANTSVILLE — Denise Ann Hummel, five-day-old infant daughter of Harry W. and Rhoda (Shumaker) Hummel, died suddenly yesterday morning at her parents home in New Germany.

The child was born last Thursday in the Meyersdale (Pa.) Community Hospital. Besides her parents, she is survived by a brother, John and three sisters, Mrs. Doris Otto, Carol and Rita Hummel, all at home.

Also surviving are her paternal grandmother, Mrs. George Hummel, Grantsville RD, and her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Shumaker of Grantsville.

The body will be taken to the residence at 1:30 p. m. today where a service will be held at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Carl Westcoat of Salisbury, Pa. will officiate and interment will be in the Trinity Reformed Cemetery, New Germany.

CHARLIE MULLENAX

Born October 15, 1877, in Highland County, Va., he was a son of the late James and Susan (Lawrence) Mullennex. His wife, Mrs. Sallie (Mullenax) Mullennex, survives.

Mr. Mullennex was a retired lumberman and contractor and had resided in Hendricks for 40 years. He was a member of the Hendricks Methodist Church.

Besides his widow, he is survived by four sons, Jeff J. and Charles Mullennex Jr., both of here, Frank Mullennex, Hamilton, W. Va., and Dale Mullennex, of Ridgeley; a daughter, Mrs. Alma Holden, Clarksburg, W. Va., 13 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Services will be conducted at the Greenlief Funeral Chapel, here, today at 3:30 p. m. by Rev. W. A. Odell, minister of Hendricks Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. Paul Daniel, pastor of Free Methodist Church of Hendricks.

Interment will be in McNeeley Cemetery.

Women's Civic Club Discusses State And District Conferences

State and district meetings were discussed at the open session of the Woman's Civic Club held recently in the form of a luncheon at the Cumberland Country Club. Mrs. James W. Douthat, of Silver Spring, president of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs, informed the group that the state federation has adopted a "Self-Help Program to Foreign Countries," traffic safety and gerontology. She requested a good attendance at the state board meeting to be held November 17 at the Hotel Emerson, Baltimore.

Mrs. Ezra Arbaugh, Westminster, president of the First District, MFWC, announced the district meeting will be held at LaVale Methodist Church on October 14. Workshops will be conducted for officers, publicity, youth division, music, safety and international affairs chairmen.

The flag salute was led by Mrs. John S. Cook who also gave the invocation. Greetings were extended by Mrs. Edward W. Dove. Other guests besides Mrs. Douthat and Mrs. Arbaugh were Mrs. Ernest Lindsay, district vice president; Mrs. Ralph Sell Jr., and Mrs. Paul Stair, presidents of the Junior and LaVale clubs. Mrs. John Zornig sang three solos with Mrs. Samuel Weatherholt at the piano. Mrs. G. Morgan Smith reported on the state convention in Baltimore last spring.

Farm Workers Are Typhoid Fever Victims

WINCHESTER, Va. (UPI)—Six migratory farm workers Tuesday were tentatively diagnosed as typhoid fever victims and health officials moved quickly to head off an epidemic.

Dr. Stuart Nottingham, director of the Winchester - Frederick County health department, said he was certain that three workers had typhoid and "almost certain" three others had the disease.

All were members of a 25-member group of American Negroes at a nearby labor camp which houses about 1,200 workers, hired to pick the apple crops in the area.

Typhoid inoculations, the first of three required, were given Monday night to 916 workers.

Nottingham said the other 300 workers "didn't show up."

"We can't hold a gun on them and force them to take the shots," Nottingham said.

He said it was believed the six suspects had contracted the disease while working in the Chambersburg, Pa. area, possibly from a contaminated well, prior to coming to Winchester.

Nottingham said additional inoculations would be given next week and the next, along with further tests in the 25-member group with which the six lived.

He doubted the disease was contracted here since the labor camp has public sewage and public water and the laborers split up into groups to do their cooking.

Gov. Lawrence Assures Hospitality For Nikita

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania was sure of at least two things Tuesday: Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will get a hospitable reception in Pittsburgh Thursday and that the Democrats will be returned to the White House next year.

Lawrence, mayor of Pittsburgh for 12 years before he was inaugurated Democratic governor of the Keystone State last year, was here to address a banquet of the Federated Jewish Charities of Charleston.

"Pittsburgh is a very hospitable city," Lawrence said during a 30-minute news conference. "Its people are kindly disposed and I'm sure will receive Mr. Khrushchev in a kindly manner."

Lawrence said it was "too early" for him to make any decision with regard to any of the Democratic presidential hopefuls but was convinced that "we can beat anybody."

"The country is definitely Democratic as is evident from the last returns," Lawrence said. "The only thing the Republicans had was the popularity of Eisenhower as a war hero."

Lawrence denied that he had said the Pennsylvania delegation would go for Stuart Symington and added that Adlai Stevenson "is the best qualified of either party."

The governor said he disagreed with Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler in his criticisms of Democratic leaders in Congress.

"If I were in his position I would step down because of the problems he has run into, particularly with the arrangements for the national convention," Lawrence said. "The chairman ought to have almost unanimous and enthusiastic backing."

Credited with pushing the redevelopment of Pittsburgh's Golden Triangle, Lawrence said the work "would not have been possible without the cooperation of the civic and political leaders of the city."

Turning to economic conditions in Pennsylvania, Lawrence said like the miners in West Virginia, those in the Keystone State also have suffered unemployment as a result of mechanization and a slumping coal industry.

Lawrence said that Pennsylvania has tried to attract new industry to help reduce unemployment among the miners but "ran into an odd situation."

"Unfortunately, most of the employment created by these new industries was for women," Lawrence noted. "We've had the odd situation of having women find new jobs and former coal miners keeping house."

Speaking of the north - south freeway from Erie, Pa., to the West Virginia border, Lawrence said that plans for its construction are "very much alive."

"I feel it would be a great thing for the people of both states," the governor said. "We should spend the money to build it and you would get the benefit."

Lawrence explained what he meant by that was the highway would be an important link between West Virginia and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

County Commissioners Receive Thanks

Two letters of thanks were received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

One, signed by nine residents of the Little Orleans area, thanked the commissioners for having a portion of the Orleans Road hard-surfaced. "Something like this can really be appreciated by people who have lived along a dusty road," they wrote. It was signed by Mr. and Mrs. Donald McCusker, Mr. and Mrs. James McCusker, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Smith, William Price, Mrs. Etta Zirkle and Mrs. Mamie Bohrer. About one mile of the road has just been hard-surfaced.

A second letter, from Mrs. George W. Legge, executive secretary of the Allegany Chapter, American Red Cross, expressed thanks for a check for $600, which she said will be spent wisely for both mental and physical relief to a number of Allegany countians. This charitable contribution is authorized under Section 70 of the Public Local Laws of Allegany County.

13-Year-Old Boy Strangled

STRASBURG, Va. (UPI) — Strasburg police began an intensive investigation Tuesday into the death of 13-year-old Charles Ralph Lance of Martinsburg, W. Va. who was found strangled to death near here Sunday afternoon.

The boy was found by his father, Rodney M. Lance, several hours after he had been sent outside to play with his two sisters and a brother. A piece of sash cord was tied around the boy's neck and had obviously choked him, police said.

The boy and his family were visiting relatives here at the time of the incident.

Police said the boy's brother and sisters had decided to return to the house, but Charles had said he wanted to remain outside. Police said the boy may have accidentally strangled himself, or have been strangled by someone else. They refused to comment further until their investigation was completed.

20 Have Administered W.Va. University Affairs

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —West Virginia University will install Elvis J. Stahr Jr. as its 14th president Oct. 3 but a total of 20 executives have administered the affairs of the university.

Since the institution was established in 1867, the university has had nine acting presidents. Three of them, Daniel B. Purinton, Frank Butler Trotter and Charles E. Lawall, were moved up to president.

Purinton was acting president between the terms of presidents John R. Thompson and William Wilson. He was made president nearly two decades later and remained as president for 10 years until 1911.

Promoted from director of the School of Mines to acting president in 1938, Lawall was named president the following year and remained until 1945.

Trotter was named acting president in 1914. He was president from 1916 until the end of 1928, the longest time of any of the institution's presidents.

Unemployment Claims Increase In W. Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—New claims from West Virginians for unemployment compensation rose 17.5 per cent last week to a total of 2,422, the State Department of Employment Security reported Tuesday.

The total of all claims processed last week rose 6.5 percent from the week before. Claimants received $565,159, reducing the Unemployment Compensation Fund balance to $35,602,873.

Passengers on the Rock Island lines railway are receiving small bags of gold dust in lieu of change in lounge and dining cars. The "pokes" are legal tender this year in Colorado, observing its "Rush to the Rockies" Centennial.

25 New Cases Of Polio Noted

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Health Director N. H. Dyer said Tuesday that 25 new polio cases were reported in West Virginia last week, the largest total for one week this year.

However, Dyer said he believed the polio season "has just about reached its peak and should begin to taper off from now on."

Through last week, 123 cases had been reported in the state compared to 107 in the corresponding period last year. There were 22 cases the previous week.

Five new cases wee reported in Kanawha County Tuesday, bringing that county's toll for the year to 72, nearly 60 per cent of the state's total.

Dyer said he knew of no scarcity of polio vaccine in West Virginia since the U. S. Public Health Service asked for a special allocation of the serum for Kanawha County.

Farm Workers Are Typhoid Fever Victims

WINCHESTER, Va. (UPI)—Six migratory farm workers Tuesday were tentatively diagnosed as typhoid fever victims and health officials moved quickly to head off an epidemic.

Dr. Stuart Nottingham, director of the Winchester - Frederick County health department, said he was certain that three workers had typhoid and "almost certain" three others had the disease.

All were members of a 25-member group of American Negroes at a nearby labor camp which houses about 1,200 workers, hired to pick the apple crops in the area.

Typhoid inoculations, the first of three required, were given Monday night to 916 workers.

Nottingham said the other 300 workers "didn't show up."

"We can't hold a gun on them and force them to take the shots," Nottingham said.

He said it was believed the six suspects had contracted the disease while working in the Chambersburg, Pa. area, possibly from a contaminated well, prior to coming to Winchester.

Nottingham said additional inoculations would be given next week and the next, along with further tests in the 25-member group with which the six lived.

He doubted the disease was contracted here since the labor camp has public sewage and public water and the laborers split up into groups to do their cooking.

Gov. Lawrence Assures Hospitality For Nikita

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania was sure of at least two things Tuesday: Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will get a hospitable reception in Pittsburgh Thursday and that the Democrats will be returned to the White House next year.

Lawrence, mayor of Pittsburgh for 12 years before he was inaugurated Democratic governor of the Keystone State last year, was here to address a banquet of the Federated Jewish Charities of Charleston.

"Pittsburgh is a very hospitable city," Lawrence said during a 30-minute news conference. "Its people are kindly disposed and I'm sure will receive Mr. Khrushchev in a kindly manner."

Lawrence said it was "too early" for him to make any decision with regard to any of the Democratic presidential hopefuls but was convinced that "we can beat anybody."

"The country is definitely Democratic as is evident from the last returns," Lawrence said. "The only thing the Republicans had was the popularity of Eisenhower as a war hero."

Lawrence denied that he had said the Pennsylvania delegation would go for Stuart Symington and added that Adlai Stevenson "is the best qualified of either party."

The governor said he disagreed with Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler in his criticisms of Democratic leaders in Congress.

"If I were in his position I would step down because of the problems he has run into, particularly with the arrangements for the national convention," Lawrence said. "The chairman ought to have almost unanimous and enthusiastic backing."

Credited with pushing the redevelopment of Pittsburgh's Golden Triangle, Lawrence said the work "would not have been possible without the cooperation of the civic and political leaders of the city."

Turning to economic conditions in Pennsylvania, Lawrence said like the miners in West Virginia, those in the Keystone State also have suffered unemployment as a result of mechanization and a slumping coal industry.

Lawrence said that Pennsylvania has tried to attract new industry to help reduce unemployment among the miners but "ran into an odd situation."

"Unfortunately, most of the employment created by these new industries was for women," Lawrence noted. "We've had the odd situation of having women find new jobs and former coal miners keeping house."

Speaking of the north - south freeway from Erie, Pa., to the West Virginia border, Lawrence said that plans for its construction are "very much alive."

"I feel it would be a great thing for the people of both states," the governor said. "We should spend the money to build it and you would get the benefit."

Lawrence explained what he meant by that was the highway would be an important link between West Virginia and the St. Lawrence Seaway.

County Commissioners Receive Thanks

Two letters of thanks were received yesterday by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

One, signed by nine residents of the Little Orleans area, thanked the commissioners for having a portion of the Orleans Road hard-surfaced. "Something like this can really be appreciated by people who have lived along a dusty road," they wrote. It was signed by Mr. and Mrs. Donald McCusker, Mr. and Mrs. James McCusker, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Smith, William Price, Mrs. Etta Zirkle and Mrs. Mamie Bohrer. About one mile of the road has just been hard-surfaced.

A second letter, from Mrs. George W. Legge, executive secretary of the Allegany Chapter, American Red Cross, expressed thanks for a check for $600, which she said will be spent wisely for both mental and physical relief to a number of Allegany countians. This charitable contribution is authorized under Section 70 of the Public Local Laws of Allegany County.

13-Year-Old Boy Strangled

STRASBURG, Va. (UPI) — Strasburg police began an intensive investigation Tuesday into the death of 13-year-old Charles Ralph Lance of Martinsburg, W. Va. who was found strangled to death near here Sunday afternoon.

The boy was found by his father, Rodney M. Lance, several hours after he had been sent outside to play with his two sisters and a brother. A piece of sash cord was tied around the boy's neck and had obviously choked him, police said.

The boy and his family were visiting relatives here at the time of the incident.

Police said the boy's brother and sisters had decided to return to the house, but Charles had said he wanted to remain outside. Police said the boy may have accidentally strangled himself, or have been strangled by someone else. They refused to comment further until their investigation was completed.

20 Have Administered W.Va. University Affairs

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) —West Virginia University will install Elvis J. Stahr Jr. as its 14th president Oct. 3 but a total of 20 executives have administered the affairs of the university.

Since the institution was established in 1867, the university has had nine acting presidents. Three of them, Daniel B. Purinton, Frank Butler Trotter and Charles E. Lawall, were moved up to president.

Purinton was acting president between the terms of presidents John R. Thompson and William Wilson. He was made president nearly two decades later and remained as president for 10 years until 1911.

Promoted from director of the School of Mines to acting president in 1938, Lawall was named president the following year and remained until 1945.

Trotter was named acting president in 1914. He was president from 1916 until the end of 1928, the longest time of any of the institution's presidents.

Unemployment Claims Increase In W. Va.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—New claims from West Virginians for unemployment compensation rose 17.5 per cent last week to a total of 2,422, the State Department of Employment Security reported Tuesday.

The total of all claims processed last week rose 6.5 percent from the week before. Claimants received $565,159, reducing the Unemployment Compensation Fund balance to $35,602,873.

25 New Cases Of Polio Noted

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Health Director N. H. Dyer said Tuesday that 25 new polio cases were reported in West Virginia last week, the largest total for one week this year.

However, Dyer said he believed the polio season "has just about reached its peak and should begin to taper off from now on."

Through last week, 123 cases had been reported in the state compared to 107 in the corresponding period last year. There were 22 cases the previous week.

Five new cases wee reported in Kanawha County Tuesday, bringing that county's toll for the year to 72, nearly 60 per cent of the state's total.

Dyer said he knew of no scarcity of polio vaccine in West Virginia since the U. S. Public Health Service asked for a special allocation of the serum for Kanawha County.

An Embarrassment Of Affluence

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson leaves today on a 2½-week European tour aimed at finding new outlets for excessive stocks in our ever-abnormal granary. Benson's search will carry him to such diverse potential markets for U. S. farm surpluses as Yugoslavia, West Germany, Finland, Sweden, Norway, Poland, and the Soviet Union.

The major device so far developed for sharing our agricultural abundances with the world is the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954 (Public Law 480), more widely known as the Surplus Disposal Program. The act's four titles offer a variety of approaches, but the most important by far is the foreign currency sales program.

Because many countries are short of dollars, we are forced to take local money which cannot be "repatriated." As a result, around P.L. 480 has grown up a farrago of worthy but odd-ball methods of getting rid of these credits abroad. We spend the money, for example, to buy and translate foreign technical books and periodicals, to finance exchanges of trade and civic leaders, to buy buildings for the U. S. government, to pay for junketeering by Congressional committees.

And still the currencies pile up faster than they can be used. Thus if Benson enjoys any real success on this visit we will have to find new ways of spending our riches overseas. Any suggestions?

These Days

Small Magazines

A bookseller in a small town was telling me recently that he was surprised at how young people bought high-brow paper-back books. He carries a full stock of such titles and his customers are mostly what he calls youngsters. Of course, it was always youngsters who were enthusiastic for great literature. It is a characteristic of youth to discover and explore. Each generation produces its Marco Polos and its Christopher Columbuses. And each generation finds a bit of disillusionment when it realizes that Romeo and Juliet loved even as young people today find love.

It is so with the small magazines. Their circulations run between 5,000 and 30,000. Yet, they exercise an enormous influence because their articles are usually written with great care, by writers who seek to express themselves rather than to earn some money. Men of erudition and literary competence, who find it difficult to be published, will contribute valuable articles to the small magazines.

It used to be that "The Nation" and "The New Republic" led this field. "The Nation" has had a long history of supporting what appeared at the moment of publication, lost causes, but which over a period of time, became a rule of life in our country. However, in recent years, it has lost much of its savor. Similarly, "The New Republic" was at one time one of the most important organs of opinion in the United States. It was a subsidized publication in the sense that Willard Straight, a liberal-minded J. P. Morgan partner, underwrote its losses for a period.

"The New Republic" was conceived by Herbert Croly and included a galaxy of editors, including Walter Lippman, today unequaled by any publication. In recent years, it has lost caste, perhaps because it has been unable to sustain the high quality of 40 years ago. Croly died; Lippmann became a columnist; Charles Merz became editor of "The New York Times" and has been lost in its magnitude. Other editors died or became disillusioned or simply gave up. Today, "The New Republic" continues.

"The New Leader" is a lively, socialistic magazine which struggles along under the greatest difficulties. It publishes some of the most important articles to appear in this country. Its range is world-wide and sometimes one is startled by the significance of the men who write for it. One can readily say that "The New Leader" is one of the most useful magazines in the United States, although, I must confess, it generally opposes much that I favor.

The "National Review" is the most erudite publication on the Right. Its quality is high; its articles important; its editors earnest. It loses about $100,000 a year, for which it has to beg. It is much easier to beg on the Left than on the Right. Capitalists admire money success and do not understand why a publication that is worthy should not earn its way. Of course, the explanation is that these same capitalists do not place advertisements in publications except on the basis of circulation and erudite journals of opinion are not liable to have large circulations.

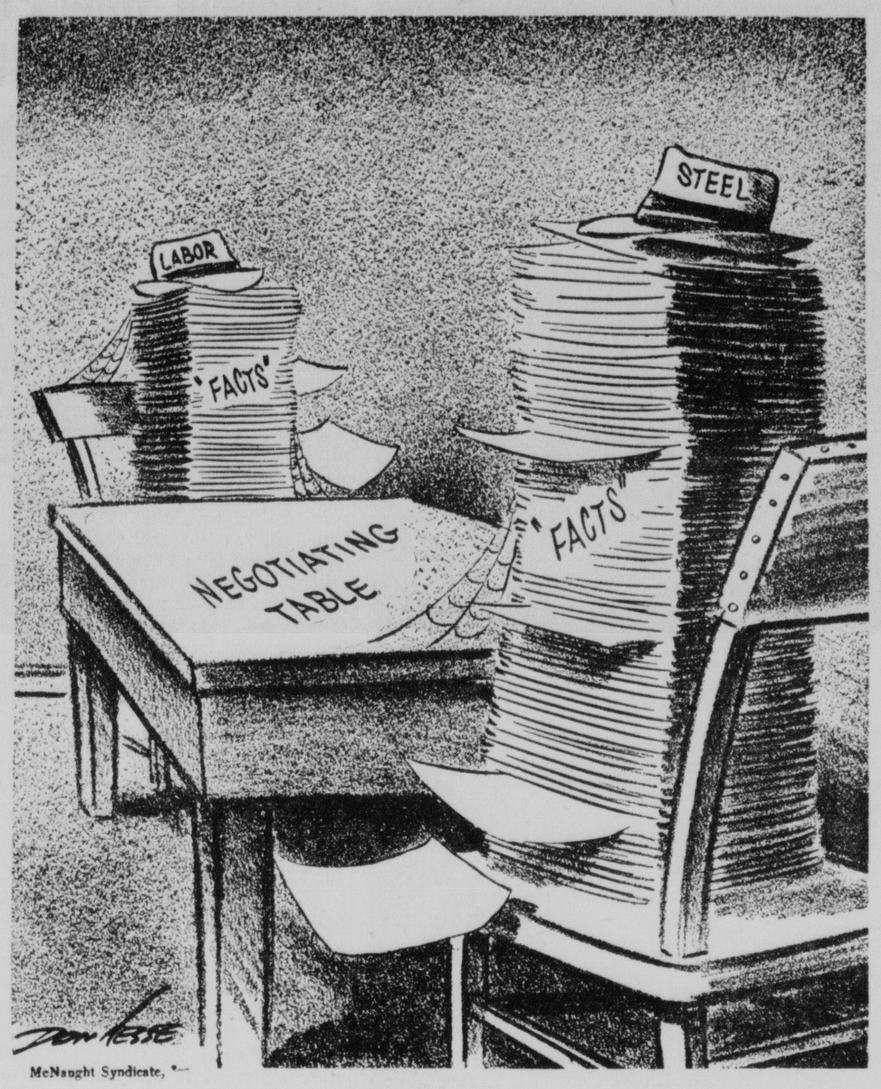

The "National Review" has the special virtue of being written in literate English which ought to appeal to those college students who wish to know how the other half thinks. It has been uncompromisingly a conservative journal, which is something difficult to be in this country without suffering from the tendency to slop over into crackpot notions. It must be a trying editorial task to keep the nuts out, because the Right Wing attracts as many peculiar people as the Left and I sometimes wonder if they are not of a kind. But the "National Review" does it ably.

Two publications on the Right are "Human Events" and "Counterattack." Both are news letters, although "Human Events" publishes important articles as supplements. "Counterattack" maintains the file on Communist activities in the United States.

Among the horrible small magazines are a plethora of hate sheets that come from various places, all designed to stimulate hatred for Jews, Catholics, Negroes, Communists, anti-Communists, vivisectionists, etc. There seems to be a lot of money available for such publications most of which are badly edited, poorly printed and devoted to falsehoods of a special nature. It is remarkable, however, that some of them, obviously false, exercise a considerable influence.

Khrushchev Convinces Citizens He's Dangerous

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—About all that Nikita Khrushchev has accomplished thus far by his visit to the United States is to convince many millions of Americans that he is a dangerous man.

The Soviet premier resents the exposure of his crimes in the court of public opinion. Although h heckled Vice President Nixon in Moscow, Mr. Khrushchev complained bitterly to President Eisenhower at the White House last week about the Vice President's speech at the American Dental Association in New York City the day before the Soviet premier arrived in the United States.

"Czar" Nikita doesn't really want to debate the issues that divide the world. He prates about disarmament and tries to make it appear he is introducing a new approach when, in fact, he is repeating the same old story—he wants disarmament for everybody else but the Soviet Union. He refuses to accept any plan that will actually mean effective inspection of what the Communists would be doing under the proposed agreement to ban armaments. He will never permit the kind of inspection that would insure against cheating.

For years, this very subject has been debated in detail, and the same proposals and counter-proposals have been advanced in the League of Nations and in he United Nations. But now the Soviet premier, benefiting by the attention of a world-wide audience, dramatically cries out for complete disarmament—as if he alone has invented the idea. He wishes everybody to forget that the Soviet government has repeatedly rejected every sensible plan for even partial disarmament which has been considered from time to time at a series of conferences that were initiated at the "Summit" meeting at Geneva four years ago.

When Mr. Khrushchev cannot get his propaganda across, and is asked some searching questions, he becomes offended and irritable. He and his security officers had ample opportunity, for instance, to object to the plans made to omit a visit to "Disneyland"—an amusement park near Los Angeles. The customary way, when such things are being arranged ahead of time, is to speak frankly and insist on this or that point. The Soviet premier did not give the slightest intimation that he wanted to see "Disneyland" after it had been pointed out that it would be difficult from a security standpoint. Now he bursts forth with a denunciation of the security officials of the State Department.

Doesn't Mr. Khrushchev know we have a real security problem in America when a man guilty of tens of thousands of murders visits us? Doesn't he realize that the relatives of many thousands of persons he has ordered executed live in America, and that in their hearts dwell the bitterest resentments? Someone ought to explain to the Soviet premier the reasons for the security problem faced by the State Department in arranging for his visit.

When, however, the Mayor of Los Angeles attempted to debate even the abstract issue of whether Communism would or would not "bury" capitalism, Mr. Khrushchev let go with a blast threatening to go back home in a few hours.

The Soviet premier is the kind of international bully the world has seen before in the personality of Adolf Hitler. He, too, thought he could cow his adversaries by threats, and that there would be no resistance from the West if aggression were begun. So does Nikita Khrushchev today apparently believe that, by shouting loudly and rattling his missiles and rockets, he can scare the rest of the world into submissively surrendering to his will.

Many bewildered citizens in the United States are asking: "What can be done? After all, we don't want to anger him — he might start a war. Isn't it better to humor him?

The answer to such questions is made every day as would-be murderers roam our cities. Policemen have found that they must not show hesitation or cowardice, and many have bravely given their lives to preserve order. The moment any nation begins to appease a dictator, he takes advantage of such weakness and misconstrues soft-talk for timidity. That's why, in the end, war comes anyway.

The only people who have the final answer today are the Soviet people. They need to be told what Mr. Khrushchev really did in America, what he said and what he refused to say when questions were asked. The Soviet people already feel the weight of the burdens they are carrying, as the Communist regime concentrates on sending rockets to the moon and thereby wastes money that should be spent to improve the standard of living of the people. For many millions of persons in the Soviet Union reside in overcrowded shacks and unsanitary structures. The average worker is being paid very low wages. The Communist system is depriving human beings of their liberties which, to most persons, becomes even more precious than money itself. Inevitably the people of the Soviet Union someday will "bury" Communism.

Only by penetrating the Iron Curtain can the facts be conveyed to the people throughout the Communist empire. Surely there is enough scientific knowledge available to overcome the "jamming" of radio broadcasts so that the story of liberty and freedom can get across to the people of the Soviet Union and the captive states. This is of paramount importance because, in time, these people will rise up to rid themselves of the autocratic government that enslaves them today.

The only hope for the world lies in encouraging revolution behind the Iron Curtain. Nikita Khrushchev will not be tamed or eliminated any other way, though for expediency's sake there may for a while be "summit" meetings and "negotiations" to try to "ease tensions." Meanwhile, the peoples of all nations will continue to live in fear. In the end, only the removal of "Czar" Nikita from power will assure the peace of the world.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

EDUCATION—The Defense Education Act is now a year old. It represents the first acceptance in modern times that the federal government has a direct responsibility to help in the American education system.

Until a year ago, education was viewed as the primary responsibility of the local community, and secondly of the state. Russia's Sputnik changed that concept.

The act is designed to stimulate education in the sciences and foreign languages. It provides education loans to students and teachers who return to schools for further study. It also provides funds to improve science equipment in school laboratories.

Much of the first year has gone into organizing the machinery for administering the law and to familiarizing students and teachers with its provisions. The real test of the law's effectiveness still lies ahead.

Already there are a number of proposals in Congress to improve the law and to make it more effective through greater financing.

Roswell Garst, Khrushchev's Host, Produces Plenty Of Iowa Corn

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Roswell Garst, the openfaced corn farmer who's playing host to Nikita Khrushchev today, has been on the telephone to the State Department urging that his guest arrive at 7:30 a. m. instead of 10:30. Reason: there's too much to see at Coon Rapids.

Simultaneously all sorts of Iowans have been on the phone to Garst giving suggestions for entertaining the No. 1 Russian. They suggest recipes for Russian dishes; advise that Khrushchev be served tomato juice instead of alcohol; hope that grace will be given before the lunch; and warn that war comes from refrigerators because cold food upsets the digestive tract and causes hot tempers.

Garst, who hasn't experienced so much excitement since he worked for Henry Wallace in the days of the New Deal, is accepting some of the suggestions. But he is serving a cocktail or Scotch before the lunch for Khrushchev in the big tent erected on his lawn.

What Khrushchev will see on this 1,000-acre farm which has made Coon Rapids famous behind the Iron Curtain is first of all huge vats on a railroad siding. They contain the molasses and urea which Garst mixes and pours on ground-up corncobs to feed his beef cattle.

A few years ago most farmers threw away their corncobs. But Garst says he spent $100 on an Encyclopedia Britannica, found that cellulose dissolved with the application of certain ingredients, consulted Iowa University scientists, and began the application of urea and molasses to corncobs as cattle feed.

Russia Is Too Dry

Only 250 white-faced Herefords are feeding on the Garst farm. But the cattle-feeding season hasn't started yet, and in a month or so Garst will be feeding up to 2,000.

Khrushchev will also see some new hybrid sorghum which Garst is recommending for Russian farms because it requires less rainfall, therefore is better adapted to the arid areas of Southern Russia. Khrushchev, a great corn man, is skeptical about sorghum.

The Garst seed corn operation is in full swing as Khrushchev arrives. In the past, farmers didn't begin picking their corn until mid-October. It was too moist. But Garst and other modern farmers now solve this by dumping their corn into big heating drums, 500 bushels at a time, until it reaches the right moisture.

This is why corn-picking machines are out in the Garst fields right now, one month early, sending a steady stream of golden ears into trucks, which haul the corn to the dehydrating drums.

"Benson Buildings"

Mr. K will also see three new buildings which on some Iowa farms are called "Benson Buildings." They are erected to take care of this year's uge surplus of corn — 1,800,000,000 bushels—rolled up when Mr. Benson took the acreage controls off corn. This will doubtless give Mr. Khrushchev something to chuckle about — and perhaps be envious over.

Khrushchev, the Socialist, has been doing his best to increase corn production in Russia. Meanwhile, the United States long followed the Socialist pattern of controlled corn production. Last year Benson persuaded corn farmers to vote to take it off. Whereupon the Midwest, under the uncontrolled, capitalistic system Khrushchev is following, will harvest the biggest crop in history. It will be so big that smart farmers like Roswell Garst have built "Benson Buildings," where, after their corn is sold to Mr. Benson, it will be stored at Mr. Benson's expense. Secretary Benson will be paying 16-4/10 cents per bushel per year of the taxpayers' money to Garst and other farmers all over the Midwest to store the surplus corn crop.

The Garst family and their old friend Henry Wallace who left Iowa to become Roosevelt's Secretary of Agriculture, probably have done more to increase corn acreage than anyone else in America. Both are pioneers in the development of hybrid seed. And while Wallace left the Agriculture Department to run for Vice President and President, Garst has been concentrating on raising 120 bushels of corn per acre.

Since our average corn production in 1939 was 29 bushels per acre, 120 bushels is quite an increase. Garst doesn't always go that high. Last year, without much rain, his average was 109 bushels; but even that was twice as much as the 51-bushel national average.

Will They Bury Us?

The secret of this amazing corn production will be something Khrushchev wants to know about, and Garst will tell him. I'm not going to show Khrushchev anything that I haven't shown other agriculturalists for the past 10 years," says the hustling corn grower of Coon Rapids. "Hunger ought not to be a problem in any part of the world."

What he will show him is quite simple: very heavy application of fertilizer, especially nitrogen.

Garst applies fertilizer to his fields over and over again. He doesn't rotate crops. "Crop rotation," he says, "is as out-of-date as the outhouse."

Khrushchev will be especially interested in one section of corn—640 acres—which hasn't been rotated in clover since 1945. It's still growing corn, with yearly applications of nitrogen.

"It costs 50 cents to one dollar to produce nitrogen by rotation," explains Garst. "It costs 10 to 15 cents to buy nitrogen.

"Crop rotation in clover will disappear as rapidly in the next 10 years as horses did during the last 10 years. When farmers can buy one pound of nitrogen for one-fifth the cost of raising it, they won't buy the same amount, they'll buy five times as much. Yields will go upward, giving us an opportunity to do away with hunger in the world."

Mr. K is already following Garst's advice, and Russian Communist corn may catch up with American capitalist corn. Russia's crop was 525,000,000 bushels last year against 3,800,000,000 for the USA. With this head start, it should take the Communist world some time to bury us in corn—even with Roswell Garst's advice. But by the spring of 1960 Russia will have enough corn to supply its own needs.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

It must be difficult for ministers and priests to bear in mind that they have one foot in Heaven. At what point does the consecrated heart go to sleep, and the earthly one come alive with its normal weaknesses? The cleric must fight unremittingly against the sins of the flesh. When he loses, God may forgive him but man will not.

Most of us achieve a shocked delight when a man of the cloth is in public disgrace. It brings him down to our level and we shake our heads sadly and piously and tell everybody about it. This is because we feel spiritually inferior and sin is still a great leveler. Whether he steals from the collections, runs off with a manicurist, drinks too much, or dabbles in politics—he's a proper target for the good holy people of his community.

A week before Nikita Khrushchev arrived, I found myself falling into the same critical hole. In many parts of America, a few preachers used the pulpit, and God's home, to denounce the Soviet Premier. It was a popular, and therefore, easy thing to do. Mr. Khrushchev was called a murderer, a monarch of slavery, a merchant of death, a liar.

Few criticized the ministers and priests for this. Permit me to stand up and be counted as one who thinks that these clerics are wandering off the path of Christianity. They are in a complex field called politics. These are the men who shout the loudest that their churches are sacrosanct and cannot be measured in such purely political aspects as, let us say, taxes.

The President extended a personal invitation to Mr. Khrushchev to visit this country. It has been obvious that he does not admire Mr. Khrushchev. For a long time, Mr. Eisenhower avoided meeting this man at the summit. It was, I am certain, an act of Christly humility on the President's part to say: "Come on over. Let us talk."

It was bound to be a controversial matter. All of us expected the politicians to gnaw on the bone of contention. The sight of that august body, the United States Senate, trying frantically to finish its business and lock up shop before Khrushchev arrived should have made amusing news in the Soviet Union.

The last time the Congress ran for cover was in 1814, when British forces moved into Washington.

No one can object to the ministers who told their flocks: "This is a time to pray for peace." The power of prayer has been proved many times and most of us, in moments of danger, drop to our knees to murmur abject pleas to God. This was a good time for the pulpits to exhort the people to special prayer.

The few who stood in the pulpits and denounced the visit, who asked the people to write to the President and harass him with criticism, who urged everyone to stay away from places where Mr. Khrushchev would visit, who called him a murderer before the holy altar, are a step away from being guilty of inciting to riot.

There weren't many who did it. A lot of letters come to this desk from many parts of the country, and some asked, as I do, when did God begin to turn His back to murderers? At what point did He set Himself against those who fight for an honorable peace?

I am in the miserable position of having to agree with the charges filed against Nikita Khrushchev but denouncing the source of the indictments. There is an old-fashioned feeling inside of me that all ministers, all priests, all rabbis are better men than I because they devote their lives to God, while I devote mine to personal aggrandizement. Let them remain on the pedestal.

When the confidence men of Judea tried to get Jesus to comment on politics, he turned the Roman coin over and over and asked whose image was on it. The people said: "Caesar's." He said, as I recall, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's." . . .

Hypnotists, Trumpet Players, And Baboons

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Home hypnosis was a do-it-yourself project that sounded too good to be true. It consisted of a set of phonograph records containing the magic voice of a soft-spoken man with a standard routine for inducing hypnosis. The platters were advertised as helpful in treating insomnia, headache, nail biting, asthmatic attacks, the paralysis of polio, tuberculosis, arthritis, blindness, and many other conditions, including warts.

The price was $99.50 for the set of records and the accompanying literature. The Food and Drug administration seized 50 sets and branded the claim false and misleading.

I get worried every time I watch a trumpet player go after a high note. His face turns red and every blood vessel in his temples and forehead becomes so prominent it looks as though they would burst. This never has happened, to my knowledge.

Professional trumpeters know that playing high, loud notes for more than a few seconds may cause dizziness and blackouts. In this respect, Wagner is the composer with the least consideration for this group and orchestras that play his music usually have a stand-in, just in case.

According to Nutrition Items, 42 per cent of the calories in an average American diet come from fats, 44 per cent from carbohydrates, and 14 per cent from proteins. Most of the fat is of animal origin. Nutritionists who believe in the relationship between fats in the diet and hardening of the arteries recommend drastic cuts in fat consumption. Less of this type of food also will help keep down weight.

Baboons in their natural habitat get hardening of the arteries even though they eat a minimum of animal fat. They subsist largely on nuts, grains, fruits, berries, and an occasional small rodent or egg. This report stems from a study conducted by Dr. Henry C. McGill and his colleagues from Louisiana State university and a Texas research foundation. Baboons were selected on this African safari because they are closer to the human species than any other laboratory animal.

An Embarrassment Of Affluence

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson leaves today on a 2½-week European tour aimed at finding new outlets for excessive stocks in our ever-abnormal granary. Benson's search will carry him to such diverse potential markets for U. S. farm surpluses as Yugoslavia, West Germany, Finland, Sweden, Norway, Poland, and the Soviet Union.

The major device so far developed for sharing our agricultural abundances with the world is the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act of 1954 (Public Law 480), more widely known as the Surplus Disposal Program. The act's four titles offer a variety of approaches, but the most important by far is the foreign currency sales program.

Because many countries are short of dollars, we are forced to take local money which cannot be "repatriated." As a result, around P.L. 480 has grown up a farrago of worthy but odd-ball methods of getting rid of these credits abroad. We spend the money, for example, to buy and translate foreign technical books and periodicals, to finance exchanges of trade and civic leaders, to buy buildings for the U. S. government, to pay for junketeering by Congressional committees.

And still the currencies pile up faster than they can be used. Thus if Benson enjoys any real success on this visit we will have to find new ways of spending our riches overseas. Any suggestions?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Small Magazines

A bookseller in a small town was telling me recently that he was surprised at how young people bought high-brow paper-back books. He carries a full stock of such titles and his customers are mostly what he calls youngsters. Of course, it was always youngsters who were enthusiastic for great literature. It is a characteristic of youth to discover and explore. Each generation produces its Marco Polos and its Christopher Columbuses. And each generation finds a bit of disillusionment when it realizes that Romeo and Juliet loved even as young people today find love.

It is so with the small magazines. Their circulations run between 5,000 and 30,000. Yet, they exercise an enormous influence because their articles are usually written with great care, by writers who seek to express themselves rather than to earn some money. Men of erudition and literary competence, who find it difficult to be published, will contribute valuable articles to the small magazines.

It used to be that "The Nation" and "The New Republic" led this field. "The Nation" has had a long history of supporting what appeared at the moment of publication, lost causes, but which over a period of time, became a rule of life in our country. However, in recent years, it has lost much of its savor. Similarly, "The New Republic" was at one time one of the most important organs of opinion in the United States. It was a subsidized publication in the sense that Willard Straight, a liberal-minded J. P. Morgan partner, underwrote its losses for a period.

"The New Republic" was conceived by Herbert Croly and included a galaxy of editors, including Walter Lippman, today unequaled by any publication. In recent years, it has lost caste, perhaps because it has been unable to sustain the high quality of 40 years ago. Croly died; Lippmann became a columnist; Charles Merz became editor of "The New York Times" and has been lost in its magnitude. Other editors died or became disillusioned or simply gave up. Today, "The New Republic" continues.

"The New Leader" is a lively, socialistic magazine which struggles along under the greatest difficulties. It publishes some of the most important articles to appear in this country. Its range is world-wide and sometimes one is startled by the significance of the men who write for it. One can readily say that "The New Leader" is one of the most useful magazines in the United States, although, I must confess, it generally opposes much that I favor.

The "National Review" is the most erudite publication on the Right. Its quality is high; its articles important; its editors earnest. It loses about $100,000 a year, for which it has to beg. It is much easier to beg on the Left than on the Right. Capitalists admire money success and do not understand why a publication that is worthy should not earn its way. Of course, the explanation is that these same capitalists do not place advertisements in publications except on the basis of circulation and erudite journals of opinion are not liable to have large circulations.

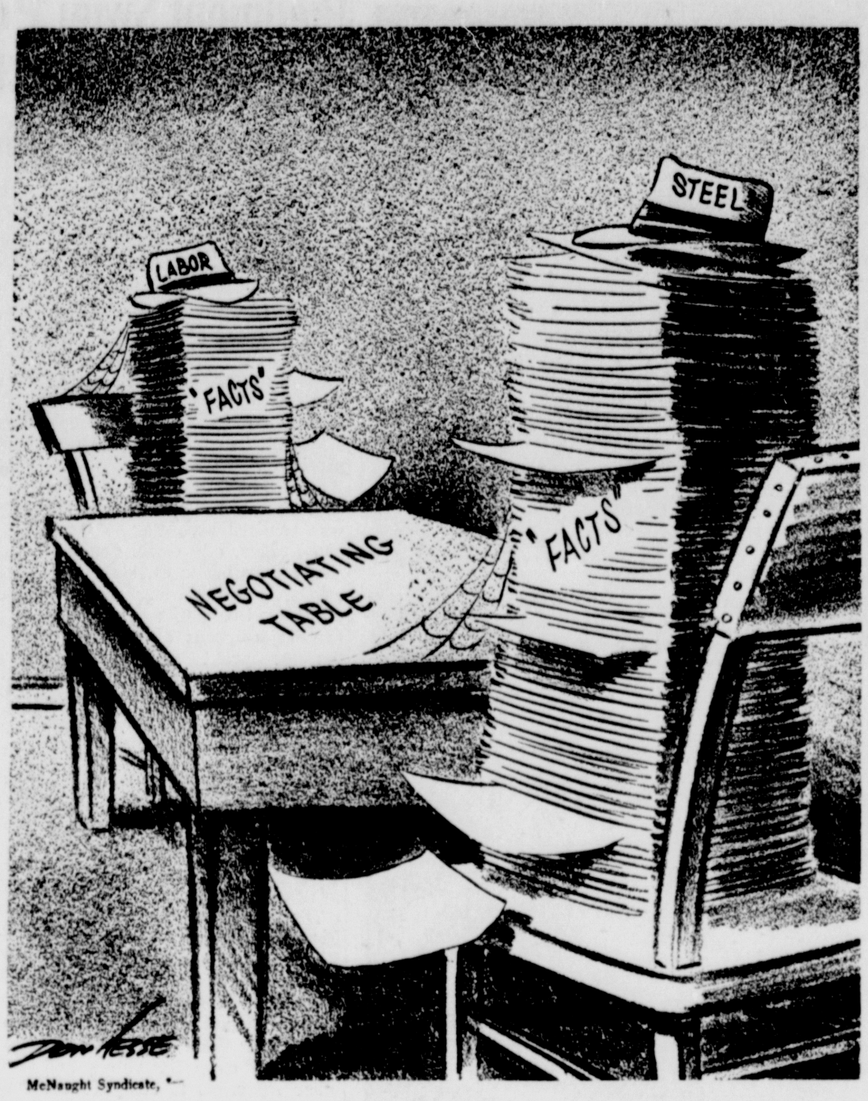

The "National Review" has the special virtue of being written in literate English which ought to appeal to those college students who wish to know how the other half thinks. It has been uncompromisingly a conservative journal, which is something difficult to be in this country without suffering from the tendency to slop over into crackpot notions. It must be a trying editorial task to keep the nuts out, because the Right Wing attracts as many peculiar people as the Left and I sometimes wonder if they are not of a kind. But the "National Review" does it ably.

Two publications on the Right are "Human Events" and "Counterattack." Both are news letters, although "Human Events" publishes important articles as supplements. "Counterattack" maintains the file on Communist activities in the United States.

Among the horrible small magazines are a plethora of hate sheets that come from various places, all designed to stimulate hatred for Jews, Catholics, Negroes, Communists, anti-Communists, vivisectionists, etc. There seems to be a lot of money available for such publications most of which are badly edited, poorly printed and devoted to falsehoods of a special nature. It is remarkable, however, that some of them, obviously false, exercise a considerable influence.

Poor Substitute For Honest Bargainers

Khrushchev Convinces Citizens He's Dangerous

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—About all that Nikita Khrushchev has accomplished thus far by his visit to the United States is to convince many millions of Americans that he is a dangerous man.

The Soviet premier resents the exposure of his crimes in the court of public opinion. Although h heckled Vice President Nixon in Moscow, Mr. Khrushchev complained bitterly to President Eisenhower at the White House last week about the Vice President's speech at the American Dental Association in New York City the day before the Soviet premier arrived in the United States.

"Czar" Nikita doesn't really want to debate the issues that divide the world. He prates about disarmament and tries to make it appear he is introducing a new approach when, in fact, he is repeating the same old story—he wants disarmament for everybody else but the Soviet Union. He refuses to accept any plan that will actually mean effective inspection of what the Communists would be doing under the proposed agreement to ban armaments. He will never permit the kind of inspection that would insure against cheating.

For years, this very subject has been debated in detail, and the same proposals and counter-proposals have been advanced in the League of Nations and in he United Nations. But now the Soviet premier, benefiting by the attention of a world-wide audience, dramatically cries out for complete disarmament—as if he alone has invented the idea. He wishes everybody to forget that the Soviet government has repeatedly rejected every sensible plan for even partial disarmament which has been considered from time to time at a series of conferences that were initiated at the "Summit" meeting at Geneva four years ago.

When Mr. Khrushchev cannot get his propaganda across, and is asked some searching questions, he becomes offended and irritable. He and his security officers had ample opportunity, for instance, to object to the plans made to omit a visit to "Disneyland"—an amusement park near Los Angeles. The customary way, when such things are being arranged ahead of time, is to speak frankly and insist on this or that point. The Soviet premier did not give the slightest intimation that he wanted to see "Disneyland" after it had been pointed out that it would be difficult from a security standpoint. Now he bursts forth with a denunciation of the security officials of the State Department.

Doesn't Mr. Khrushchev know we have a real security problem in America when a man guilty of tens of thousands of murders visits us? Doesn't he realize that the relatives of many thousands of persons he has ordered executed live in America, and that in their hearts dwell the bitterest resentments? Someone ought to explain to the Soviet premier the reasons for the security problem faced by the State Department in arranging for his visit.

When, however, the Mayor of Los Angeles attempted to debate even the abstract issue of whether Communism would or would not "bury" capitalism, Mr. Khrushchev let go with a blast threatening to go back home in a few hours.

The Soviet premier is the kind of international bully the world has seen before in the personality of Adolf Hitler. He, too, thought he could cow his adversaries by threats, and that there would be no resistance from the West if aggression were begun. So does Nikita Khrushchev today apparently believe that, by shouting loudly and rattling his missiles and rockets, he can scare the rest of the world into submissively surrendering to his will.

Many bewildered citizens in the United States are asking: "What can be done? After all, we don't want to anger him — he might start a war. Isn't it better to humor him?

The answer to such questions is made every day as would-be murderers roam our cities. Policemen have found that they must not show hesitation or cowardice, and many have bravely given their lives to preserve order. The moment any nation begins to appease a dictator, he takes advantage of such weakness and misconstrues soft-talk for timidity. That's why, in the end, war comes anyway.

The only people who have the final answer today are the Soviet people. They need to be told what Mr. Khrushchev really did in America, what he said and what he refused to say when questions were asked. The Soviet people already feel the weight of the burdens they are carrying, as the Communist regime concentrates on sending rockets to the moon and thereby wastes money that should be spent to improve the standard of living of the people. For many millions of persons in the Soviet Union reside in overcrowded shacks and unsanitary structures. The average worker is being paid very low wages. The Communist system is depriving human beings of their liberties which, to most persons, becomes even more precious than money itself. Inevitably the people of the Soviet Union someday will "bury" Communism.

Only by penetrating the Iron Curtain can the facts be conveyed to the people throughout the Communist empire. Surely there is enough scientific knowledge available to overcome the "jamming" of radio broadcasts so that the story of liberty and freedom can get across to the people of the Soviet Union and the captive states. This is of paramount importance because, in time, these people will rise up to rid themselves of the autocratic government that enslaves them today.

The only hope for the world lies in encouraging revolution behind the Iron Curtain. Nikita Khrushchev will not be tamed or eliminated any other way, though for expediency's sake there may for a while be "summit" meetings and "negotiations" to try to "ease tensions." Meanwhile, the peoples of all nations will continue to live in fear. In the end, only the removal of "Czar" Nikita from power will assure the peace of the world.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

EDUCATION—The Defense Education Act is now a year old. It represents the first acceptance in modern times that the federal government has a direct responsibility to help in the American education system.

Until a year ago, education was viewed as the primary responsibility of the local community, and secondly of the state. Russia's Sputnik changed that concept.

The act is designed to stimulate education in the sciences and foreign languages. It provides education loans to students and teachers who return to schools for further study. It also provides funds to improve science equipment in school laboratories.

Much of the first year has gone into organizing the machinery for administering the law and to familiarizing students and teachers with its provisions. The real test of the law's effectiveness still lies ahead.

Already there are a number of proposals in Congress to improve the law and to make it more effective through greater financing.

Roswell Garst, Khrushchev's Host, Produces Plenty Of Iowa Corn

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Roswell Garst, the openfaced corn farmer who's playing host to Nikita Khrushchev today, has been on the telephone to the State Department urging that his guest arrive at 7:30 a. m. instead of 10:30. Reason: there's too much to see at Coon Rapids.

Simultaneously all sorts of Iowans have been on the phone to Garst giving suggestions for entertaining the No. 1 Russian. They suggest recipes for Russian dishes; advise that Khrushchev be served tomato juice instead of alcohol; hope that grace will be given before the lunch; and warn that war comes from refrigerators because cold food upsets the digestive tract and causes hot tempers.

Garst, who hasn't experienced so much excitement since he worked for Henry Wallace in the days of the New Deal, is accepting some of the suggestions. But he is serving a cocktail or Scotch before the lunch for Khrushchev in the big tent errected on his lawn.

What Khrushchev will see on this 1,000-acre farm which has made Coon Rapids famous behind the Iron Curtain is first of all huge vats on a railroad siding. They contain the molasses and urea which Garst mixes and pours on ground-up corncobs to feed his beef cattle.

A few years ago most farmers threw away their corncobs. But Garst says he spent $100 on an Encyclopedia Britannica, found that cellulose dissolved with the application of certain ingredients, consulted Iowa University scientists, and began the application of urea and molasses to corncobs as cattle feed.

Russia Is Too Dry

Only 250 white-faced Herefords are feeding on the Garst farm. But the cattle-feeding season hasn't started yet, and in a month or so Garst will be feeding up to 2,000.

Khrushchev will also see some new hybrid sorghum which Garst is recommending for Russian farms because it requires less rainfall, therefore is better adapted to the arid areas of Southern Russia. Khrushchev, a great corn man, is skeptical about sorghum.

The Garst seed corn operation is in full swing as Khrushchev arrives. In the past, farmers didn't begin picking their corn until mid-October. It was too moist. But Garst and other modern farmers now solve this by dumping their corn into big heating drums, 500 bushels at a time, until it reaches the right moisture.

This is why corn-picking machines are out in the Garst fields right now, one month early, sending a steady stream of golden ears into trucks, which haul the corn to the dehydrating drums.

"Benson Buildings"

Mr. K will also see three new buildings which on some Iowa farms are called "Benson Buildings." They are erected to take care of this year's uge surplus of corn — 1,800,000,000 bushels—rolled up when Mr. Benson took the acreage controls off corn. This will doubtless give Mr. Khrushchev something to chuckle about — and perhaps be envious over.

Khrushchev, the Socialist, has been doing his best to increase corn production in Russia. Meanwhile, the United States long followed the Socialist pattern of controlled corn production. Last year Benson persuaded corn farmers to vote to take it off. Whereupon the Midwest, under the uncontrolled, capitalistic system Khrushchev is following, will harvest the biggest crop in history. It will be so big that smart farmers like Roswell Garst have built "Benson Buildings," where, after their corn is sold to Mr. Benson, it will be stored at Mr. Benson's expense. Secretary Benson will be paying 16-4/10 cents per bushel per year of the taxpayers' money to Garst and other farmers all over the Midwest to store the surplus corn crop.

The Garst family and their old friend Henry Wallace who left Iowa to become Roosevelt's Secretary of Agriculture, probably have done more to increase corn acreage than anyone else in America. Both are pioneers in the development of hybrid seed. And while Wallace left the Agriculture Department to run for Vice President and President, Garst has been concentrating on raising 120 bushels of corn per acre.

Since our average corn production in 1939 was 29 bushels per acre, 120 bushels is quite an increase. Garst doesn't always go that high. Last year, without much rain, his average was 109 bushels; but even that was twice as much as the 51-bushel national average.

Will They Bury Us?

The secret of this amazing corn production will be something Khrushchev wants to know about, and Garst will tell him. I'm not going to show Khrushchev anything that I haven't shown other agriculturalists for the past 10 years," says the hustling corn grower of Coon Rapids. "Hunger ought not to be a problem in any part of the world."

What he will show him is quite simple: very heavy application of fertilizer, especially nitrogen.

Garst applies fertilizer to his fields over and over again. He doesn't rotate crops. "Crop rotation," he says, "is as out-of-date as the outhouse."

Khrushchev will be especially interested in one section of corn—640 acres—which hasn't been rotated in clover since 1945. It's still growing corn, with yearly applications of nitrogen.

"It costs 50 cents to one dollar to produce nitrogen by rotation," e plains Garst. "It costs 10 to 15 cents to buy nitrogen.

"Crop rotation in clover will disappear as rapidly in the next 10 years as horses did during the last 10 years. When farmers can buy one pound of nitrogen for one-fifth the cost of raising it, they won't buy the same amount, they'll buy five times as much. Yields will go upward, giving us an opportunity to do away with hunger in the world."

Mr. K is already following Garst's advice, and Russian Communist corn may catch up with American capitalist corn. Russia's crop was 525,000,000 bushels last year against 3,800,000,000 for the USA. With this head start, it should take the Communist world some time to bury us in corn—even with Roswell Garst's advice. But by the spring of 1960 Russia will have enough corn to supply its own needs.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Jim Bishop

It must be difficult for ministers and priests to bear in mind that they have one foot in Heaven. At what point does the consecrated heart go to sleep, and the earthly one come alive with its normal weaknesses? The cleric must fight unremittingly against the sins of the flesh. When he loses, God may forgive him but man will not.

Most of us achieve a shocked delight when a man of the cloth is in public disgrace. It brings him down to our level and we shake our heads sadly and piously and tell everybody about it. This is because we feel spiritually inferior and sin is still a great leveler. Whether he steals from the collections, runs off with a manicurist, drinks too much, or dabbles in politics—he's a proper target for the good holy people of his community.

A week before Nikita Khrushchev arrived, I found myself falling into the same critical hole. In many parts of America, a few preachers used the pulpit, and God's home, to denounce the Soviet Premier. It was a popular, and therefore, easy thing to do. Mr. Khrushchev was called a murderer, a monarch of slavery, a merchant of death, a liar.

Few criticized the ministers and priests for this. Permit me to stand up and be counted as one who thinks that these clerics are wandering off the path of Christianity. They are in a complex field called politics. These are the men who shout the loudest that their churches are sacrosanct and cannot be measured in such purely political aspects as, let us say, taxes.

The President extended a personal invitation to Mr. Khrushchev to visit this country. It has been obvious that he does not admire Mr. Khrushchev. For a long time, Mr. Eisenhower avoided meeting this man at the summit. It was, I am certain, an act of Christly humility on the President's part to say: "Come on over. Let us talk."

It was bound to be a controversial matter. All of us expected the politicians to gnaw on the bone of contention. The sight of that august body, the United States Senate, trying frantically to finish its business and lock up shop before Khrushchev arrived should have made amusing news in the Soviet Union.

The last time the Congress ran for cover was in 1814, when British forces moved into Washington.

No one can object to the ministers who told their flocks: "This is a time to pray for peace." The power of prayer has been proved many times and most of us, in moments of danger, drop to our knees to murmur abject pleas to God. This was a good time for the pulpits to exhort the people to special prayer.

The few who stood in the pulpits and denounced the visit, who asked the people to write to the President and harass him with criticism, who urged everyone to stay away from places where Mr. Khrushchev would visit, who called him a murderer before the holy altar, are a step away from being guilty of inciting to riot.

There weren't many who did it. A lot of letters come to this desk from many parts of the country, and some asked, as I do, when did God begin to turn His back to murderers? At what point did He set Himself against those who fight for an honorable peace?

I am in the miserable position of having to agree with the charges filed against Nikita Khrushchev but denouncing the source of the indictments. There is an old-fashioned feeling inside of me that all ministers, all priests, all rabbis are better men than I because they devote their lives to God, while I devote mine to personal aggrandizement. Let them remain on the pedestal.

When the confidence men of Judea tried to get Jesus to comment on politics, he turned the Roman coin over and over and asked whose image was on it. The people said: "Caesar's." He said, as I recall, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are God's." . . .

Midland Plans United Nations Day Program

Mayor Issues Proclamation

MIDLAND — At the meeting of Mayor Lionel D. Baker and the city council, Mayor Baker issued a United Nations Day Proclamation for October 24. All civic, fraternal and women's groups are requested to participate. The proclamation was issued in response to Charles P. McCormick, United Nations Day state chairman. Harry Youngblood has been appointed community chairman.

Benjamin Evans of the Lonaconing Water Company spoke on the water situation in this area. Mr. Evans told the council that the water in the reservoir is two feet below the spillway, but the community will still have an ample supply of water, if the citizens continue to repair all leaks, and not waste the water. Mayor Baker requested Mr. Evans to have a water contract drawn up for the town of Midland.

"No Parking" signs will be placed on Paradise Street near Midland Elementary School. County Commissioners have been asked to grade off a parking space near the school in order that cars may be parked off the street. The bailiff, Joseph Monahan, was instructed to stop all cars from stopping or parking in front of the post office. One child has already been injured near the post office. Motorists are asked to park their cars on the parking lot when going to the post office, the mayor said.

Clarence Beeman appeared before council and complained of a sewer near his home being blocked. Commissioner Cook was instructed to have the sewer cleaned.

Mrs. Thelma Stakem was issued a permit to build a room on her property on Paradise Street. Approximate cost is $1,000.

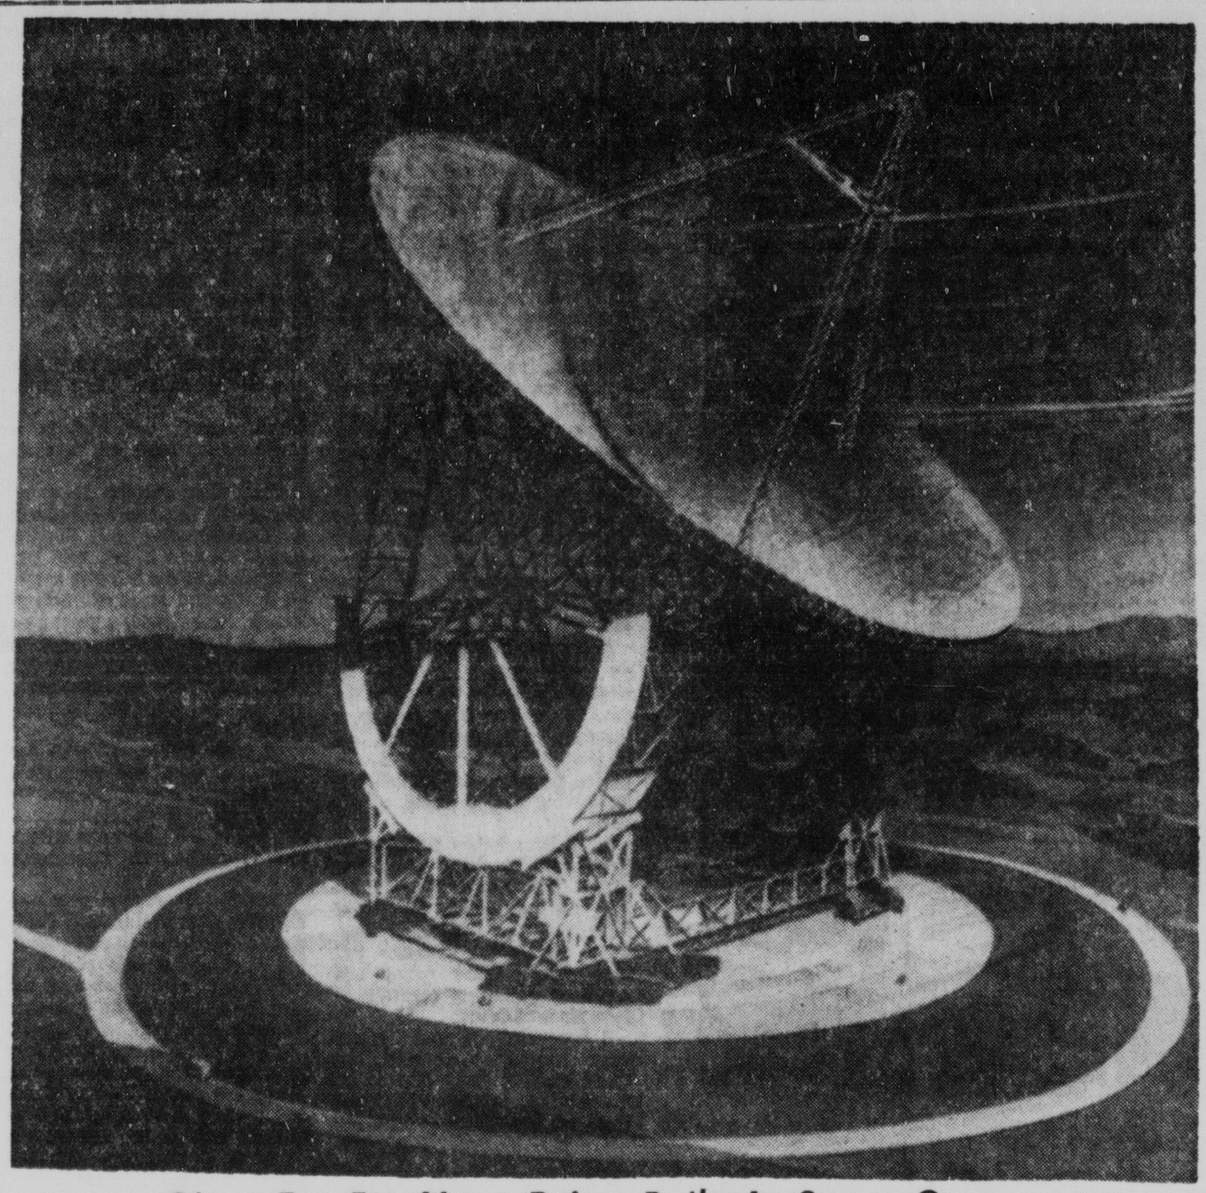

Council ordered the floor, furniture and woodwork painted in the council chambers. Visitors included Rev. Clarence McCloud of Grace Methodist Church, who opened the council meeting with prayer; Mrs. Alex Rennie, representing Laetta Council Degree of Pocahontas, and Mrs. Harry Youngblood representing the Ladies Auxiliary of the Midland Fire Company. Both promised council full cooperation of their respective organizations, on the community playground project.

Commissioner Rennie reported that the number of children using playground facilities on the new playground have increased so rapidly that it is imperative that more baskets should be erected in the near future and more black top laid.

Commissioner Cook reported that new signs had been placed near the City Dump instructing citizens where to dump their garbage. Cook stated that some citizens are still abusing the city dump privileges.

Miss Hazel Taylor, tax collector, reported collections of over $1,000 for property tax for the first two weeks in September. A 5 per cent discount will be allowed on all taxes paid in September.

Giant Ear For Navy Being Built At Sugar Grove

This is an artist's conception of the radio telescope—billed by the Navy as the world's largest—which is being erected near Sugar Grove in the nearby West Virginia mountains. The Defense Department released this drawing of the $79,000,000 unit September 22. The instrument's reflector dish will have a diameter of 600 feet and the entire structure will rotate on rollers riding a circular track on the ground. The project is scheduled for completion in 1962. Navy scientists will use the telescope to listen to radio signals emitted by astral bodies. (U.S. Navy Photo via AP Photofax)

Piedmont Swim Pool Operated At A Profit

Report Indicates Record Season

PIEDMONT—The best season for a number of years was enjoyed at the Piedmont Swimming Pool according to reports at the meeting of the Town Council Monday evening, with Joseph Maybury, finance councilman, presiding.

Over 14,885 persons used the pool and a net profit of $1,171 was realized according to Ormond Ledlow, city clerk. Concessions amounting to $2,056.65 were sold with a thirty-four per cent profit on them. The cost of the concessions was $1,526.90 and the net profit on them was $529.75.

In addition to the profit a soda ash machine costing $395 was purchased besides some other expenses.

The work of cleaning debris from 27,000 feet of the water service lines has been completed by the National Pipe Cleaning Company of Pittsburgh, Commissioner Maybury reported.

The work was begun at the Piedmont Dam near Savage River Dam about August 4 and was continued to the filtration plant on Piedmont Hill.

The contract for the job was $4,125 but there will be some additional costs for valves and other materials to complete the work, he said.

Colgon a cleaning chemical will be put into the pipe line which will form a coating to help keep the water in the pipe line flowing properly.

Since the town purchased a speed clocking device about two months ago they have collected about $700 in fines from motorists for violations.

Rev. Rex Coffman, pastor of the Piedmont Pentecostal Holiness Church asked that a red line be placed in front of his driveway and the church on Second Street. His request was granted.

Receipts from the parking meters for the past two weeks amounted to $262.50.

It was announced that a $500 E bond had been purchased making the amount from the sale of the former city building now $15,000.

Proposed Constitutional Change Would Give W.Va Governor Another Term

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A subcommittee of the Commission on Constitutional Revision is giving serious thought to strengthening the position of West Virginia's governor by permitting him to run for a second term and letting him make more appointments.

Henry W. Miller Jr. of Paw Paw, Morgan County, heads the nine-member subcommittee which was designated to study the State's executive department.

The subcommittee can only recommend constitutional revision to the big commission. The commission, if it agrees to endorse the recommendations, would then have to draw up resolutions to put through the legislative process. The Legislature would place the revision proposal before the voting public.

There has been consideration of authorizing the governor to succeed himself, at least for one term. That would give the chief executive eight years in which to carry out whatever program he proposes. Other possible revisions might be:

1. Election of only a governor, an auditor and attorney general, instead of the present six elected officials that serve on the board of public works along with an appointed superintendent of schools.

2. Give the governor authority to draw up a budget for the executive department and present it to the legislature. The Board of Public Works, with the governor having one vote, now decides what budget will be submitted to the Legislature.

Another important consideration reportedly before the subcommittee would strengthen the governor's position on proposed legislation. His veto now can be overridden by a simple majority of the State Senate and House of Delegates.

There is a proposal to require two-thirds of both House to override his veto, as is required by Congress.

Scout Troop 50 Honors Parents

Mt. Savage Boys Plan Camporee

MT. SAVAGE — Local Scout Troop No. 50 held a court of honor and parent get-together at the scout camp on Dickel Flats. Stewart Church acted as master of ceremonies.

Second Class Scout cards were presented to Darrell Blank by his father; Stanley Hook by his mother; Bobby Frankenberry by his mother, and George Shaffer by his mother.

First Class Scout cards were presented to Bobby Cassidy by his mother and to Joseph Neder by his mother. Bobby and Joe are the only boys in Troop 50 to become First Class Scouts since 1953. Joseph Malloy, troop committee member and Ellsworth Riggleman, scoutmaster, assisted Stewart Church in the ceremonies. David Hotchkiss received a patrol leader badge. Buddy Wade, assistant scoutmaster, spoke briefly to the parents.

A discussion of future activities for the troop was held. A trip to Andrews Air Force Base is under consideration. The camporee to be held on Polish Mountain October 2, 3, 4, was talked about and also the possibility of whether chicklets will be sold this year. It will be necessary for any scout planning to attend the camporee to bring 20c to the meeting for his camporee badge.

Several prospective scouts attended the affair. They are Dennis Blank, Bobby Kennedy, Ronnie Spataro, John Gracie, and Raymond Blank. A large group of parents and friends of the scouts attended this affair.

Work Starts On Removing 225-Foot Stack At Luke

Scaffolding around the top was erected last week by the crew from the H. R. Heinicke Company of Indianapolis, Ind.

George Stone, 34, foreman, said he is being assisted by Francis Stone, 35, his brother, and Gordon Wormack, 34, all of Cleveland.

The crew will remove the bricks and drop them down the stack. A chute has been built at the bottom, and when a sufficient amount is reached, it is opened to fill a waiting railroad car.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has purchased the brick to be used for fill purposes.

Stone, the foreman, said it will take two months to tear the stack down. The scaffolding will be moved down the stack as the bricks are removed.

The structure has a base 35 feet in diameter and 15 feet at the top.

The three men, who have handled many other jobs such as this, work as a crew. They did report that this is one of the largest brick stacks they have tackled.

The foreman has had 12 years experience in high work, his brother, nine years, and Wormack, seven. All are married.

In addition to working up in the air all the time, George Stone has as his hobby sky diving.

In 1956, George Stone said he attended the International Parachute Olympics in Moscow, and spent seven months in Russia demonstrating sky diving with the American team.

Midland Plans United Nations Day Program

Mayor Issues Proclamation

MIDLAND — At the meeting of Mayor Lionel D. Baker and the city council, Mayor Baker issued a United Nations Day Proclamation for October 24. All civic, fraternal and women's groups are requested to participate. The proclamation was issued in response to Charles P. McCormick, United Nations Day state chairman. Harry Youngblood has been appointed community chairman.

Benjamin Evans of the Lonaconing Water Company spoke on the water situation in this area. Mr. Evans told the council that the water in the reservoir is two feet below the spillway, but the community will still have an ample supply of water, if the citizens continue to repair all leaks, and not waste the water. Mayor Baker requested Mr. Evans to have a water contract drawn up for the town of Midland.

"No Parking" signs will be placed on Paradise Street near Midland Elementary School. County Commissioners have been asked to grade off a parking space near the school in order that cars may be parked off the street. The bailiff, Joseph Monahan, was instructed to stop all cars from stopping or parking in front of the post office. One child has already been injured near the post office. Motorists are asked to park their cars on the parking lot when going to the post office, the mayor said.

Clarence Beeman appeared before council and complained of a sewer near his home being blocked. Commissioner Cook was instructed to have the sewer cleaned.

Mrs. Thelma Stakem was issued a permit to build a room on her property on Paradise Street. Approximate cost is $1,000.

Council ordered the floor, furniture and woodwork painted in the council chambers. Visitors included Rev. Clarence McCloud of Grace Methodist Church, who opened the council meeting with prayer; Mrs. Alex Rennie, representing Laetta Council Degree of Pocahontas, and Mrs. Harry Youngblood representing the Ladies Auxiliary of the Midland Fire Company. Both promised council full cooperation of their respective organizations, on the community playground project.

Commissioner Rennie reported that the number of children using playground facilities on the new playground have increased so rapidly that it is imperative that more baskets should be erected in the near future and more black top laid.

CLEVELAND (UPI) —The Chicago White Sox clinched their first American League pennant in 40 years Tuesday night before 54,293 fans when Al Smith and Jim Rivera smashed home runs in a 4-2 victory over Cleveland that snuffed out the Indians' last mathematical hope.

It was the White Sox' fifth pennant and the second one for Manager Al Lopez, who led the Indians to a title in 1954 and never has finished lower than second during his nine seasons as a pilot in the American League. Lopez left Cleveland to manage the White Sox in 1957. He finished second to the Yankees the past two years.

Led Since July 22

The White Sox, who won their previous pennants in 1901, 1906, 1917 and 1919, took over first place for good this season on July 22. Tuesday night's victory was the White Sox' 15th in 22 meetings with the Indians this year.

Joe Gordon, whose term of managership with the Indians officially ended with Tuesday night's loss, agreed that the turning point of the race came on Aug. 30 when the White Sox swept a four-game series from the Tribe to move 5½ games in front.

The battling Indians shaved Chicago's lead to 3½ games by winning their last three previous games prior to Tuesday night and even Lopez was beginning to grow a bit apprehensive, but the White Sox ended all his worries.

Even so, Lopez had some anxious moments in the ninth when the Indians loaded the bases with one out. But he brought in sinkerball ace Gerry Staley from the bullpen to relieve Bob Shaw and Staley induced Vic Power to hit into a game-ending double play on the first pitch.

Wynn Gets 21st

Rookie Jim Perry was the loser but Smith and Rivera each hit their homers off reliever Jim (Mudcat) Grant. Those two blows made the score 4-1 and the Indians never were able to catch up.

Calhoun And Ellis Clash At Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Rudy Ellis, a hard-hitting middlweight, takes on veteran Rory Calhoun Wednesday night in a 10-round fight in Chicago Stadium.

The bout will be televised nationally over ABC at 9 p.m. EST.

Ellis, 23, is a native Chicagoan who fights out of South Haven, Mich. Ten of his 17 victories have been knockouts. He has two losses.

Calhoun, who will be 25 later this month, is a good body puncher. The middleweight from White Plains, N.Y., likes to wear down his opponents with a steady attack. His record since turning pro in 1954 is 29-7-2.

Art Ditmar Wins For Yankees, 8-4

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Art Ditmar allowed only six hits in pitching the New York Yankees to an 8-4 victory over the Washington Senators Friday night in a loosely-played game that produced eight errors, five by the Senators.

It was Ditmar's 13th victory of the season, a career high for the tall right-hander.

Four of the New York runs were unearned and two were tainted on the Washington side. Pedros Ramos started for the Senators and was knocked out in the fifth.

Ditmar, who has won five of his last six, previously had won 12 games twice when he was with Kansas City.

Mickey Mantle of the Yankees left the game after the first inning when he was bruised on his right foot by a foul tip. His injury was said to be trivial but he was benched as a precautionary measure.

Red Sox Defeat Baltimore, 4-3

BOSTON (UPI)—Second baseman Pete Runnels made a diving stop of Jerry Adair's bases-loaded drive in the eighth inning Tuesday night to preserve a 4-3 Boston Red Sox win over the Baltimore Orioles.

Runnels tallied the winning run, tripling in the seventh, and scoring on Dick Gernert's single. Three singles and a walk by reliever Nelson Chittum filled the bases for Baltimore in the eighth, a double play erasing one runner, when Adair slashed a scorching grounder towards second base.

Runnels snagged it as he sprawled on the ground and was able to throw out the Baltimore rookie.

Frank Sullivan won his ninth game against 11 defeats, working the first seven innings. Skinny Brown, who relieved starter Hoyt Wilhelm in the seventh, was the loser. He is now 10-9.

Set Olympic Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday designated the week of Oct. 17 as National Olympic Week.

He did so in a proclamation shortly after signing a bill passed by Congress requesting official observance of the week.

In the proclamation, Eisenhower noted that the Olympic Games will be held in Rome next summer, and that the winter games are scheduled for Squaw Valley, Calif., next February.

Cincinnati Drops Pair To Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies closed their home season with a sweep over Cincinnati Tuesday night, beating the Reds, 3-1, behind Jim Owens in the first game of a twi-night double-header and then taking the second, 3-2, with a two-run seventh-inning rally.

Robinson gave up only three hits, but one was Vada Pinson's 20th homer behind Johnny Temple's fourth - inning triple which put the Reds out in front, 2-0. The Phils got one back in the fifth on doubles by Robinson and Solly Drake, and won it in the seventh when George Anderson tripled and Richie Ashburn got a pinch walk. Anderson scored on a fielder's choice and Ed Bouchee singled in Ashburn with the winning run.

In the opener, Owens drove in the Phils' first run with a single off loser Orlando Pena. Wally Post drove in the second with a sacrifice fly and George Anderson scored on a wild pitch for the third.

Owens, winning his 12th, had a three-hit shutout going until the ninth when Temple doubled and then scored on a sacrifice fly.

Governor Tawes Promises Probe Of Race Switch

A letter from Governor J. Millard Tawes promising a thorough investigation into the State Racing Commission's action in switching the 12-day Cumberland race meet to Hagerstown was read at yesterday's meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

The county commissioners had submitted a letter of protest to Governor Tawes shortly after the Racing Commission's action of September 11.

"I am having this matter thoroughly investigated, however, the information already received indicates that the problem of securing horses for the racing meet was the sole reason for the decision to transfer to Hagerstown," Governor Tawes wrote.

"When the full report has been submitted to me, I shall be pleased to contact you again," he concluded.

Nugent Praises Tom Gunderman

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Tom Gunderman, Maryland's left guard, came as close as possible to playing a perfect game against West Virginia last Saturday as he has seen, Coach Tom Nugent said Tuesday.

Nugent, head coach for 10 years at Virginia Military and Florida State before coming to Maryland this year, said, "If there ever was a perfect game, Gunderman played it."

He said a check of the game movies showed Gunderman, 205-pound senior from Franklin, N.J., made 13 tackles and assisted on 7.

Relief Specialist McMahon Survives Shaky 9th Inning

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Relief specialist Don McMahon, working for the second time in 24 hours, survived a shaky ninth inning Tuesday night to preserve a 5-3 victory for the pennant - chasing Milwaukee Braves over the stubborn Pittsburgh Pirates.

McMahon, a big righthander whose stock in trade is overpowering the batter, was called in from the bullpen by Manager Fred Haney with runners on first and second and none out. Until that point, southpaw Juan Pizarro was breezing along on a five-hitter and a four-run cushion. But the 22-year-old Puerto Rican issued his first walk to lead off batter Bob Skinner in the ninth and then headed for the showers when Dick Groat delivered a single over second base. That left it up to McMahon who had saved Warren Spahn's 20th victory Monday night.

The Braves No. 1 reliever threw only one pitch to Roberto Clemente and got him on a pop fly to short left. He then fanned slugger Dick Stuart before giving up a single to Smoky Burgess that scored a run.

Bucs Go Down Fighting

But McMahon then appeared as though he had lost his magic touch when Don Hoak followed with a run-producing single to bring the battling Pirates to within two runs of a tie. Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh, eyeing one of Pittsburgh's patented ninth-inning victories, sent left - handed hitting Rocky Nelson to the plate as a pinchhitter.

McMahon ran the count to 1-1 on the batter before getting the swinger to hit into a game-ending groundout, second to first.

The victory assured the Braves of at least remaining in a first place tie with the Los Angeles Dodgers, who played in St. Louis Tuesday night.

Until running into trouble in the ninth inning, Pizarro looked like money in the bank as he held the Pirates in check with the exception of the fifth inning when they cracked out three singles for the first run.

Crandall Belts 21st

Milwaukee jumped on loser Harvey Haddix for a quick run in the first inning on a triple by Bobby Avila and Hank Aaron's sacrifice fly. The Braves made it 2-0 in the fifth when Del Crandall stepped into a change-up and sailed the ball over the left center field wall at the 406-foot mark for his 21st homer of the season.

After Pittsburgh picked up its run in the fifth, the Braves struck for three big tallies in the seventh that eventually proved to be the margin of victory. In that frame, veteran Andy Pafko led off with a triple but held third when rookie John DeMerit was credited with a single on his chop to the left of the plate. It appeared Haddix would escape being scored upon when Dick Groat knocked down a vicious liner at shortstop and turned it into a double play.

However, when Murtaugh ordered an intentional walk for the light-hitting Felix Mantilla the strategy backfired. Pizarro, who had only four hits previously, dropped a bloop double just inside the left field foul line to score two runs. The Milwaukee pitcher scored the third run of the inning on Avila's single.

Redskins Release Two, Torgeson Is Assistant Coach

WASHINGTON (AP) — Linebacker La Vern Torgeson, tackle Jim Weatherall and halfback Bert Zagers were dropped from the roster Tuesday as the Washington Redskins trimmed to the 36-player limit.

Torgeson, former Washington State defensive star, was immediately hired as an assistant coach for his ninth season of pro football.

The club said Weatherall, ex-Oklahoma All America, wired from his home in Cushing, Okla., that he had decided to retire for business reasons. Weatherall provides mud filling for oil drill operations.

Zagers, from Michigan State, dislocated a shoulder in a skiing spill. He was placed on the Redskins' reserve list.

San Francisco's $45,000 Tourney Opens Thursday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Professional golf on a major scale returns to San Francisco this week with the $45,000 Golden Gate championship opening Thursday.

Not since the Western Open of 1956 have the nation's top pros competed here. Sponsors hope this Golden Gate event, as part of the Pacific Festival, will become an annual affair.

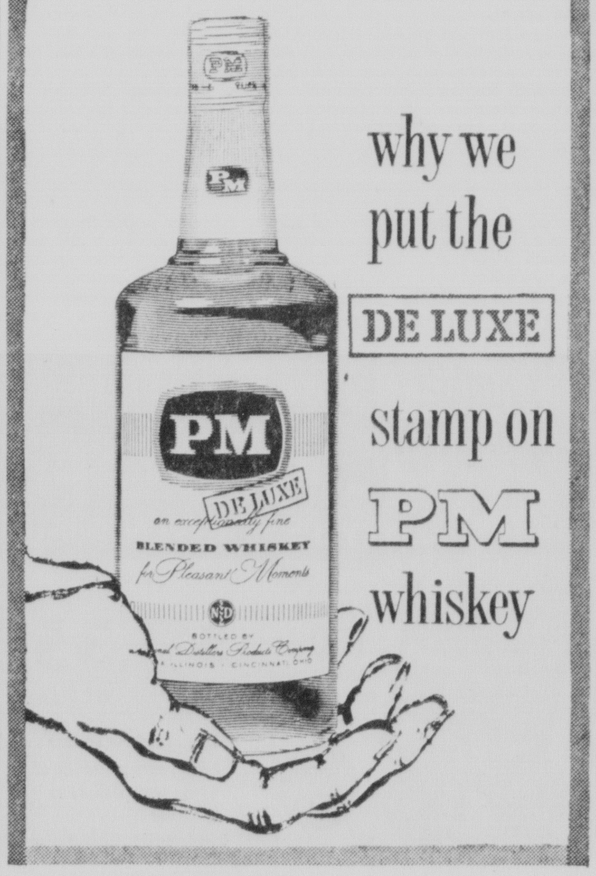

San Francisco's Ken Venturi and PGA champion Bob Rosburg of nearby Palo Alto are the most familiar with the 6,628-yard layout at Harding Park with its par 35-36-71. But even for them there are a couple of new difficulties.

The entry list totaled 145 with no qualifying round. Action gets under way Wednesday with an 18-hole pro-ameteur preliminary. The four 18-hole rounds of tournament play starts Thursday with the windup on Sunday.

White Sox Capture Pennant; Braves Win, Dodgers Lose

CLEVELAND (UPI) —The Chicago White Sox clinched their first American League pennant in 40 years Tuesday night before 54,293 fans when Al Smith and Jim Rivera smashed home runs in a 4-2 victory over Cleveland that snuffed out the Indians' last mathematical hope.

It was the White Sox' fifth pennant and the second one for Manager Al Lopez, who led the Indians to a title in 1954 and never has finished lower than second during his nine seasons as a pilot in the American League. Lopez left Cleveland to manage the White Sox in 1957. He finished second to the Yankees the past two years.

Led Since July 22

The White Sox, who won their previous pennants in 1901, 1906, 1917 and 1919, took over first place for good this season on July 22. Tuesday night's victory was the White Sox' 15th in 22 meetings with the Indians this year.

Joe Gordon, whose term of managership with the Indians officially ended with Tuesday night's loss, agreed that the turning point of the race came on Aug. 30 when the White Sox swept a four-game series from the Tribe to move 5½ games in front.

The battling Indians shaved Chicago's lead to 3½ games by winning their last three previous games prior to Tuesday night and even Lopez was beginning to grow a bit apprehensive, but the White Sox ended all his worries.

Even so, Lopez had some anxious moments in the ninth when the Indians loaded the bases with one out. But he brought in sinkerball ace Gerry Staley from the bullpen to relieve Bob Shaw and Staley induced Vic Power to hit into a game-ending double play on the first pitch.

Wynn Gets 21st

Rookie Jim Perry was the loser but Smith and Rivera each hit their homers off reliever Jim (Mudcat) Grant. Those two blows made the score 4-1 and the Indians never were able to catch up.

Calhoun And Ellis Clash At Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Rudy Ellis, a hard-hitting middlweight, takes on veteran Rory Calhoun Wednesday night in a 10-round fight in Chicago Stadium.

The bout will be televised nationally over ABC at 9 p.m. EST.

Ellis, 23, is a native Chicagoan who fights out of South Haven, Mich. Ten of his 17 victories have been knockouts. He has two losses.

Calhoun, who will be 25 later this month, is a good body puncher. The middleweight from White Plains, N.Y., likes to wear down his opponents with a steady attack. His record since turning pro in 1954 is 29-7-2.

Art Ditmar Wins For Yankees, 8-4

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Art Ditmar allowed only six hits in pitching the New York Yankees to an 8-4 victory over the Washington Senators Friday night in a loosely-played game that produced eight errors, five by the Senators.

It was Ditmar's 13th victory of the season, a career high for the tall right-hander.

Four of the New York runs were unearned and two were tainted on the Washington side. Pedros Ramos started for the Senators and was knocked out in the fifth.

Ditmar, who has won five of his last six, previously had won 12 games twice when he was with Kansas City.

Mickey Mantle of the Yankees left the game after the first inning when he was bruised on his right foot by a foul tip. His injury was said to be trivial but he was benched as a precautionary measure.

Red Sox Defeat Baltimore, 4-3

BOSTON (UPI)—Second baseman Pete Runnels made a diving stop of Jerry Adair's bases-loaded drive in the eighth inning Tuesday night to preserve a 4-3 Boston Red Sox win over the Baltimore Orioles.

Runnels tallied the winning run, tripling in the seventh, and scoring on Dick Gernert's single. Three singles and a walk by reliever Nelson Chittum filled the bases for Baltimore in the eighth, a double play erasing one runner, when Adair slashed a scorching grounder towards second base.

Runnels snagged it as he sprawled on the ground and was able to throw out the Baltimore rookie.

Frank Sullivan won his ninth game against 11 defeats, working the first seven innings. Skinny Brown, who relieved starter Hoyt Wilhelm in the seventh, was the loser. He is now 10-9.

Set Olympic Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Tuesday designated the week of Oct. 17 as National Olympic Week.

He did so in a proclamation shortly after signing a bill passed by Congress requesting official observance of the week.

In the proclamation, Eisenhower noted that the Olympic Games will be held in Rome next summer, and that the winter games are scheduled for Squaw Valley, Calif., next February.

Cincinnati Drops Pair To Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies closed their home season with a sweep over Cincinnati Tuesday night, beating the Reds, 3-1, behind Jim Owens in the first game of a twi-night double-header and then taking the second, 3-2, with a two-run seventh-inning rally.

Robinson gave up only three hits, but one was Vada Pinson's 20th homer behind Johnny Temple's fourth-inning triple which put the Reds out in front, 2-0. The Phils got one back in the fifth on doubles by Robinson and Solly Drake, and won it in the seventh when George Anderson tripled and Richie Ashburn got a pinch walk. Anderson scored on a fielder's choice and Ed Bouchee singled in Ashburn with the winning run.

In the opener, Owens drove in the Phils' first run with a single off loser Orlando Pena. Wally Post drove in the second with a sacrifice fly and George Anderson scored on a wild pitch for the third.

Owens, winning his 12th, had a three-hit shutout going until the ninth when Temple doubled and then scored on a sacrifice fly.

Governor Tawes Promises Probe Of Race Switch

A letter from Governor J. Millard Tawes promising a thorough investigation into the State Racing Commission's action in switching the 12-day Cumberland race meet to Hagerstown was read at yesterday's meeting of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

The county commissioners had submitted a letter of protest to Governor Tawes shortly after the Racing Commission's action of September 11.

"I am having this matter thoroughly investigated, however, the information already received indicates that the problem of securing horses for the racing meet was the sole reason for the decision to transfer to Hagerstown," Governor Tawes wrote.

"When the full report has been submitted to me, I shall be pleased to contact you again," he concluded.

Nugent Praises Tom Gunderman

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Tom Gunderman, Maryland's left guard, came as close as possible to playing a perfect game against West Virginia last Saturday as he has seen, Coach Tom Nugent said Tuesday.

Nugent, head coach for 10 years at Virginia Military and Florida State before coming to Maryland this year, said, "If there ever was a perfect game, Gunderman played it."

He said a check of the game movies showed Gunderman, 205-pound senior from Franklin, N.J., made 13 tackles and assisted on 7.

Relief Specialist McMahon Survives Shaky 9th Inning

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Relief specialist Don McMahon, working for the second time in 24 hours, survived a shaky ninth inning Tuesday night to preserve a 5-3 victory for the pennant - chasing Milwaukee Braves over the stubborn Pittsburgh Pirates.

McMahon, a big righthander whose stock in trade is overpowering the batter, was called in from the bullpen by Manager Fred Haney with runners on first and second and none out. Until that point, southpaw Juan Pizarro was breezing along on a five-hitter and a four-run cushion. But the 22-year-old Puerto Rican issued his first walk to lead off batter Bob Skinner in the ninth and then headed for the showers when Dick Groat delivered a single over second base. That left it up to McMahon who had saved Warren Spahn's 20th victory Monday night.

The Braves No. 1 reliever threw only one pitch to Roberto Clemente and got him on a pop fly to short left. He then fanned slugger Dick Stuart before giving up a single to Smoky Burgess that scored a run.

Bucs Go Down Fighting

But McMahon then appeared as though he had lost his magic touch when Don Hoak followed with a run-producing single to bring the battling Pirates to within two runs of a tie. Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh, eyeing one of Pittsburgh's patented ninth-inning victories, sent left - handed hitting Rocky Nelson to the plate as a pinchhitter.

McMahon ran the count to 1-1 on the batter before getting the swinger to hit into a game-ending groundout, second to first.

The victory assured the Braves of at least remaining in a first place tie with the Los Angeles Dodgers, who played in St. Louis Tuesday night.

Until running into trouble in the ninth inning, Pizarro looked like money in the bank as he held the Pirates in check with the exception of the fifth inning when they cracked out three singles for the first run.

Crandall Belts 21st

Milwaukee jumped on loser Harvey Haddix for a quick run in the first inning on a triple by Bobby Avila and Hank Aaron's sacrifice fly. The Braves made it 2-0 in the fifth when Del Crandall stepped into a change-up and sailed the ball over the left center field wall at the 406-foot mark for his 21st homer of the season.

After Pittsburgh picked up its run in the fifth, the Braves struck for three big tallies in the seventh that eventually proved to be the margin of victory. In that frame, veteran Andy Pafko led off with a triple but held third when rookie John DeMerit was credited with a single on his chop to the left of the plate. It appeared Haddix would escape being scored upon when Dick Groat knocked down a vicious liner at shortstop and turned it into a double play.

However, when Murtaugh ordered an intentional walk for the light-hitting Felix Mantilla the strategy backfired. Pizarro, who had only four hits previously, dropped a bloop double just inside the left field foul line to score two runs. The Milwaukee pitcher scored the third run of the inning on Avila's single.

Redskins Release Two, Torgeson Is Assistant Coach

WASHINGTON (AP) — Linebacker La Vern Torgeson, tackle Jim Weatherall and halfback Bert Zagers were dropped from the roster Tuesday as the Washington Redskins trimmed to the 36-player limit.

Torgeson, former Washington State defensive star, was immediately hired as an assistant coach for his ninth season of pro football.

The club said Weatherall, ex-Oklahoma All America, wired from his home in Cushing, Okla., that he had decided to retire for business reasons. Weatherall provides mud filling for oil drill operations.

Zagers, from Michigan State, dislocated a shoulder in a skiing spill. He was placed on the Redskins' reserve list.

San Francisco's $45,000 Tourney Opens Thursday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Professional golf on a major scale returns to San Francisco this week with the $45,000 Golden Gate championship opening Thursday.

Not since the Western Open of 1956 have the nation's top pros competed here. Sponsors hope this Golden Gate event, as part of the Pacific Festival, will become an annual affair.

San Francisco's Ken Venturi and PGA champion Bob Rosburg of nearby Palo Alto are the most familiar with the 6,628-yard layout at Harding Park with its par 35-36-71. But even for them there are a couple of new difficulties.

The entry list totaled 145 with no qualifying round. Action gets under way Wednesday with an 18-hole pro-ameteur preliminary. The four 18-hole rounds of tournament play starts Thursday with the windup on Sunday.

Cubs' Rookie Beats Giants With Homer In Ninth, 5-4

Altman's Belt Dims Frisco's Flag Hopes

By ED SAINSBURY

CHICAGO (UPI) — Rookie George Altman homered with two outs in the ninth inning and Alvin Dark on base Tuesday to give the Chicago Cubs a 5-4 victory over the San Francisco Giants and dim the Giants' hope for the National League pennant.

The defeat was the 11th loss for the Giants in 21 games with the Cubs.

Altman's game-winning homer came off the Giants' leading pitcher, Sam Jones, who worked in only the eighth and ninth innings, and wiped out a one-run advantage attained by San Francisco in the eighth inning. Altman hit Jones' second pitch into the right field bleachers after taking a called strike on the first throw.

Dark, who tripled and was stranded on third base earlier in the game, opened the inning with a two-base hit and remained there while both Earl Averill and Tony Taylor flied out.

Teams Show Pressure

Both the Giants and Cubs showed signs of pennant pressure, fielding sloppily, though there were only two errors. Manager Bill Rigney pulled out every trick to keep the Giants in contention, using 18 players including three pitchers. He put Jones into the game in an obvious effort to preserve the one-run lead they earned in the eighth.

Doubles by Willie McCovey and Willie Kirkland highlighted the Giants' rally in the eighth. McCovey, a rookie called up in midseason, got a ground-rule two-base hit when his blow to right center stuck in the vines to open the inning. He advanced on Orlando Cepeda's pop fly to Tony Taylor on the right field line before Daryl Spencer drew a walk.

Pinch hitter Leon Wagner's grounder went through first baseman Dale Long's legs for an error while McCovey scored. Then Kirkland, batting for Jose Pagan, doubled to the right field corner to score Spencer.

Jim Marshall's first - inning homer with Tony Taylor on base gave the Cubs a two-run advantage. The Giants tied the game with a single run in the second, on a walk to Spencer and singles by Hobie Landrith and Jim Davenport, and another in the third on singles by Willie Mays and McCovey, an outfield fly and an infield out.

Elston Wins Ninth

The Cubs went ahead again in the fifth when Altman singled, advanced on an error and scored on Ernie Banks' single which gave Banks 139 runs batted in.

But starting pitcher Dave Hillman, trying for the eighth win, couldn't hold back San Francisco. He was replaced by Don Elston after Wagner's line shot in the eighth, and Elston, setting the Giants down in order in the ninth, took his ninth win of the season.

Jack Sanford started for the Giants and was replaced by Mike McCormick after five innings. Jones, who has won 20 games, was charged with his 15th defeat.

Davenport injured his knee in the fifth, diving after Banks' hit and was replaced by Pagan and the Cubs had to lift Walt Moryn at the same time because he banged his hip on the outfield wall while attempting to catch a ball hit by Spencer.

Forty Niners Lose Services Of Pace

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Forty Niner chances for a good football season suffered a severe blow Tuesday when it was announced that halfback Jim Pace is out for the season.

The Forty Niners said Pace had been put on the injured reserve list, cutting the squad to the player limit of 36.

The former University of Michigan halfback ace had been slated for a regular offensive job with the club this year.

Cadets Get Opener Buskey Info Sought

By C. V. BURNS

WITH the National Football League set to open its 40th season Saturday and Sunday, the 1959 Pro Football Handbook, edited by Don Schiffer, has made its appearance and contains 150 pages of interesting information, illustrated with 16 pages of action photographs.

It is published by Pocket Books, Inc.

Do you know that:

Ernie Nevers of the Chicago Cards scored the most points in a N.F.L. game (40) against the Chicago Bears in 1929. In the same game he scored six touchdowns, another record.

Jimmie Brown of Cleveland gained 237 yards rushing against Los Angeles in one game in 1957 and he hung up another mark last year when he gained 1,527 yards on the ground in one season.

In 1943, Sid Luckman of the Bears, threw seven touchdown passes against the Giants and Adrian Burk of the Eagles equalled this one game performance against the Redskins in 1954.

And how about this record. Norman Van Brocklin of Los Angeles gained 554 yards on passes against the New York Yanks in one game in 1951.

Longest punt on record is 94 yards and was kicked by Pete Henry of Canton back in 1923 against Akron.

In 1953, a total of 94 passes were attempted in one game —50 by the Bears and 44 by San Francisco. Fifty - five were completed — 30 by Chicago and 25 by the Forty Niners.

Longest completed pass on record is 99 yards—Frank Filchock to Andy Farkas of Washington against the Steelers in 1939.

In 1954, two teams reeled off 58 first downs in one game — Los Angeles 30 and the Chicago Bears 28.

THE RECENT DEATH of Frank Molinari brought back memories of the days when he sponsored baseball and bowling teams here.

In the early 1920s Frank headed the North Cumberland Pirates in the City Baseball League. The Y.M.I., Liberty A.C., B.&O. Y.M.C.A. and Western Maryland Railway teams were in that circuit and twilight games were played at South End Park and the Rolling Mill Diamond. Charles "Lefty" Jordan was the Pirates' pitching ace.

When Molinari operated the South End Bowling Alleys on Virginia Avenue he sponsored the first uniformed team in Cumberland. His teams were sparked by the Campbell Brothers—Clifton, who was known as "Mossie," Marvin, better known as "Granny" and Johnny and last but not least, Ben Trail.

COACH Homer Brooks' Frederick High School Cadets will have the honor of playing Allegany High School in the first game in the Campers' new gymnasium on Friday, December 11, according to Coach Chester G. Payne.

Brooks, incidentally, is a product of Allegany High, and starred in basketball at Potomac State and West Virginia U. before he started on his coaching career.

The Campers' first three games of the 1959-60 cage season will be with C.V.A.L. foes.

North Hagerstown will be met in the Hub City, December 9, Frederick will be played here two days later and the Cadets will host the Paynemen Friday, Dec. 18.

HANDLEY HIGH'S Judges, Fort Hill's opponet Oct. 10 at Winchester, Va., dropped their opening game to Fairfax, Va., 10-0.

And Altoona Catholic High, scheduled to play LaSalle here November 13, has won its first two games. Latest victim is West Branch Joint High of Philipsburg, Pa., 12-0.

AL DELUCA, who has appeared here as guest speaker at LaSalle High and Dapper Dan Club dinners, is beginning his 12th year as head coach at St. Vincent College, Latrobe, Pa. He starts the season with a 48-32-7 overall record.

When he arrived here last week from Stamford, Conn., for the races he was shocked when he learned they were transferred to Hagerstown.

Then he headed for his favorite hotel but when he reached the corner of Baltimore and George Streets he found that the Windsor had disappeared.

MRS. CONSTANCE CREACH of Annapolis writes and wants to know if it is possible for her to purchase newspapers relating to the career of Joseph H. Buskey.

Mrs. Creach is a daughter of the one-time Cumberland shortstop, who was up briefly with the Phillies and also had a trial with the St. Louis Cardinals when Branch Rickey was boss there.

Information about Buskey's career is sought for his grandchildren.

IF you are concerned as to what happened in the final game of the series between Barton and Moorefield last Sunday the information came through by telephone—not carrier pigeon—last night. Moorefield won the game, 5-3, and swept the two-game series.

Excuse for late report. Scorebook was lost.

The 1960 Women's International Bowling Congress championship tournament will be held on the 48-lane Belleview alleys in Denver beginning April 21.

Detroit Beats Athletics, 6-4

Harvey Kuenn Hits Three-Run Homer

DETROIT (UPI) — Harvey Kuenn smashed a three-run homer Tuesday to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 6-4 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

The victory was the eighth in a row for the Tigers over the Athletics.

Jim Bunning, who started for the Tigers, extended his league-leading strikeout total to 201 by striking out five batters in the 5 1-3 innings he pitched. Bunning was credited with his 17th victory against 13 defeats although he retired with a sore back in the sixth.

Kuenn belted his ninth homer of the season in the third inning following Gail Harris' walk and Bunning's single.

Giants Defeat Is Blamed On Stolen Sign

Dark Is Accused, Cubs Laugh It Off

By GENE BLUDEAU

CHICAGO (UPI)—A stolen sign, a pitching pause and a rookie's long home run may have ended the San Francisco Giants' hopes for a National League pennant Tuesday.

Al Dark, Chicago Cubs third baseman who opened the ninth inning with a last-chance double, was the sign stealer, Giants manager Bill Rigney charged bitterly.

Sam Jones, Rigney's pitching choice to wrap up a one-run victory for the Giants, hestiated on the mound after he had one strike on George Altman. When Jones finally unlimbered, the big rookie hit a high, fast pitch into the right field bleachers to score Dark ahead of him and turn the game into a 5-4 victory for the Cubs.

Dark would not plead guilty to Rigney's charges.

"I have no comment," he said. "I won't say that I did and I won't say that I didn't."

"I don't know if Dark stole the signal or if he didn't," manager Bob Scheffing said. "But it's been going on for years and there's nothing illegal about it."

Coach Freddie Fitzsimmons also scoffed at the charge saying, "So what?"

"Dark caught the signal from Jim Hegan and gave it to Altman and boom, there went the ball game," Rigney said.

Rigney kept newsmen waiting 17 minutes at the dressing room door. He was dejected. There were tears in the eyes of several Giant players.

"Well, here comes the burying crew," Rigney said when newsmen were admitted.

"If you want to know how I feel, I feel rotten," he said. "We'll just have to win the rest of them."

Mrs. Beneman Wins CCC Golf Tourney

Mrs. Milton Beneman won the Most Fours Tournament held yesterday by the Women's Golf Association at the Cumberland Country Club. Mrs. Beneman had eleven fours.

Twenty-five members participated in the event.

Ryder Cup Team Picked By British

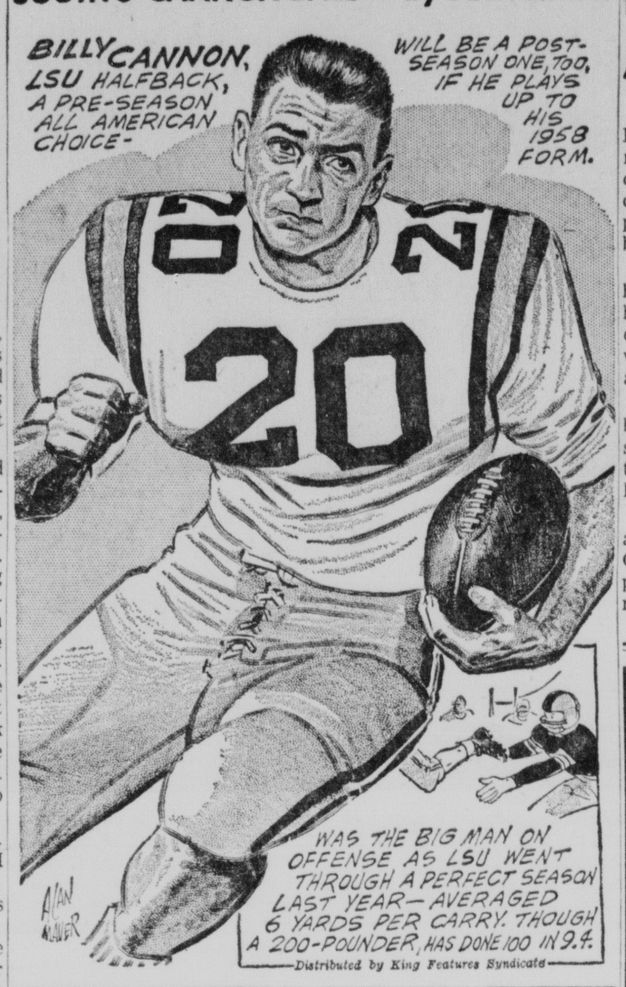

LONDON (AP) — Two veterans and a newcomer were named Tuesday to complete Britain's Ryder Cup golf team that will defend the trophy against United States professionals at Palm Desert, Calif., Nov. 6-7. They are Ken Bousfield, 38, Eric Brown, 34, and Dave Thomas, 25. Bousfield has been in the Ryder Cup squad four times since 1949. Brown is unbeaten in three Ryder Cup matches. Thomas never has played in the Ryder Cup before.

Cancel Tourney

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament, a $35,000 feature of the professional circuit for five years, will not be held in 1960, the sponsoring Miller Brewing Co. announced Tuesday.

Miller President Norman R. Klug said that the tournaments were undertaken on a five-year basis in 1955 as part of the company's centennial celebration.

Five Boxing World Figures Are Rounded Up By The FBI

Group Conspired To Extort Money From Don Jordan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five boxing world figures were rounded up by the FBI late Tuesday on charges of attempting to muscle in on the earnings of world welterweight champion Don Jordan.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers said a federal grand jury in Los Angeles earlier in the day indicted the five on charges of conspiring to extort money from Jordan's manager, Donald Paul Nesseth of Covina, Calif., and from Leonard Blakely, also known as Jackie Leonard, a Los Angeles fight promoter.

The indictment said the extortion plan involved threats of physical harm and violence to Nesseth and Blakely, delivered over interstate telephone lines.

Those arrested were:

Paul John Carbo, also known as Frankie Carbo, 55, of New York City, and currently under indictment there for undercover management of boxers.

Truman Gibson Jr., 47, Negro attorney of Chicago, who is president of National Boxing Enterprises Inc., and who was once a director of the International Boxing Club operating Madison Square Garden in New York.

Joseph Sica, 48, Los Angeles sports promoter, described as having a long record of arrests.

Louis Tom Dragna, 39, West Covina, Calif., clothing store owner, described as having been connected with bookmaking operations in the area.

Gibson, a top assistant in the War Department in 1940-43, received the Medal of Merit for his services from Secretary of War Stimson in 1945.

The FBI started the roundup of the five defendants late in the day, arresting Sica and Dragna in Los Angeles, Palermo in Philadelphia, Carbo in a Baltimore hospital where he was under treatment, and made the final arrest, of Gibson, in Chicago at 8:31 p. m., EST.

The FBI said each of the men will be arraigned as soon as possible.

The indictment contains 10 counts under the Anti-Racketeering Act and the federal extortion statutes. These laws provide penalties up to 20 years' imprisonment and $10,000 for each offense.

The indictment, kept secret pending the arrests, alleged Palermo actually extorted $1,725 from Blakely through use of threats of violence against him and Nesseth.

Nabbed At Hospital

Carbo was arrested at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, where he had checked in Monday night. A hospital spokesman said he had been referred by a Florida physician for "study and management of a chronic medical condition."

Hospital officials said Carbo had registered as John Carbo of Hollywood, Fla. He remained in the hospital under FBI guard after his arrest shortly before 10 p. m.

Stilt Owns A Horse

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, the 7-foot-2 basketball star who will be playing for the Philadelphia Warriors this winter, is registered as a horse owner. Spooky Cadet will carry his orange and black colors and will be trained by Rodney Noel of Baltimore.

Durocher Has Not Signed As Tribe Pilot, Lane Says

CLEVELAND (AP) — Frank Lane, the beleaguered general manager of the Cleveland Indians, said Tuesday Leo Durocher has not been signed to replace Joe Gordon as Tribe field boss.

The Cleveland News said it had learned Durocher told friends he has been retained by the Indians on a $65,000-a-year offer with a three-year contract, plus a capital gains deal in the club.

"Durocher has not been signed by Cleveland. I ought to know," said Lane, who seemed more intent on proving he was right in his feud with Gordon.

The Tribe field manager has a chance to win the pennant if Cleveland can beat the first-place White Sox here Tuesday night.

"We are still considering two men — Durocher and one other," said Lane, who declined to identify the other candidate.

Lane admitted talking to Jimmy Dykes before Dykes was given a new contract as manager of the Detroit Tigers Monday.

While generally vague in response to questions about Durocher, Lane kept waving sheafs of newspaper clippings and letters which, he said, approved him in his criticisms of Gordon. Those criticisms resulted in Gordon announcing he will not be back as Cleveland manager next year.

Pinch hitter Leon Wagner's grounder went through first baseman Dale Long's legs for an error while McCovey scored. Then Kirkland, batting for Jose Pagan, doubled to the right field corner to score Spencer.

Jim Marshall's first - inning homer with Tony Taylor on base gave the Cubs a two-run advantage. The Giants tied the game with a single run in the second, on a walk to Spencer and singles by Hobie Landrith and Jim Davenport, and another in the third on singles by Willie Mays and McCovey, an outfield fly and an infield out.

Elston Wins Ninth

The Cubs went ahead again in the fifth when Altman singled, advanced on an error and scored on Ernie Banks' single which gave Banks 139 runs batted in.

But starting pitcher Dave Hillman, trying for the eighth win, couldn't hold back San Francisco. He was replaced by Don Elston after Wagner's line shot in the eighth, and Elston, setting the Giants down in order in the ninth, took his ninth win of the season.

Jack Sanford started for the Giants and was replaced by Mike McCormick after five innings. Jones, who has won 20 games, was charged with his 15th defeat.

Davenport injured his knee in the fifth, diving after Banks' hit and was replaced by Pagan and the Cubs had to lift Walt Moryn at the same time because he banged his hip on the outfield wall while attempting to catch a ball hit by Spencer.

Forty Niners Lose Services Of Pace

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Forty Niner chances for a good football season suffered a severe blow Tuesday when it was announced that halfback Jim Pace is out for the season.

The Forty Niners said Pace had been put on the injured reserve list, cutting the squad to the player limit of 36.

The former University of Michigan halfback ace had been slated for a regular offensive job with the club this year.

Pro Loop Records Molinari's Teams Cadets Get Opener Buskey Info Sought

By C. V. BURNS

WITH the National Football League set to open its 40th season Saturday and Sunday, the 1959 Pro Football Handbook, edited by Don Schiffer, has made its appearance and contains 150 pages of interesting information, illustrated with 16 pages of action photographs.

It is published by Pocket Books, Inc.

Do you know that:

Ernie Nevers of the Chicago Cards scored the most points in a N.F.L. game (40) against the Chicago Bears in 1929. In the same game he scored six touchdowns, another record.

Jimmie Brown of Cleveland gained 237 yards rushing against Los Angeles in one game in 1957 and he hung up another mark last year when he gained 1,527 yards on the ground in one season.

In 1943, 6id Luckman of the Bears, threw seven touchdown passes against the Giants and Adrian Burk of the Eagles equalled this one game performance against the Redskins in 1954.

And how about this record. Norman Van Brocklin of Los Angeles gained 554 yards on passes against the New York Yanks in one game in 1951.

Longest punt on record is 94 yards and was kicked by Pete Henry of Canton back in 1923 against Akron.

In 1953, a total of 94 passes were attempted in one game —50 by the Bears and 44 by San Francisco. Fifty - five were completed — 30 by Chicago and 25 by the Forty Niners.

Longest completed pass on record is 99 yards—Frank Filchock to Andy Farkas of Washington against the Steelers in 1939.

In 1954, two teams reeled off 58 first downs in one game — Los Angeles 30 and the Chicago Bears 28.

THE RECENT DEATH of Frank Molinari brought back memories of the days when he sponsored baseball and bowling teams here.

In the early 1920s Frank headed the North Cumberland Pirates in the City Baseball League. The Y.M.I., Liberty A.C., B.&O. Y.M.C.A. and Western Maryland Railway teams were in that circuit and twilight games were played at South End Park and the Rolling Mill Diamond. Charles "Lefty" Jordan was the Pirates' pitching ace.

When Molinari operated the South End Bowling Alleys on Virginia Avenue he sponsored the first uniformed team in Cumberland. His teams were sparked by the Campbell Brothers—Clifton, who was known as "Mossie," Marvin, better known as "Granny" and Johnny and last but not least, Ben Trail.

COACH Homer Brooks' Frederick High School Cadets will have the honor of playing Allegany High School in the first game in the Campers' new gymnasium on Friday, December 11, according to Coach Chester G. Payne.

Brooks, incidentally, is a product of Allegany High, and starred in basketball at Potomac State and West Virginia U. before he started on his coaching career.

The Campers' first three games of the 1959-60 cage season will be with C.V.A.L. foes.

North Hagerstown will be met in the Hub City, December 9, Frederick will be played here two days later and the Cadets will host the Paynemen Friday, Dec. 18.

HANDLEY HIGH'S Judges, Fort Hill's opponet Oct. 10 at Winchester, Va., dropped their opening game to Fairfax, Va., 10-0.

And Altoona Catholic High, scheduled to play LaSalle here November 13, has won its first two games. Latest victim is West Branch Joint High of Philipsburg, Pa., 12-0.

AL DELUCA, who has appeared here as guest speaker at LaSalle High and Dapper Dan Club dinners, is beginning his 12th year as head coach at St. Vincent College, Latrobe, Pa. He starts the season with a 48-32-7 overall record.

When he arrived here last week from Stamford, Conn., for the races he was shocked when he learned they were transferred to Hagerstown.

Then he headed for his favorite hotel but when he reached the corner of Baltimore and George Streets he found that the Windsor had disappeared.

MRS. CONSTANCE CREACH of Annapolis writes and wants to know if it is possible for her to purchase newspapers relating to the career of Joseph H. Buskey.

Mrs. Creach is a daughter of the one-time Cumberland shortstop, who was up briefly with the Phillies and also had a trial with the St. Louis Cardinals when Branch Rickey was boss there.

Information about Buskey's career is sought for his grandchildren.

IF you are concerned as to what happened in the final game of the series between Barton and Moorefield last Sunday the information came through by telephone—not carrier pigeon—last night. Moorefield won the game, 5-3, and swept the two-game series.

Excuse for late report. Scorebook was lost.

The 1960 Women's International Bowling Congress championship tournament will be held on the 48-lane Belleview alleys in Denver beginning April 21.

Detroit Beats Athletics, 6-4

Harvey Kuenn Hits Three-Run Homer

DETROIT (UPI) — Harvey Kuenn smashed a three-run homer Tuesday to lead the Detroit Tigers to a 6-4 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

The victory was the eighth in a row for the Tigers over the Athletics.

Jim Bunning, who started for the Tigers, extended his league-leading strikeout total to 201 by striking out five batters in the 5 1-3 innings he pitched. Bunning was credited with his 17th victory against 13 defeats although he retired with a sore back in the sixth.

Kuenn belted his ninth homer of the season in the third inning following Gail Harris' walk and Bunning's single.

Giants Defeat Is Blamed On Stolen Sign

Dark Is Accused, Cubs Laugh It Off

By GENE BLUDEAU

CHICAGO (UPI)—A stolen sign, a pitching pause and a rookie's long home run may have ended the San Francisco Giants' hopes for a National League pennant Tuesday.

Al Dark, Chicago Cubs third baseman who opened the ninth inning with a last-chance double, was the sign stealer, Giants manager Bill Rigney charged bitterly.

Sam Jones, Rigney's pitching choice to wrap up a one-run victory for the Giants, hestiated on the mound after he had one strike on George Altman. When Jones finally unlimbered, the big rookie hit a high, fast pitch into the right field bleachers to score Dark ahead of him and turn the game into a 5-4 victory for the Cubs.

Dark would not plead guilty to Rigney's charges.

"I have no comment," he said. "I won't say that I did and I won't say that I didn't."

"I don't know if Dark stole the signal or if he didn't," manager Bob Scheffing said. "But it's been going on for years and there's nothing illegal about it."

Coach Freddie Fitzsimmons also scoffed at the charge saying, "So what?"

"Dark caught the signal from Jim Hegan and gave it to Altman and boom, there went the ball game," Rigney said.

Rigney kept newsmen waiting 17 minutes at the dressing room door. He was dejected. There were tears in the eyes of several Giant players.

"Well, here comes the burying crew," Rigney said when newsmen were admitted.

"If you want to know how I feel, I feel rotten," he said. "We'll just have to win the rest of them."

Mrs. Beneman Wins CCC Golf Tourney

Mrs. Milton Beneman won the Most Fours Tournament held yesterday by the Women's Golf Association at the Cumberland Country Club. Mrs. Beneman had eleven fours.

Twenty-five members participated in the event.

Ryder Cup Team Picked By British

LONDON (AP) — Two veterans and a newcomer were named Tuesday to complete Britain's Ryder Cup golf team that will defend the trophy against United States professionals at Palm Desert, Calif., Nov. 6-7. They are Ken Bousfield, 38, Eric Brown, 34, and Dave Thomas, 25. Bousfield has been in the Ryder Cup squad four times since 1949. Brown is unbeaten in three Ryder Cup matches. Thomas never has played in the Ryder Cup before.

Cancel Tourney

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Open Golf Tournament, a $35,000 feature of the professional circuit for five years, will not be held in 1960, the sponsoring Miller Brewing Co. announced Tuesday.

Miller President Norman R. Klug said that the tournaments were undertaken on a five-year basis in 1955 as part of the company's centennial celebration.

Five Boxing World Figures Are Rounded Up By The FBI

Group Conspired To Extort Money From Don Jordan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five boxing world figures were rounded up by the FBI late Tuesday on charges of attempting to muscle in on the earnings of world welterweight champion Don Jordan.

Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers said a federal grand jury in Los Angeles earlier in the day indicted the five on charges of conspiring to extort money from Jordan's manager, Donald Paul Nesseth of Covina, Calif., and from Leonard Blakely, also known as Jackie Leonard, a Los Angeles fight promoter.

The indictment said the extortion plan involved threats of physical harm and violence to Nesseth and Blakely, delivered over interstate telephone lines.

Those arrested were:

Paul John Carbo, also known as Frankie Carbo, 55, of New York City, and currently under indictment there for undercover management of boxers.

Truman Gibson Jr., 47, Negro attorney of Chicago, who is president of National Boxing Enterprises Inc., and who was once a director of the International Boxing Club operating Madison Square Garden in New York.

Joseph Sica, 48, Los Angeles sports promoter, described as having a long record of arrests.

Louis Tom Dragna, 39, West Covina, Calif., clothing store owner, described as having been connected with bookmaking operations in the area.

Gibson, a top assistant in the War Department in 1940-43, received the Medal of Merit for his services from Secretary of War Stimson in 1945.

The FBI started the roundup of the five defendants late in the day, arresting Sica and Dragna in Los Angeles, Palermo in Philadelphia, Carbo in a Baltimore hospital where he was under treatment, and made the final arrest, of Gibson, in Chicago at 8:31 p. m., EST.

The FBI said each of the men will be arraigned as soon as possible.

The indictment contains 10 counts under the Anti-Racketeering Act and the federal extortion statutes. These laws provide penalties up to 20 years' imprisonment and $10,000 for each offense.

The indictment, kept secret pending the arrests, alleged Palermo actually extorted $1,725 from Blakely through use of threats of violence against him and Nesseth.

Nabbed At Hospital

Carbo was arrested at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, where he had checked in Monday night. A hospital spokesman said he had been referred by a Florida physician for "study and management of a chronic medical condition."

Hospital officials said Carbo had registered as John Carbo of Hollywood, Fla. He remained in the hospital under FBI guard after his arrest shortly before 10 p. m.

Stilt Owns A Horse

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain, the 7-foot-2 basketball star who will be playing for the Philadelphia Warriors this winter, is registered as a horse owner. Spooky Cadet will carry his orange and black colors and will be trained by Rodney Noel of Baltimore.

Durocher Has Not Signed As Tribe Pilot, Lane Says

CLEVELAND (AP) — Frank Lane, the beleaguered general manager of the Cleveland Indians, said Tuesday Leo Durocher has not been signed to replace Joe Gordon as Tribe field boss.

The Cleveland News said it had learned Durocher told friends he has been retained by the Indians on a $65,000-a-year offer with a three-year contract, plus a capital gains deal in the club.

"Durocher has not been signed by Cleveland. I ought to know," said Lane, who seemed more intent on proving he was right in his feud with Gordon.

The Tribe field manager has a chance to win the pennant if Cleveland can beat the first-place White Sox here Tuesday night.

"We are still considering two men — Durocher and one other," said Lane, who declined to identify the other candidate.

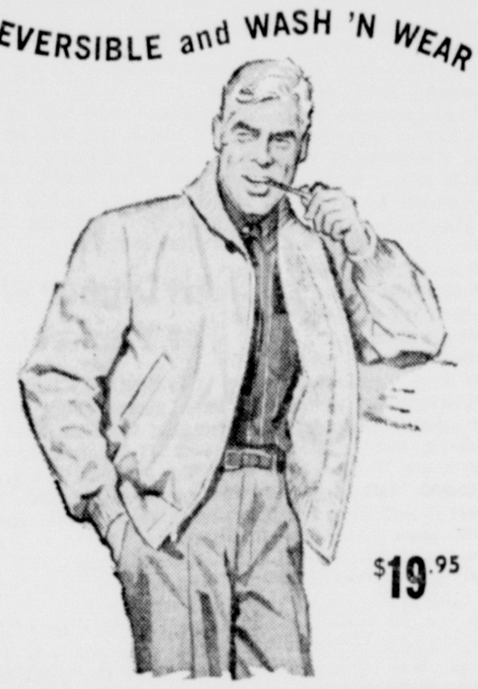

Lane admitted talking to Jimmy Dykes before Dykes was given a new contract as manager of the Detroit Tigers Monday.

While generally vague in response to questions about Durocher, Lane kept waving sheafs of newspaper clippings and letters which, he said, approved him in his criticisms of Gordon. Those criticisms resulted in Gordon announcing he will not be back as Cleveland manager next year.

Maryland Is Underdog In Texas Battle

Army, Navy, SMU, Auburn Choices In Saturday Games

NEW YORK (UPI)—Louisiana State, Oklahoma, Notre Dame, Southern Methodist, Ohio State and Auburn Tuesday were tabbed as the favorites for six of Saturday's key college football games.

Oklahoma, perennial Big Eight champion, was made a 5½ point choice for its intersectional nationally-televised (NBC, 315 p.m. e.d.t.) feature against Northwestern at Evanston, Ill. In another big midwestern intersectional clash, coach Joe Kuharich's Notre Dame team is a 3-point favorite to whip North Carolina in its season opener at South Bend, Ind.

Duke Is Underdog

Duke also carries southern football prestige into the Midwest and is a 10-point underdog against Ohio State. Southern Methodist plays Georgia Tech and is a 6-point choice for the game at Atlanta. Auburn, unbeaten in its last 24 starts, is a 6½ point favorite to open its campaign with a victory over Tennessee at Knoxville, Tenn.

In Friday night's two top games, Southern California is favored over Pittsburgh by 7½ points and Miami is favored over Tulane by 4.

All three service academies are favored in Saturday games. Army is favored over Boston College by 20 points and Navy is a 15½ point choice to down William and Mary. The Air Force Academy is favored over Wyoming by 4 points.

In other eastern games, Dartmouth is favored over Holy Cross by 5 points, Syracuse over Kansas by 12½, Brown over Columbia by 6½, Princeton over Rutgers by 4 and Cornell over Colgate by 7½.

Clemson Gets Nod

Clemson is favored over Virginia by 20½, Mississippi over Kentucky by 7, Georgia over Vanderbilt by 6½, Wake Forest over Virginia Tech by 7, and Florida over Mississippi State by 12 in southern games.

In other midwestern features, Michigan State is favored over Texas A and M by 14, Michigan over Missouri by 7, Wisconsin over Stanford by 19, Minnesota over Nebraska by 10 and Indiana is rated even with Illinois.

In the Southwest, Texas is favored over Maryland by 13½, Arkansas over Oklahoma State by 13½, Texas Tech over Oregon State by 4, and Alabama over Houston by 5. In the Far West, Iowa is favored over California by 10, and Colorado over Baylor by 7.

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI) — The new, wider goal posts in college football, sharply criticized by many noted coaches as no help at all, turned out to be an instant hit.

If the first week's experiment is any indications, some of those college kids will be booting three-pointers almost as efficiently as the professionals before the year is out.

A total of 13 field goals was kicked by major college teams last Saturday in what statisticians say was one of the wildest weekends within memory. And the major powers of the Midwest and East weren't even in action yet!

Three of the 13 were booted by junior end Vince Scott of Maryland against West Virginia, a feat matched by only three others in the modern era.

Scott kicked 'em from the 28, 31 and 38 yard lines, a pretty fair indication the new goal—four feet, 10 inches wider—is going to be a mighty inviting target.

Kick Travels 48 Yards

His longest, from the 38, measured a total of 48 yards to the crossbar, counting the 10 yards the posts are set behind the goal line in college football. That overall distance is only eight yards shy of the all-time pro record set by Bert Rechichar of Baltimore against the Chicago Bears on Sept. 23, 1953.

"There was a lot of confusion in the press box over how to measure Scott's kick," said public relations director Joe Blair of Maryland. "Some writers are instructed to measure the kicks from the yard line where the ball is spotted but this year the NCAA ruling is to measure it from the yard line and to add 10 yards. We recorded it by the NCAA rules as 48 yards for his longest kick."

There are many who believe the field goal in pro football is too cheap and that could happen to the college game.

In the televised Louisiana State-Rice game last Saturday they played it like the pros—disdaining the punt for a field goal try in fourth down situations most anywhere past mid-field. Some of those long shots are bound to hit.

The rulesmakers who voted for wider posts, rather than restoring the posts to the goal line as in the professional game, looked for an increase in field goal kicking but it's doubtful if they believed the new posts would throw the game out of kilter.

Conversion Kick Popular

Wholesale assaults later this season could do just that.

The original idea was to make the three-pointer just cheap enough to cancel out some of those controversial two - point conversions. A kicked conversion is worth one point, a convrsion by run or pass is worth two.

Last weekend, the kick for one point still was the most potent conversion method that, too, made easier by the wider goals. There were 46 conversion kicks in the major games surveyed and 23 kicked conversion attempts missed.

The forward pass is the favored two-point method. Twenty - one conversions were made passing, 18 failed.

Running is the toughest way to make those two points and therefore it is attempted only rarely. Only three two pointers were achieved by running while 12 other running attempts failed.

But the field goal is likely to be the big news this season, even surpassing the swing to two-unit and three-unit substituting.

Baltimore Trades Hanson Churchwell

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts Tuesday traded rookie guard Hanson Churchwell to the Washington Redskins and placed linebacker Tommy Addison on waivers to reduce the squad to the required 36 players.

Churchwell, a former Mississippi player, was the 5th draft choice this year of the National Football League champions. He was sent to the Redskins in exchange for an undisclosed draft choice at the end of the 1959 season.

Addison was in Baltimore's training camp last year before he went back to South Carolina to complete his studies and to help coach the Gamecock team. He was Baltimore's 12th draft choice in 1958.

McCovey Named Hickok Winner

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie Williem McCovey, whose red hot bat blazed a winning trail for the San Francisco Giants last month, Tuesday was named winner of the August trophy in the S. Rae Hickok pro athlete of the year poll. McCovey rolled up 111 points to beat NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer (72), Los Angeles pitcher Sandy Koufax (61), light heavyweight champion Archie Moore (60) and Pittsburgh relief pitcher Elroy Face (53).

18 Pacers To Vie In Little Brown Jug Race Thursday

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Eighteen 3-year-old pacers were entered Tuesday in the 14th Little Brown Jug, one of harness racing's richest events to be raced Thursday at Delaware County Fairgrounds.

The bulky field, which also provided the Jug its largest purse, $76,582, was split into two divisions of nine horse each. Two of the pre-race favorites, Adios Butler and a prize filly, Meadow Maid, drew into the second division. Clint Hodgins will handle Adios Butler and Del Miller will drive Meadow Maid.

Other favorites at short odds are Culver Pick, Adios Day, Carloader and Meadow Al.

Scott Is Fourth College Player To Kick Three Goals

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) Vince Scott's three field goals last Saturday for Maryland against West Virginia equalled the most any college football player has kicked since 1937, the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau reported Tuesday.

The bureau in New York said that since it began keeping such records 22 years ago, only three others had booted three field goals in a game.

The others were Paige Cothren of Mississippi against Vanderbilt in 1956, Bill Stamp of Bradley against Colorado Western and Joe Masnaghetti of Marquette against North Dakota State in 1950.

Scott, from Wilmington, Del., kicked goals of 38, 41, and 48 yards. His first try from 38 yards away was dead on the target, hitting the middle of the cross bar, only to bounce back.

Maryland Is Underdog In Texas Battle

Army, Navy, SMU, Auburn Choices In Saturday Games

NEW YORK (UPI)—Louisiana State, Oklahoma, Notre Dame, Southern Methodist, Ohio State and Auburn Tuesday were tabbed as the favorites for six of Saturday's key college football games.

Oklahoma, perennial Big Eight champion, was made a 5½ point choice for its intersectional nationally-televised (NBC, 315 p.m. e.d.t.) feature against Northwestern at Evanston, Ill. In another big midwestern intersectional clash, coach Joe Kuharich's Notre Dame team is a 3-point favorite to whip North Carolina in its season opener at South Bend, Ind.

Duke Is Underdog

Duke also carries southern football prestige into the Midwest and is a 10-point underdog against Ohio State. Southern Methodist plays Georgia Tech and is a 6-point choice for the game at Atlanta. Auburn, unbeaten in its last 24 starts, is a 6½ point favorite to open its campaign with a victory over Tennessee at Knoxville, Tenn.

In Friday night's two top games, Southern California is favored over Pittsburgh by 7½ points and Miami is favored over Tulane by 4.

All three service academies are favored in Saturday games. Army is favored over Boston College by 20 points and Navy is a 15½ point choice to down William and Mary. The Air Force Academy is favored over Wyoming by 4 points.

In other eastern games, Dartmouth is favored over Holy Cross by 5 points, Syracuse over Kansas by 12½, Brown over Columbia by 6½, Princeton over Rutgers by 4 and Cornell over Colgate by 7½.

Clemson Gets Nod

Clemson is favored over Virginia by 20½, Mississippi over Kentucky by 7, Georgia over Vanderbilt by 6½, Wake Forest over Virginia Tech by 7, and Florida over Mississippi State by 12 in southern games.

In other midwestern features, Michigan State is favored over Texas A and M by 14, Michigan over Missouri by 7, Wisconsin over Stanford by 19, Minnesota over Nebraska by 10 and Indiana is rated even with Illinois.

In the Southwest, Texas is favored over Maryland by 13½, Arkansas over Oklahoma State by 13½, Texas Tech over Oregon State by 4, and Alabama over Houston by 5. In the Far West, Iowa is favored over California by 10, and Colorado over Baylor by 7.

KISS COMES WITH PRESIDENT'S CUP—Mira Slovak, who escaped from Czechoslovakia, collects a winning kiss from Nancy Ellen Priest, 18, after piloting the hydroplane Wahoo to victory in the President's Cup regatta in Washington. Near tragedy was averted when Don Wilson, last year's winner, was dragged from the Potomac River before he drowned. He was behind Slovak when tossed unconscious into choppy river.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The new, wider goal posts in college football, sharply criticized by many noted coaches as no help at all, turned out to be an instant hit.

If the first week's experiment is any indications, some of those college kids will be booting three-pointers almost as efficiently as the professionals before the year is out.

A total of 13 field goals was kicked by major college teams last Saturday in what statisticians say was one of the wildest weekends within memory. And the major powers of the Midwest and East weren't even in action yet!

Three of the 13 were booted by junior end Vince Scott of Maryland against West Virginia, a feat matched by only three others in the modern era.

Scott kicked 'em from the 28, 31 and 38 yard lines, a pretty fair indication the new goal—four feet, 10 inches wider—is going to be a mighty inviting target.

Kick Travels 48 Yards

His longest, from the 38, measured a total of 48 yards to the crossbar, counting the 10 yards the posts are set behind the goal line in college football. That overall distance is only eight yards shy of the all-time pro record set by Bert Rechichar of Baltimore against the Chicago Bears on Sept. 23, 1953.

"There was a lot of confusion in the press box over how to measure Scott's kick," said public relations director Joe Blair of Maryland. "Some writers are instructed to measure the kicks from the yard line where the ball is spotted but this year the NCAA ruling is to measure it from the yard line and to add 10 yards. We recorded it by the NCAA rules as 48 yards for his longest kick."

There are many who believe the field goal in pro football is too cheap and that could happen to the college game.

In the televised Louisiana State-Rice game last Saturday they played it like the pros—disdaining the punt for a field goal try in fourth down situations most anywhere past mid-field. Some of those long shots are bound to hit.

The rulesmakers who voted for wider posts, rather than restoring the posts to the goal line as in the professional game, looked for an increase in field goal kicking but it's doubtful if they believed the new posts would throw the game out of kilter.

Conversion Kick Popular

Wholesale assaults later this season could do just that.

The original idea was to make the three-pointer just cheap enough to cancel out some of those controversial two - point conversions. A kicked conversion is worth one point, a convrsion by run or pass is worth two.

Last weekend, the kick for one point still was the most potent conversion method that, too, made easier by the wider goals. There were 46 conversion kicks in the major games surveyed and 23 kicked conversion attempts missed.

The forward pass is the favored two-point method. Twenty - one conversions were made passing, 18 failed.

Running is the toughest way to make those two points and therefore it is attempted only rarely. Only three two pointers were achieved by running while 12 other running attempts failed.

But the field goal is likely to be the big news this season, even surpassing the swing to two-unit and three-unit substituting.

Baltimore Trades Hanson Churchwell

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts Tuesday traded rookie guard Hanson Churchwell to the Washington Redskins and placed linebacker Tommy Addison on waivers to reduce the squad to the required 36 players.

Churchwell, a former Mississippi player, was the 5th draft choice this year of the National Football League champions. He was sent to the Redskins in exchange for an undisclosed draft choice at the end of the 1959 season.

Addison was in Baltimore's training camp last year before he went back to South Carolina to complete his studies and to help coach the Gamecock team. He was Baltimore's 12th draft choice in 1958.

McCovey Named Hickok Winner

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie William McCovey, whose red hot bat blazed a winning trail for the San Francisco Giants last month, Tuesday was named winner of the August trophy in the S. Rae Hickok pro athlete of the year poll. McCovey rolled up 111 points to beat NBA middleweight champion Gene Fullmer (72), Los Angeles pitcher Sandy Koufax (61), light heavyweight champion Archie Moore (60) and Pittsburgh relief pitcher Elroy Face (53).

18 Pacers To Vie In Little Brown Jug Race Thursday

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — Eighteen 3-year-old pacers were entered Tuesday in the 14th Little Brown Jug, one of harness racing's richest events to be raced Thursday at Delaware County Fairgrounds.

The bulky field, which also provided the Jug its largest purse, $76,582, was split into two divisions of nine horse each. Two of the pre-race favorites, Adios Butler and a prize filly, Meadow Maid, drew into the second division. Clint Hodgins will handle Adios Butler and Del Miller will drive Meadow Maid.

Other favorites at short odds are Culver Pick, Adios Day, Carloader and Meadow Al.

Scott Is Fourth College Player To Kick Three Goals

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) Vince Scott's three field goals last Saturday for Maryland against West Virginia equalled the most any college football player has kicked since 1937, the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau reported Tuesday.

The bureau in New York said that since it began keeping such records 22 years ago, only three others had booted three field goals in a game.

The others were Paige Cothren of Mississippi against Vanderbilt in 1956, Bill Stamp of Bradley against Colorado Western and Joe Masnaghetti of Marquette against North Dakota State in 1950.

Scott, from Wilmington, Del., kicked goals of 38, 41, and 48 yards. His first try from 38 yards away was dead on the target, hitting the middle of the cross bar, only to bounce back.

MAKE SENSE

MANHATTAN, Kan. (NEA) — Kansas State quarterbacks are barking "get-one, get-two," instead of the old "hut-one, hut-two, etc." The words make sense.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Since his success in "Room at the Top" every producer is after Laurence Harvey, but the one most likely to succeed is Marlon Brando's Pennebaker Producers. Marlon wants him — and what Marlon wants, Marlon gets—and his partners, George Glass and Walter Seltzer, have already sent Harvey the script of "The Servant" by Robin Maugham (Somerset Maugham's nephew).

The story is a chiller about a rich young man who hires himself a "gentleman's gentleman," but who is, in reality, a murderer.

That fine young director, Michael Anderson, will direct, and that's probably a good arguing point with Harvey. If they get Larry, they will go after Laurence Olivier to play the evil valet.

It's no easy thing for a "junior" to follow in a great father's footsteps. That's why I'm glad to hear what great guns Efrem Zimbalist, Jr., is doing, both on TV's "77 Sunset Strip" and in pictures for Warner Bros. His father, of course, was the great violinist, but Efrem, Jr., while a fine musician, too, always has preferred acting.

Now he is about to get his best dramatic opportunity in "The Crowded Sky" by Hank Searls, for which Rhonda Fleming has already been announced. Besides Efrem and Rhonda, Anne Francis and Dana Andrews have been added to the cast, and it marks Dana's return to pictures after his Broadway success in "Two for the Seesaw."

There's never a dull moment with either of those Gabor girls, Zsa Zsa or Eva, both of whom manage to get such excitement in their voices. Eva telephoned to say she's been offered the lead in Sam Spewack's new play "Once There was Russia" in London.

Much as she'd like to try her luck with British audiences, David Susskind has also offered Eva "Ninotchka," a TV spectacular, from the famous Garbo movie.

Eva feels her best bet is with "Ninotchka," but she'll make up her mind while she's here the next two weeks doing the Ann Sothern TV show.

Having known Mary Frances Griffin Shinnick since she gladdened the home of Irene Dunne and Dr. Francis Griffin, I was invited to the baptism of little Ann Marie Shinnick Sunday. It was a beautiful service and Father Malcolm Chase, friend of Mary Frances and her husband, Richard Shinnick, baptized the baby at the Church of the Good Shepherd, with Monsignor Daniel Sullivan, pastor, on hand.

Later we went to the Griffin home and glamorous Irene as a grandmother is as pretty a picture as I've seen in many a day. Mary Frances' small son, Mark Francis, has been staying with Irene and Frank. He's a handsome little boy and is perfectly happy at the Griffins. The baby is a beauty. Irene said she duplicated all the things the Shinnick children have at their home, cribs, playpens and toys, so they wouldn't feel they were in a strange place.

There's nothing better in motion pictures than talent. That's what William Goetz has plenty of in "They Came to Cordura." I took another look at it, and I was reimpressed with Rita Hayworth, who after many years as a star, gives her best performance—and gives it without glamorous clothes, makeup or flattering photography.

One of the best scenes in any picture is the one in which Gary Cooper and the villainous Van Heflin outstare each other, seeing which one will get the kill in first. It's a story of courage and human dignity. Gary is at his best, as are Van Heflin and Richard Conte. Tab Hunter proves he also comes under the heading of "talent." I enjoyed "Cordura" after a session of teen-age drivel, now current.

Franklin Man Gets Life Imprisonment

FRANKLIN, W. Va. (UPI) — Thomas Yokum Jr., convicted of attempted murder of a West Virginia state policeman, was sentenced to life imprisonment under the habitual criminal act Monday.

Yokum had been convicted on two felonies prior to conviction on charges of attempting to murder State Police Cpl. F. W. Armstrong last April.

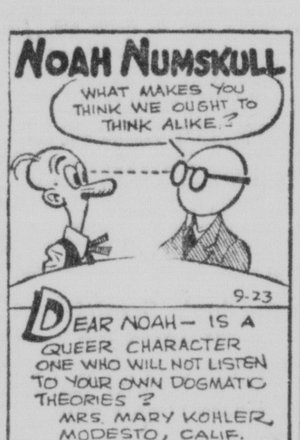

COMMUTER FARES UP

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interstate Commerce Commission has granted Pennsylvania, Erie and New Jersey & New York railroads a 15 per cent increase in commuter fares to New York City from New Jersey.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Color Magic

I think too many gatherings of women look somber and even drab. It's a situation which can, and I believe should, be rectified. There are lots of ways to change it.

For one, you can wear your favorite color, no matter how bright, in your hats. Of course, whatever the color, it must be becoming to your skin tones. You are fairly safe there because it's a fact that women seldom show any strong preference for a color that doesn't jive with their own coloring.

You can also use all manner of vivids in small accessories and dress trims. There's nothing the matter with a scarlet brocade collar on a navy dress, or a gold velvet piping on the surplice closing of a brown costume. The brilliant purples can be yours in a row of wool tassels on the pocket and cuffs of the best black.

Color cravings will also be satisfied by a posy tucked in the belt or pinned to furs. Colored jewelry that is delicately designed and sized supplies a grand effect. With gay handkerchiefs and scarves you can spot color anywhere you choose.

In your costumes themselves, you can also wear any hue your heart desires if you wear it in a shade of low intensity. Even red? Certainly, if you make it a deep rich shade. Orange, too? Yes, if it's a grayed coral or a smokey rust.

Going right down the list: Yellow, when it's strongly reflected in other colors such as amber or olive; soft or dark blues to suit yourself; purple when toned down with blue; green of "blue" spruce or old glass.

Try it! You'll look younger, feel cheerier and have more fun with clothes than in a long while.

Tomorrow: That Smooth, Straight-Haired Look.

Medical Education Reorganizer Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Abraham Flexner, 93-year-old founder of Princeton's Institute for Advanced Study and a man who reshaped medical education in America, died Monday after a short illness at his home in suburban Falls Church, Va.

While his most recent major contribution in the field of education was the unique Institute of Pure Learning, Flexner's greatest work probably was in building up the nation's medical schools.

A native of Louisville, Ky., and a graduate of Johns Hopkins and Harvard universities, Flexner left a high school teaching job in Louisville in 1908 to join the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. Through the next 22 years with this foundation and as a member of the general education board of the Rockefeller Foundation, Flexner obtained and largely directed the placing of 50 million dollars in Rockefeller money for the reorganization of American medical education.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: Last night our small child became violently ill. I asked my husband to go to the store for medicine which the doctor prescribed. His face fell and he moaned, "Something always happens when I want to go to the fights."

This is typical of him. When I was in a car accident last year and the doctor phoned my husband from the hospital, he was playing poker and he sent my brother. His excuse was the doctor said it was only a broken collarbone and since he was stuck $40 he thought he'd better stay in the game and make the hospital bill.

When my favorite aunt died, he went on a hunting trip and missed the funeral. I was ashamed to attend the funeral without him but I had no choice.

Am I too demanding, as he says, or is there something wrong with him?

BOTTOM OF THE LIST

DEAR BOTTOM: Of course there's something wrong with him — he's immature and flees from responsibility.

You're not going to change the guy now, so accept the fact that you've got an additional child on your hands.

DEAR ANN: I'm having a family problem which requires an outsider's unbiased opinion. Can you help?

We took Mom and Dad in to live with us and were happy to have them since we are career people with a nice home and no children.

My older sister whom Dad always called "the pretty one" (I was "the plain one") ran away at 17 to get married. She moved to the other end of town because she didn't want to have anything to do with the folks.

Since the folks have been here she's been bringing her undisciplined tribe (she has 10 children) over here regularly. They come when they're sure my husband and I won't be at home. Something always gets broken. First is was a $30 figurine, next a door mirror, and last night the hi-fi.

Of course they can't afford to pay for the broken things. My husband says he never wants those kids in our house again. Sis says we pay too much attention to "material things." Mom and Dad say we are "breaking up the family." What do you say?

THE PLAIN ONE

DEAR PLAIN ONE: I'd make it plenty plain they are not to come to your home unless you and your husband are there. Someone must police those kids and it's apparent their folks can't do it. Also, insist they pay for any damage done in the future and lay down the new ground rules on the very next visit.

DEAR ANN: I'm 16, not a raving beauty, but not ugly either. I'm not popular with boys and can't figure out why.

A darling guy sat next to me in Spanish class all last year and I didn't know him a bit better the day school closed.

My girl friend has guys trailing after her constantly. Fellows start conversations with her in the halls, and ask for help with school work, although she nearly flunked everything. I'm an A student yet no one asks me for help. Why does she succeed and where do I fail?

FLOP

DEAR FLOP: Your girl friend has learned the secret of making boys feel comfortable in her presence. Watch her operate and ask her for clues. She'll be flattered and you may learn something.

To learn the booby-traps of teen-age drinking, write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Teen-age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

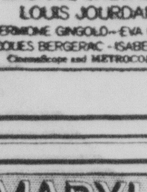

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—Since his success in "Room at the Top" every producer is after Laurence Harvey, but the one most likely to succeed is Marlon Brando's Pennebaker Producers. Marlon wants him — and what Marlon wants, Marlon gets—and his partners, George Glass and Walter Seltzer, have already sent Harvey the script of "The Servant" by Robin Maugham (Somerset Maugham's nephew).

The story is a chiller about a rich young man who hires himself a "gentleman's gentleman," but who is, in reality, a murderer.

That fine young director, Michael Anderson, will direct, and that's probably a good arguing point with Harvey. If they get Larry, they will go after Laurence Olivier to play the evil valet.

It's no easy thing for a "junior" to follow in a great father's footsteps. That's why I'm glad to hear what great guns Efrem Zimbalist, Jr., is doing, both on TV's "77 Sunset Strip" and in pictures for Warner Bros. His father, of course, was the great violinist, but Efrem, Jr., while a fine musician, too, always has preferred acting.

Now he is about to get his best dramatic opportunity in "The Crowded Sky" by Hank Searls, for which Rhonda Fleming has already been announced. Besides Efrem and Rhonda, Anne Francis and Dana Andrews have been added to the cast, and it marks Dana's return to pictures after his Broadway success in "Two for the Seesaw."

There's never a dull moment with either of those Gabor girls, Zsa Zsa or Eva, both of whom manage to get such excitement in their voices. Eva telephoned to say she's been offered the lead in Sam Spewack's new play "Once There was Russia" in London.

Much as she'd like to try her luck with British audiences, David Susskind has also offered Eva "Ninotchka," a TV spectacular, from the famous Garbo movie.

Eva feels her best bet is with "Ninotchka," but she'll make up her mind while she's here the next two weeks doing the Ann Sothern TV show.

Having known Mary Frances Griffin Shinnick since she gladdened the home of Irene Dunne and Dr. Francis Griffin, I was invited to the baptism of little Ann Marie Shinnick Sunday. It was a beautiful service and Father Malcolm Chase, friend of Mary Frances and her husband, Richard Shinnick, baptized the baby at the Church of the Good Shepherd, with Monsignor Daniel Sullivan, pastor, on hand.

Later we went to the Griffin home and glamorous Irene as a grandmother is as pretty a picture as I've seen in many a day. Mary Frances' small son, Mark Francis, has been staying with Irene and Frank. He's a handsome little boy and is perfectly happy at the Griffins. The baby is a beauty. Irene said she duplicated all the things the Shinnick children have at their home, cribs, playpens and toys, so they wouldn't feel they were in a strange place.

There's nothing better in motion pictures than talent. That's what William Goetz has plenty of in "They Came to Cordura." I took another look at it, and I was reimpressed with Rita Hayworth, who after many years as a star, gives her best performance—and gives it without glamorous clothes, makeup or flattering photography.

One of the best scenes in any picture is the one in which Gary Cooper and the villainous Van Heflin outstare each other, seeing which one will get the kill in first. It's a story of courage and human dignity. Gary is at his best, as are Van Heflin and Richard Conte. Tab Hunter proves he also comes under the heading of "talent." I enjoyed "Cordura" after a session of teen-age drivel, now current.

No matter what your figure may be, you can express your personality and spark your costume with color!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Color Magic

I think too many gatherings of women look somber and even drab. It's a situation which can, and I believe should, be rectified. There are lots of ways to change it.

For one, you can wear your favorite color, no matter how bright, in your hats. Of course, whatever the color, it must be becoming to your skin tones. You are fairly safe there because it's a fact that women seldom show any strong preference for a color that doesn't jive with their own coloring.

You can also use all manner of vivids in small accessories and dress trims. There's nothing the matter with a scarlet brocade collar on a navy dress, or a gold velvet piping on the surplice closing of a brown costume. The brilliant purples can be yours in a row of wool tassels on the pocket and cuffs of the best black.

Color cravings will also be satisfied by a posy tucked in the belt or pinned to furs. Colored jewelry that is delicately designed and sized supplies a grand effect. With gay handkerchiefs and scarves you can spot color anywhere you choose.

In your costumes themselves, you can also wear any hue your heart desires if you wear it in a shade of low intensity. Even red? Certainly, if you make it a deep rich shade. Orange, too? Yes, if it's a grayed coral or a smokey rust.

Going right down the list: Yellow, when it's strongly reflected in other colors such as amber or olive; soft or dark blues to suit yourself; purple when toned down with blue; green of "blue" spruce or old glass.

Try it! You'll look younger, feel cheerier and have more fun with clothes than in a long while.

Tomorrow: That Smooth, Straight-Haired Look.

Medical Education Reorganizer Dies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Abraham Flexner, 93-year-old founder of Princeton's Institute for Advanced Study and a man who reshaped medical education in America, died Monday after a short illness at his home in suburban Falls Church, Va.

While his most recent major contribution in the field of education was the unique Institute of Pure Learning, Flexner's greatest work probably was in building up the nation's medical schools.

A native of Louisville, Ky., and a graduate of Johns Hopkins and Harvard universities, Flexner left a high school teaching job in Louisville in 1908 to join the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. Through the next 22 years with this foundation and as a member of the general education board of the Rockefeller Foundation, Flexner obtained and largely directed the placing of 50 million dollars in Rockefeller money for the reorganization of American medical education.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: Last night our small child became violently ill. I asked my husband to go to the store for medicine which the doctor prescribed. His face fell and he moaned, "Something always happens when I want to go to the fights."

This is typical of him. When I was in a car accident last year and the doctor phoned my husband from the hospital, he was playing poker and he sent my brother. His excuse was the doctor said it was only a broken collarbone and since he was stuck $40 he thought he'd better stay in the game and make the hospital bill.

When my favorite aunt died, he went on a hunting trip and missed the funeral. I was ashamed to attend the funeral without him but I had no choice.

Am I too demanding, as he says, or is there something wrong with him?

BOTTOM OF THE LIST

DEAR BOTTOM: Of course there's something wrong with him — he's immature and flees from responsibility.

You're not going to change the guy now, so accept the fact that you've got an additional child on your hands.

DEAR ANN: I'm having a family problem which requires an outsider's unbiased opinion. Can you help?

We took Mom and Dad in to live with us and were happy to have them since we are career people with a nice home and no children.

My older sister whom Dad always called "the pretty one" (I was "the plain one") ran away at 17 to get married. She moved to the other end of town because she didn't want to have anything to do with the folks.

Since the folks have been here she's been bringing her undisciplined tribe (she has 10 children) over here regularly. They come when they're sure my husband and I won't be at home. Something always gets broken. First is was a $30 figurine, next a door mirror, and last night the hi-fi.

Of course they can't afford to pay for the broken things. My husband says he never wants those kids in our house again. Sis says we pay too much attention to "material things." Mom and Dad say we are "breaking up the family." What do you say?

THE PLAIN ONE

DEAR PLAIN ONE: I'd make it plenty plain they are not to come to your home unless you and your husband are there. Someone must police those kids and it's apparent their folks can't do it. Also, insist they pay for any damage done in the future and lay down the new ground rules on the very next visit.

DEAR ANN: I'm 16, not a raving beauty, but not ugly either. I'm not popular with boys and can't figure out why.

A darling guy sat next to me in Spanish class all last year and I didn't know him a bit better the day school closed.

My girl friend has guys trailing after her constantly. Fellows start conversations with her in the halls, and ask for help with school work, although she nearly flunked everything. I'm an A student yet no one asks me for help. Why does she succeed and where do I fail? FLOP

DEAR FLOP: Your girl friend has learned the secret of making boys feel comfortable in her presence. Watch her operate and ask her for clues. She'll be flattered and you may learn something.

Card of Thanks

We wish to take this means of expressing our sincere appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their sympathy extended to us at the death of our loved one, Charles M. Mitchell. We especially wish to thank Rev. W. Randolph Keefe, the pallbearers and those who sent cards, floral tributes and donated the use of their cars.

His Wife, Daughter, Mother
Father and Brothers.

We take this means of extending our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our husband and father, Robert Seifarth. We especially wish to thank the pallbearers, those who donated cars, sent floral tributes and to all others, who in any manner assisted us.

Wife, Son and Father

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dearly beloved son and brother Raymond M. Slider who was killed one—year ago today, September 23, 1958.

Always so true, unselfish and kind.
A beautiful life that came to an end.
He died as he lived, everyone's friend.
Beautiful memories of a smiling face.
A broken link no one can replace.
Whatever else we fail to do.
We'll never fail to think of you.

Sadly Missed By
Mother, Father and Ronnie

In memory of our beloved husband and father, Raymond Slider, who was killed one year ago today September 23, 1958.

The blow was hard, the shock severe.
We never thought his death so near.
Only those who have lost can tell.
He little thought when leaving home.
That he would never return.
That he so soon in death would sleep.
And leave us here to mourn.
God knows how much we miss him.
Never shall his memory fade.
Loving thoughts shall ever wander,
To the spot where he is laid.

Sadly Missed By His Wife,
Betty and Children, Linda and Gary

Card of Thanks

We wish to take this means of expressing our sincere appreciation to our friends and neighbors for their sympathy extended to us at the death of our loved one, Charles M. Mitchell. We especially wish to thank Rev. W. Randolph Keefe, the pallbearers and those who sent cards, floral tributes and donated the use of their cars.

His Wife, Daughter, Mother
Father and Brothers.

We take this means of extending our sincere thanks and appreciation to all our friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our husband and father, Robert Seifarth. We especially wish to thank the pallbearers, those who donated cars, sent floral tributes and to all others, who in any manner assisted us.

Wife, Son and Father

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dearly beloved son and brother Raymond M. Slider who was killed one—year ago today, September 23, 1958.

Always so true, unselfish and kind.
A beautiful life that came to an end.
He died as he lived, everyone's friend.
Beautiful memories of a smiling face.
A broken link no one can replace.
Whatever else we fail to do.
We'll never fail to think of you.

Sadly Missed By
Mother, Father and Ronnie

In memory of our beloved husband and father, Raymond Slider, who was killed one year ago today September 23, 1958.

The blow was hard, the shock severe.
We never thought his death so near.
Only those who have lost can tell,
The pain of parting without farewell.
He little thought when leaving home,
That he would never return.
That he so soon in death would sleep
And leave us here to mourn.
God knows how much we miss him,
Never shall his memory fade.
Loving thoughts shall ever wander,
To the spot where he is laid.

Sadly Missed By His Wife,
Betty and Children, Linda and Gary

Segni Changes Plans

ROME (UPI) — Premier Antonio Segni has cancelled a scheduled visit to Canada this week end and reduced the length of a visit to the United States "for reasons connected with domestic policy commitments," it was announced Tuesday. The announcement said the Premier was skipping the visit to Canada entirely and leaving here Sept. 29 for the visit to the United States which will include talks with President Eisenhower.

The whale, though a descendant of land animals that were hairy and four-legged, has a naked skin except for a few scattered hairs on the head. The only traces of hind limbs are a few tiny bones hidden at the base of its powerful tail.

Kilimanjaro, the highest mountain in Africa, rises 19,340 feet above sea level. Masai tribesmen of Tanganyika call it the "House of God."

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Segni Changes Plans

ROME (UPI) — Premier Antonio Segni has cancelled a scheduled visit to Canada this week end and reduced the length of a visit to the United States "for reasons connected with domestic policy commitments," it was announced Tuesday. The announcement said the Premier was skipping the visit to Canada entirely and leaving here Sept. 29 for the visit to the United States which will include talks with President Eisenhower.

Market Declines Again As Rally Runs Out Of Gas

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market failed to capitalize on an early session rally and finished the day on a slightly lower note.

The market lost steam after the first hour on a lack of follow-through demand. Investor sentiment continues to be affected by the various economic and political uncertainties.

But brokers point out that the market's sharp reaction in the past month has strengthened its technical position. They look for a turn around in prices after settlement of the long steel strike.

Electronics stood out in the list with gains ranging to 2 points. General Time was up 2. Litton 1⅝, Zenith 1½, but Wagner Electric countered with a loss of 2¼.

New 1959 lows were scored by 196 of the 1,208 issues traded Tuesday, while only 2 stocks — American Motors and Heller — hit new highs. Declines were registered by 589 issues and advances by 407, while 212 held unchanged.

American Motors again was the most active issue on sales of 79,200 shares. American Telephone, Polaroid, Sperry Rand and General Public Service rounded out the top five.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. each day the code letters are different.

Opening lead: King of ♠.

An interesting type of end play was effected today which gave the defenders a choice as to which one was going to present declarer with his ninth trick.

The three no trump contract was reached with dispatch. West opened the king of spades, and East, perforce, played the three. South, hopeful of a continuation, ducked the trick, but West could read the three of spades as partner's lowest. He therefore abandoned the suit and shifted to the five of diamonds. East's queen was permitted to hold, and the king of diamonds came back. This made it clear enough that East had no more spades, for if he had, surely he would have chosen to establish the suit which partner led.

At this point it appeared to declarer that West had five spades and four diamonds. This would allot East three diamonds (presumably king-queen-small) and a single spade. Declarer took the second diamond lead, cashed the ace of clubs and ran the four hearts.

When each of the defenders followed three times, the hand was open to a complete count. West had originally five spades, four diamonds, three hearts, and one club. Since West had already followed to one club he is now marked as void of the suit, and the club finesse must fail.

However, declarer was sure of an end play which would operate against either defender. He has lost, up to this point, two tricks, and the lead is given up with a diamond. If West takes those tricks he will be compelled to lead a spade into South's ace-jack. If East wins the diamond, nature will force him to lead a club. Either way declarer gets his ninth trick.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grains were mixed today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ½ to 1⅛; corn unchanged to up ¼; oats unchanged to up ⅛; rye off ¾ to 1½; soybeans up 1 to 1⅛.

Wheat prices receded from early levels, dipping below yesterday's close. Scattered liquidation by longs was indicated. There was little stop loss selling. There was some disappointment apparent early in the session over the failure of the market to attract buying interest on the report showing the quantity of wheat put under price support in August.

Corn prices held within a narrow range. Several elevator houses sold December after early commission house selling. Demand came from spreaders and on resting orders. There was processor demand for March contracts on scale down. Corn redemption during August was very liberal.

The rye market was heavy. March, May and July contracts were off more than 1 cent.

Soybean prices held above the previous close in light trading. Nearbys were firm. There was scattered commission house buying with offerings light. There was very little if any hedging pressure apparent in soybeans. Outside markets were mostly steady. The range:

Advance Disclosed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government researchers have discovered a new method for forming high-purity tungsten into tubing and have opened the door for eventual plating of other metals with tungsten, the Department of Interior reported. Officials described the process as "a giant step forward." They said the finding promise to extend tungsten's usefulness in industry and in defense and space programs.

Assault Charged

REDMOND, Wash. (UPI)—The superintendent of Hopkins Military Academy was arrested Monday on a charge of third degree assault of a 14-year-old student. Superintendent Thomas H. Hopkins was charged in a warrant issued by the King County prosecutor's office with holding Cadet John Goodwin in solitary confinement, on a bread and water diet, for five days. Smith said Goodwin was allegedly struck with a swagger stick during his confinement.

OXYGEN PLANTS PLANNED

NEW YORK (UPI)—Air Products Inc. announced plans to build four oxygen plants at a cost of more than 33 million dollars. The facilities will be associated with steel mills in Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Granite City, Ill. and Weirton, W.Va.

Market Declines Again As Rally Runs Out Of Gas

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market failed to capitalize on an early session rally and finished the day on a slightly lower note.

The market lost steam after the first hour on a lack of follow-through demand. Investor sentiment continues to be affected by the various economic and political uncertainties.

But brokers point out that the market's sharp reaction in the past month has strengthened its technical position. They look for a turn around in prices after settlement of the long steel strike.

Tuesday's decline was the sixth in the last seven sessions. Volume slipped to ,3000,000 shares from 3,240,000 Monday.

Electronics stood out in the list with gains ranging to 2 points. General Time was up 2, Litton 1⅝, Zenith 1½, but Wagner Electric countered with a loss of 2¼.

New 1959 lows were scored by 196 of the 1,208 issues traded Tuesday, while only 2 stocks — American Motors and Heller — hit new highs. Declines were registered by 589 issues and advances by 407, while 212 held unchanged.

American Motors again was the most active issue on sales of 79,200 shares. American Telephone, Polaroid, Sperry Rand and General Public Service rounded out the top five.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. each day the code letters are different.

Opening lead: King of ♠.

An interesting type of end play was effected today which gave the defenders a choice as to which one was going to present declarer with his ninth trick.

The three no trump contract was reached with dispatch. West opened the king of spades, and East, perforce, played the three. South, hopeful of a continuation, ducked the trick, but West could read the three of spades as partner's lowest. He therefore abandoned the suit and shifted to the five of diamonds. East's queen was permitted to hold, and the king of diamonds came back. This made it clear enough that East had no more spades, for if he had, surely he would have chosen to establish the suit which partner led.

At this point it appeared to declarer that West had five spades and four diamonds. This would allot East three diamonds (presumably king-queen-small) and a single spade. Declarer took the second diamond lead, cashed the ace of clubs and ran the four hearts.

When each of the defenders followed three times, the hand was open to a complete count. West had originally five spades, four diamonds, three hearts, and one club. Since West had already followed to one club he is now marked as void of the suit, and the club finesse must fail.

However, declarer was sure of an end play which would operate against either defender. He has lost, up to this point, two tricks, and the lead is given up with a diamond. If West takes those tricks he will be compelled to lead a spade into South's ace-jack. If East wins the diamond, nature will force him to lead a club. Either way declarer gets his ninth trick.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Grains were mixed today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ½ to 1⅛; corn unchanged to up ¼; oats unchanged to up ⅛; rye off ¾ to 1½; soybeans up 1 to 1⅛.

Wheat prices receded from early levels, dipping below yesterday's close. Scattered liquidation by longs was indicated. There was little stop loss selling. There was some disappointment apparent early in the session over the failure of the market to attract buying interest on the report showing the quantity of wheat put under price support in August.

Corn prices held within a narrow range. Several elevator houses sold December after early commission house selling. Demand came from spreaders and on resting orders. There was processor demand for March contracts on scale down. Corn redemption during August was very liberal.

The rye market was heavy. March, May and July contracts were off more than 1 cent.

Soybean prices held above the previous close in light trading. Nearbys were firm. There was scattered commission house buying with offerings light. There was very little if any hedging pressure apparent in soybeans. Outside markets were mostly steady. The range:

Walsh, Herter To Confer On Bishop's Fate

Secretary Of State To Meet Relatives

Former Judge William C. Walsh, The Dingle, will be in Washington today to meet with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter who will confer with relatives of five Americans still imprisoned in Communist China.

A dispatch from United Press International at Washington said the State Department announced that Secretary Herter will meet with the relatives of the five Americans to assure them of continued efforts to seek the release of the prisoners.

No American prisoner has been released since December 20, 1955, except at the expiration of his sentence. Some 106 meetings have been held with Chinese Communist representatives in an unsuccessful effort to win freedom for the five still held.

Aside from Bishop Walsh, the imprisoned persons include Robert Ezra McCann, a businessman whose family lives in Pasadena, Calif.; John Thomas Downey, of New Britain, Conn., and Richard George Fecteau, of Lynn, Mass., Army civilian employes who disappeared on a flight from Korea to Japan in 1952, and Hugh Francis Redmond Jr., Yonkers, N. Y., a businessman in an import-export firm in China.

Summer's Last Gasp

Yesterday was the last full day of summer and the Cunningham sisters took advantage of the pleasant finale of the season to walk along Baltimore Street in summery attire. Linda Cunningham, at the left, is a student at SS. Peter and Paul's School, and her older sister, Mary, is enrolled at Ursuline Academy. They are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cunningham, 613 Greene Street. The temperature reached an unofficial high of 89 downtown. Autumn arrives at 3:09 p. m. today and remains until the winter solstice, arriving at 9:35 a. m. (EST) December 22.

Area Welfare Conference Set For Oct. 7

The annual meeting of Region Three of the State Conference of Social Welfare will be held on Wednesday, October 7, at Point View Inn, Deep Creek Lake.

About 125 professional and lay people who work with or are interested in social welfare problems are expected to attend the all-day conference which will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Fred H. Anderson, local attorney, and Dr. Arthur Jones, of Oakland, are co-chairmen of the annual meeting which will consist of panel discussions.

The topic for the conference is "Family Breakdown—Causes and Possible Remedies," according to Mr. Anderson, who said the keynote address will be given by a member of the faculty of West Virginia University.

Judge Alfred Noyes, juvenile judge of Montgomery County, will be chairman of the panel. Mr. Anderson said there will be panelists from Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties, which comprise Region Three.

Officials of Health Departments, Boards of Education, tuberculosis chapter officials, police, courts and lay groups, are expected to participate.

Interested persons in the region who wish to attend the meeting are asked to contact Mr. Anderson in order that he can make reservations.

He said the organization has been in existence for about five years. For the past two years the annual meeting has been held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club and this year is scheduled for Garrett County.

Davis Firm To Buy Marion Phone Co.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Public Service Commission authorized the Marion Telephone Co., Worthington, Tuesday to sell its properties to United Utilities of West Virginia Inc., of Davis, Tucker County.

The PSC said United Utilities agreed to buy the Marion firm for $134,500 and to retain present rates paid by Marion's 750 subscribers.

Retired Teacher List Hits 10

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster wrote the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to explain that two more teachers who retired July 1 are eligible for the $40 a month supplemental pension provided by Senate Bill 58, passed in the last session of the General Assembly.

The additions are Mrs. Edith C. Bracey, Box 157, and Miss Bessie Volk, 49 Broadway, Frostburg. Previously, eight other educators, one of them a retired principal, have been on the list and have received supplemental pensions.

Mr. Webster also notified the commissioners that a retired teacher, Miss Mabel Hitchins, Frostburg, who had been receiving a $25 supplemental pension provided locally, has died.

Oldtown Pigeon Captures Race

Little Joe from the Oak Manor Loft of Joseph Hercsuth of Oldtown won the fourth regular young bird race of the Allegany Racing Pigeon Club, a 175-mile flig' ' from Athens, Ohio, averaging 1,233.61 yards per minute.

Another pigeon from the same loft, operated by one of the newest members of the club, finished second. This bird was named Smitty's Pride and averaged 1,231.67 yards per minute.

Other pigeons among the top 10 were the following:

Miss Diane from the MacArthur Loft of C. A. Smith, 1,211.10 yards per minute; Single Shot from the Lost Loft of Dudley Shafer, 1,199.83 yards per minute; No. 914 from the Gilmore Loft of C. A. Some 14 lofts with 213 pigeons participated in the Athens race. The next race will be a 225-mile event from Chillicothe, Ohio.

Barber Leaves Estate To St. Patrick's Pastor

Charles Leo Collins, a 55-year-old barber who died suddenly last Saturday, left his entire estate to the pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, according to his will which was probated yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

James Alfred Avirett, his attorney, qualified as executor of the estate. The will, dated June 10, 1959, did not name the beneficiary specifically but he is Right Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny.

Mr. Collins, who lived at 119 South Allegany Street, and operated a barber shop at 225 Paca Street, was found dead of natural causes Sunday morning. He apparently had been dead about 12 hours.

Church Plans Dedication

Bedford Road Baptist Church will dedicate its recently completed education building Sunday at 3 p. m. at the church.

Rev. Roy Gresham, Baltimore general secretary of the Maryland Baptist Union Association, will deliver the principal address at the afternoon session with Allen Beck, formerly of Cumberland and now state treasurer of the Maryland Baptist Mission Board, taking part in the program.

Special music will be presented by the choirs of the Bedford Road Church with Mrs. Wood Simpson as pianist.

Rev. J. C. Ledbetter, pastor of the church, will be host to the proceedings Sunday.

The building committee of the church, which formerly was a mission of Second Baptist Church here and was organized into a church last October, is composed of Carl Twigg, chairman; Lewis Simpson, John Luttrell, Robert Popp, and Ralph Michael.

$1,235 Sought In Damage Suit

John K. Arnold, 242 St. Cloud Street, Keyser, yesterday filed a $1,235 damage suit in Allegany County Circuit Court as a result of a traffic accident on State Route 135 between McCoole and Westernport last December 14.

The suit was filed for Mr. Arnold by Attorney Fred H. Anderson against Sheridan Harry Johnson, 104 Queen Street, McCoole, and Bennie Raymond Sims, 915 Argyle Street, Keyser.

Mr. Arnold asserted in his declaration that Vergil Lewis Schnidleir was driving his car west on Route 135 last December 14. When Mr. Johnson backed his automobile across the highway into the path of the Arnold car, Mr. Schnidleir applied brakes and while in the process of stopping the car it was struck from behind by another vehicle traveling west on Route 135 and operated by Mr. Sims.

The plaintiff stated that his car was damaged to the extent of $1,235.07 as a result of the accident, which he blamed on the two other drivers.

Road Dispute Hearing To Be Resumed

Injunction Sought In Keyser Court

Hearing of an equity suit seeking an injunction to require the reopening of a road off West Virginia Route 28 in the Wiley Ford area will be resumed tomorrow in Mineral County Circuit Court at Keyser before Judge Ernest A. See.

A full court room of about 150 spectators was on hand Monday morning when the hearing began before Judge See.

Lewis G. Llewellyn, RFD 1, Ridgeley, and his father-in-law, Paul D. Moreland, filed the equity suit last September to compel James Smith, also of RFD 1, Ridgeley, to remove two gates from a right of way. This right of way extends from Route 28 in an easterly direction through Mr. Smith's land to the property of Mr. Llewellyn.

The right of way has been in controversy for several years. Last May, Judge See signed an order allowing Mr. Llewellyn and Mr. Moreland to use the right of way provided they opened and closed the gates.

Mr. Llewellyn and Mr. Moreland charge that last month Mr. Smith barricaded the road and locked the gates, thereby preventing further use of the right of way.

On Tuesday, September 15, Mr. Smith was arrested on a charge of malicious assault after he allegedly wounded Mr. Llewellyn and Preston Miller, also of RFD 1, Ridgeley, with shotgun pellets. The wounded men told police they were fired upon while climbing over a gate on the right of way extending from Route 28.

Harold J. Snyder, district engineer of the State Roads Commission, testified Monday that the commission carried the disputed road in its inventory as Secondary Route 28/10.

Eugene Ault, SRC maintenance supervisor, said the road had been worked on recently by commission crews. Chester Miller, former maintenance supervisor, said this also was done while he was in charge of the work.

Attorneys James A. Swadley Jr. of Keyser and William H. Ansel Jr. of Romney have been representing Mr. Llewellyn and Mr. Moreland in the prolonged litigation, while Attorney Vernon E. Rankin represents Mr. Smith.

Historical Society President Invites Commissioners

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday received an invitation from Miss Ruth A. Clauson, president of the County Historical Society, to visit the society's buildings at 218 Washington Street.

She explained that she would be glad to have the buildings open for them on Friday. However, the commissioners found it necessary to decline the invitation. They plan to attend a meeting of the Legislative Council at the City Hall at 10 a. m. Friday and will participate in sessions of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin both Thursday and Friday.

Kiwanis To Hear Of Lake Promotion

Helmuth M. Heise, a leader in the promotion of Deep Creek Lake as both a summer and winter recreational area, will speak at the meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at 12:15 p.m. Thursday at Central YMCA.

Mr. Heise has been active in efforts to bring tourists into Western Maryland.

Men Of LaSalle Minstrel Scheduled October 4, 5, 6

"Showboat Shenanigans," a two-act minstrel with a cast of 62 persons, will be presented on October 4, 5, and 6 at Carroll Hall by the Men of LaSalle.

John J. O'Donnell, writer and producer of the annual stage show, said last night that members of the cast are polishing up on solos, skits, tap and soft shoe dancing and comedy monologues.

The dress rehearsal will be staged on Friday evening, October 2. A special matinee performance will be held Sunday, October 4, at 2:15 p. m. The three evening performances will begin at 8:15 p. m.

Interlocutor will be John J. Coyle and the end men will include Sid Storer Jr., Thomas Connelley, Francis Connelley, Charles Offutt, William Blake, William Chabot, William Boyer and Paul Dunn.

"The K of C Four," a quartet including Rev. Arthur W. Bastress, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church; Joseph Challinor, Edward Sell and Paul Dunn, will sing a medley of minstrel songs.

Thomas Carroll will sing, "Make Believe." A song and dance will be presented by Sue Marie Powers whose number will be "I'm in Love With A Wonderful Guy."

Sue Knieriem will sing "Get Happy" and Katherine Simpson will sing "St. Louis Blues." Carolyn Sue Luman will dance a tap routine. Frank Werner will give a comedy monologue, according to Mr. O'Donnell who said they are among the performers on stage during the performance.

Act one will be on the wharf with a showboat backdrop and act two will be in the showboat auditorium.

Tickets are now available and may be purchased from members of the cast, students at LaSalle High School, Men of LaSalle or at the door.

Assisting Mr. O'Donnell will be Sid Storer Jr., Thomas Connelley and Joseph Bagatti. Miss Mary Jo Simpson will be production assistant and Miss Sally Maurey will be the accompanist on the piano. Stage manager is James Robinette.

NEW REALTOR — Bert J. Graham, 841 Mt. Royal Avenue, who has been engaged in the insurance business here 14 years, has been accepted as a member of the Board of Realtors of Cumberland. He successfully passed an examination given by the Maryland Real Estate Commission in Baltimore after he served the required two-year apprenticeship in a licensed real estate firm.

City Requests Bids On Auto

The City of Cumberland will receive sealed bids for a four-door sedan to be used in the Engineering Department, replacing a one-ton panel truck now in the city warehouse.

The bids will be accepted at the city clerk's office until 10 a. m. Monday, October 5, at which time they will be publicly opened and read.

Specifications for the automobile are that it is to be black in color, 175 inches long, 71 inches wide with wheel base of 108 inches; six or eight cylinders, straight transmission with heater and defroster, and 12-volt ignition. Trade-in allowance for the panel truck is to be included and the car is to be delivered F.O.B., Cumberland.

All bids will be marked "Bid for automobile for Engineering Department." The Mayor and City Council has reserved the right to reject any and all bids.

Church Continues Kindergarten School

Trinity Lutheran Church opened its annual kindergarten course for the eighth consecutive year last week with morning and afternoon classes.

The classes are under the direction of Mrs. Harold Knippenberg in the morning and Mrs. Albert Kiiffner in the afternoon.

Mrs. Knippenberg, who assisted in teaching last year's classes, took a summer course at Concordia Teachers' College, River Forest, Ill. Mrs. Kiiffner has taught the kindergarten classes for the past four years.

Open house was held September 13 with over 100 persons in attendance. There are 35 children enrolled in the kindergarten classes this year.

Man Receives Suspended Term

William Radcliff, 220 Virginia Avenue, was given a suspended 30-day sentence in Allegany County Jail on two motor vehicle charges and a theft count.

Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt suspended Radcliff's sentence on condition he pay court costs, refrain from drinking, make restitution for a $12 automobile battery he took from a used car lot, and be of general good behavior.

Radcliff was charged with operating a motor vehicle with illegal tags, unauthorized use of an automobile, and the theft of the battery from Jack's Used Car Lot, Virginia Avenue.

Mrs. Buckalew noted that this year there are 29 schools in the county with active PTA units affiliated with the county council.

Fire Insurance Change Saves County $2,161

$1,577 Additional Will Be Realized

Allegany County is saving $2,161.16 from a revision of its fire insurance and will continue to save $1,577 annually beginning December 1 as a result of the change.

This good news was presented to the County Board of Commissioners in a letter received from James B. Reinhart of the M. D. Reinhart Agency.

Mr. Reinhart explained that the Allegany County insurance program has been converted from specific coverage to blanket coverage on all real and personal property as recommended by the Independent Agents Association on June 1.

Besides this gain through blanket coverage, the county also is benefitting as a result of reduction in rates on all institutional property as of June 1.

These changes will result in the county receiving a total of $2,161.16 in return premiums from the various agents sharing in the county business.

Mr. Reinhart also wrote that further cost to the county for fire insurance will be reduced $1,577 a year beginning December 1, as a result of the change in coverage.

"The county's insurance coverage is now in excellent shape and a very creditable reflection of your high administration policy," Mr. Reinhart concluded.

Another letter received yesterday, from Naoma M. Flanagan, Citizens National Bank Building, Westernport, complained about the small share of the county's insurance she receives. She explained that she understood there will be a redistribution of insurance and she requested consideration for a larger share of the business.

Man Injured In Fracas At Local Tavern

City Police said Harry W. Lewis, 447 Seymour Street, was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital in a police cruiser with a badly lacerated head. Although conscious, he was admitted in "serious" condition.

Detective Kenneth Morrissey said the youth told him the man had argued with several teen-age boys and struck at them. When one boy walked away, Morrissey said, Lewis reportedly turned on Michael McCullough, 19, of 31 Weber Street.

The youth said Lewis hit him and he struck back in self-defense knocking the man down, the detective stated. When the man got up the boy shoved him away and Lewis fell, striking his head against a pointed headlight rim on his own car.

McCullough is being held in City Jail and will be taken to the state's attorney's office today.

They are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cunningham, 613 Greene Street. The temperature reached an unofficial high of 89 downtown. Autumn arrives at 3:09 p. m. today and remains until the winter solstice, arriving at 9:35 a. m. (EST) December 22.

Area Welfare Conference Set For Oct. 7

The annual meeting of Region Three of the State Conference of Social Welfare will be held on Wednesday, October 7, at Point View Inn, Deep Creek Lake.

About 125 professional and lay people who work with or are interested in social welfare problems are expected to attend the all-day conference which will begin at 9:30 a.m.

Fred H. Anderson, local attorney, and Dr. Arthur Jones, of Oakland, are co-chairmen of the annual meeting which will consist of panel discussions.

The topic for the conference is "Family Breakdown—Causes and Possible Remedies," according to Mr. Anderson, who said the keynote address will be given by a member of the faculty of West Virginia University.

Judge Alfred Noyes, juvenile judge of Montgomery County, will be chairman of the panel. Mr. Anderson said there will be panelists from Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties, which comprise Region Three.

The purpose of the annual meeting is to focus attention on various social welfare problems of the four counties.

Officials of Health Departments, Boards of Education, tuberculosis chapter officials, police, courts and lay groups, are expected to participate.

Interested persons in the region who wish to attend the meeting are asked to contact Mr. Anderson in order that he can make reservations.

He said the organization has been in existence for about five years. For the past two years the annual meeting has been held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club and this year is scheduled for Garrett County.

$1,235 Sought In Damage Suit

John K. Arnold, 242 St. Cloud Street, Keyser, yesterday filed a $1,235 damage suit in Allegany County Circuit Court as a result of a traffic accident on State Route 135 between McCoole and Westernport last December 14.

The suit was filed for Mr. Arnold by Attorney Fred H. Anderson against Sheridan Harry Johnson, 104 Queen Street, McCoole, and Bennie Raymond Sims, 915 Argyle Street, Keyser.

Mr. Arnold asserted in his declaration that Vergil Lewis Schnidleir was driving his car west on Route 135 last December 14. When Mr. Johnson backed his automobile across the highway into the path of the Arnold car, Mr. Schnidleir applied brakes and while in the process of stopping the car it was struck from behind by another vehicle traveling west on Route 135 and operated by Mr. Sims.

The plaintiff stated that his car was damaged to the extent of $1,235.07 as a result of the accident, which he blamed on the two other drivers.

Road Dispute Hearing To Be Resumed

Injunction Sought In Keyser Court

Hearing of an equity suit seeking an injunction to require the reopening of a road off West Virginia Route 28 in the Wiley Ford area will be resumed tomorrow in Mineral County Circuit Court at Keyser before Judge Ernest A. See.

A full court room of about 150 spectators was on hand Monday morning when the hearing began before Judge See.

Lewis G. Llewellyn, RFD 1, Ridgeley, and his father-in-law, Paul D. Moreland, filed the equity suit last September to compel James Smith, also of RFD 1, Ridgeley, to remove two gates from a right of way. This right of way extends from Route 28 in an easterly direction through Mr. Smith's land to the property of Mr. Llewellyn.

The right of way has been in controversy for several years. Last May, Judge See signed an order allowing Mr. Llewellyn and Mr. Moreland to use the right of way provided they opened and closed the gates.

Mr. Llewellyn and Mr. Moreland charge that last month Mr. Smith barricaded the road and locked the gates, thereby preventing further use of the right of way.

On Tuesday, September 15, Mr. Smith was arrested on a charge of malicious assault after he allegedly wounded Mr. Llewellyn and Preston Miller, also of RFD 1, Ridgeley, with shotgun pellets. The wounded men told police they were fired upon while climbing over a gate on the right of way extending from Route 28.

Harold J. Snyder, district engineer of the State Roads Commission, testified Monday that the commission carried the disputed road in its inventory as Secondary Route 28/10.

Eugene Ault, SRC maintenance supervisor, said the road had been worked on recently by commission crews. Chester Miller, former maintenance supervisor, said this also was done while he was in charge of the work.

Attorneys James A. Swadley Jr. of Keyser and William H. Ansel Jr. of Romney have been representing Mr. Llewellyn and Mr. Moreland in the prolonged litigation, while Attorney Vernon E. Rankin represents Mr. Smith.

Historical Society President Invites Commissioners

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday received an invitation from Miss Ruth A. Clauson, president of the County Historical Society, to visit the society's buildings at 218 Washington Street.

She explained that she would be glad to have the buildings open for them on Friday. However, the commissioners found it necessary to decline the invitation. They plan to attend a meeting of the Legislative Council at the City Hall at 10 a. m. Friday and will participate in sessions of the Interstate Commission on the Potomac River Basin both Thursday and Friday.

Kiwanis To Hear Of Lake Promotion

Helmuth M. Heise, a leader in the promotion of Deep Creek Lake as both a summer and winter recreational area, will speak at the meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at 12:15 p.m. Thursday at Central YMCA.

Mr. Heise has been active in efforts to bring tourists into Western Maryland.

Men Of LaSalle Minstrel Scheduled October 4, 5, 6

"Showboat Shenanigans," a two-act minstrel with a cast of 62 persons, will be presented on October 4, 5, and 6 at Carroll Hall by the Men of LaSalle.

John J. O'Donnell, writer and producer of the annual stage show, said last night that members of the cast are polishing up on solos, skits, tap and soft shoe dancing and comedy monologues.

The dress rehearsal will be staged on Friday evening, October 2. A special matinee performance will be held Sunday, October 4, at 2:15 p. m. The three evening performances will begin at 8:15 p. m.

Interlocutor will be John J. Coyle and the end men will include Sid Storer Jr., Thomas Connelley, Francis Connelley, Charles Offutt, William Blake, William Chabot, William Boyer and Paul Dunn.

"The K of C Four," a quartet including Rev. Arthur W. Bastress, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Church; Joseph Challinor, Edward Sell and Paul Dunn, will sing a medley of minstrel songs.

Thomas Carroll will sing, "Make Believe." A song and dance will be presented by Sue Marie Powers whose number will be "I'm in Love With A Wonderful Guy."

Sue Knieriem will sing "Get Happy" and Katherine Simpson will sing "St. Louis Blues." Carolyn Sue Luman will dance a tap routine. Frank Werner will give a comedy monologue, according to Mr. O'Donnell who said they are among the performers on stage during the performance.

Act one will be on the wharf with a showboat backdrop and act two will be in the showboat auditorium.

Tickets are now available and may be purchased from members of the cast, students at LaSalle High School, Men of LaSalle or at the door.

Assisting Mr. O'Donnell will be Sid Storer Jr., Thomas Connelley and Joseph Bagatti. Miss Mary Jo Simpson will be production assistant and Miss Sally Maurey will be the accompanist on the piano. Stage manager is James Robinette.

City Requests Bids On Auto

The City of Cumberland will receive sealed bids for a four-door sedan to be used in the Engineering Department, replacing a one-ton panel truck now in the city warehouse.

The bids will be accepted at the city clerk's office until 10 a. m. Monday, October 5, at which time they will be publicly opened and read.

Specifications for the automobile are that it is to be black in color, 175 inches long, 71 inches wide with wheel base of 108 inches; six or eight cylinders, straight transmission with heater and defroster, and 12-volt ignition. Trade-in allowance for the panel truck is to be included and the car is to be delivered F.O.B., Cumberland.

All bids will be marked "Bid for automobile for Engineering Department." The Mayor and City Council has reserved the right to reject any and all bids.

Fire Insurance Change Saves County $2,161

$1,577 Additional Will Be Realized

Allegany County is saving $2,161.16 from a revision of its fire insurance and will continue to save $1,577 annually beginning December 1 as a result of the change.

This good news was presented to the County Board of Commissioners in a letter received from James B. Reinhart of the M. D. Reinhart Agency.

Mr. Reinhart explained that the Allegany County insurance program has been converted from specific coverage to blanket coverage on all real and personal property as recommended by the Independent Agents Association on June 1.

Besides this gain through blanket coverage, the county also is benefitting as a result of reduction in rates on all institutional property as of June 1.

These changes will result in the county receiving a total of $2,161.16 in return premiums from the various agents sharing in the county business.

Mr. Reinhart also wrote that further cost to the county for fire insurance will be reduced $1,577 a year beginning December 1, as a result of the change in coverage.

"The county's insurance coverage is now in excellent shape and a very creditable reflection of your high administration policy," Mr. Reinhart concluded.

Another letter received yesterday, from Naoma M. Flanagan, Citizens National Bank Building, Westernport, complained about the small share of the county's insurance she receives. She explained that she understood there will be a redistribution of insurance and she requested consideration for a larger share of the business.

Man Injured In Fracas At Local Tavern

City Police said Harry W. Lewis, 447 Seymour Street, was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital in a police cruiser with a badly lacerated head. Although conscious, he was admitted in "serious" condition.

Detective Kenneth Morrissey said the youth told him the man had argued with several teen-age boys and struck at them. When one boy walked away, Morrissey said, Lewis reportedly turned on Michael McCullough, 19, of 31 Weber Street.

The youth said Lewis hit him and he struck back in self-defense knocking the man down, the detective stated. When the man got up the boy shoved him away and Lewis fell, striking his head against a pointed headlight rim on his own car.

McCullough is being held in City Jail and will be taken to the state's attorney's office today.
